CITY MODIFIES BONUS ARMY'S LEAVING ORDER

800 DEPART TODAY TO FIGHT CONGRESS

350 Others Join California Contingent on Barnstorming Tour.

The District Commissioners yesterday withdrew their order to evacuate all veterans from public property before August 4, after the superintendent of police, Pelham D. Glassford, had cautioned that an attempt to execute the order might lead to riot and bloodshed.

That phase of the general evacuation order which requires Gen. Glassford to secure by August 1 the return of tentage and rolling kitchens owned by the District National Guard remains operative. Commander in Chief Walter W. Waters was asked last night by Gen. Glassford what cooperation the police might expect from the bonus army in obtaining return of the equipment.

Another heavy break in the bonus forces will be made today when Roy W. Robertson, crippled Californian, will lead a band of 800 veterans from the Capital to barnstorm throughout the country against the congressional enemies of the bonus. His own group of 450 is leaving with him and he has received requests from 350 veterans to join the tour.

Resignation Rumor Denied.

A widely circulated rumor that Gen. Glassford had offered his resignation to the Commissioners was emphatically denied last night by the police head.

"To resign under these circumstances would be despicable. I have no intention of resigning. In the interest of public welfare and the protection of public property I intend to remain in office."

The rescission of the Commissioners' order came as a sequel to a long conference between Gen. Glassford and legal advisers of the District over the legal aspects of the evacuation order and the defiance of Commander in Chief Waters, who urged his followers not to move from the property they fought to defend.

Heavy accretions of the departing bonus marchers were registered yesterday, bringing the total applications at the Veterans' Bureau for transportation loans to 4,614. Another defection from the ranks is imminent. I. C. Schooler, of Texas, is ready to lead a contingent of 800 veterans, representing 16 Southern States, on a campaign against bonus enemeis in the South.

Antired Force Is Planned.

A movement is afoot to mold the bonus army into semimilitary organization to stand "ready to leap into the breach between American institutions and threatened anarchy."

Chief of Staff Doak E. Carter is heading the organization work, which consists of the circulation of pledges which the veterans are signing, giving Waters absolute dictatorship over the army, and pledging the men to obey his every order.

The reason for the program, as de-

Von Gronau Lands In Iceland Town

Seydisfjoerdur, Iceland, July 22 (A.P.).—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, who for the third time is flying the Atlantic by stages over the northern route, landed in this east shore town tonight from the Island of Sylt, Germany, exactly ten hours after his take-off.

Shortage of fuel made it necessary for him to stop here instead of continuing on to Reykjavik, Iceland's capital, which is 250 miles away on the west coast of the island. Fog also was a difficulty in the flight from Germany, visibility being poor all along the Icelandic coast. The weather was generally calm, although there was a fairly strong southerly wind when he landed here.

The airman, bound for Chicago with three companions, planned to remain here overnight. After taking on a new supply of fuel he will proceed to Reykjavik in the morning if the weather is favorable.

Iowa Democrats Adopt Farm Relief Platform

Des Moines, Iowa, July 22 (A.P.).—Iowa Democrats in convention today adopted a State platform stressing farm relief, economy and tax reduction and indorsing the national platform and ticket, but making no specific mention of prohibition.

Arms Delegates Get Reich Threat to Bolt

Geneva, Switzerland, July 22 (A.P.).—Germany threatened to bolt the world disarmament conference today, lining up with Italy in declaring the declaration to be adopted before adjournment as entirely unacceptable.

Count Rudolf Madolny, the German spokesman, said that when the conference is resumed after the summer recess it will be without the collaboration of Germany unless the delegates recognize before adjourning Germany's right to a position of equality among the other nations of the world.

He declared that the adjournment declaration took no account of the German position and that Germany considered the uncertainty regarding this "fundamental problem of disarmament" makes any useful work impossible.

"Therefore," he said, "my government insists that these doubts be eliminated without delay by recognition of the equality of all nations in the matter of national security and in the application of all disarmament."

Meanwhile in the room next to that in which the disarmament delegates were gathered, a session of the Interparliamentary Union broke up in a row between the French and the Italians.

It developed that the Italian deputy, Costamagna, had aroused the resentment of the French Socialist deputy, Renaudel, by attempting to instruct the meeting in parliamentary procedure.

The Frenchman protested. The Italian shouted an answer. Renaudel cried: "Down with the assassins of Matteotti!" referring to the killing of Giacomo Matteotti, a Socialist deputy, which was one of the sensational events of the early days of Fascism in Italy.

Before the ensuing row was ended, several blows were struck and police were called in.

The brawl moved Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League of Nations, to inform the Interparliamentary Union that it could not continue to use the league building unless the incident was amicably settled.

The Italian representatives withdrew from the conference and demanded an apology before they will come back. M. Renaudel declined to apologize and the conference remained suspended.

ROOSEVELT TO BEGIN TOUR IN NEW JERSEY

Will Launch His Personal Campaign at Sea Girt on August 27.

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—In New Jersey, heart of the Eastern industrial section, Gov. Roosevelt on August 27 will launch his personal campaign for the Presidency.

Democracy's standard bearer will begin ten weeks of intensive traveling, speech-making and vote seeking when he goes to Seagirt, N. J., on that day to address a rally.

If the expectations of Jersey leaders hold true, 100,000 Democrats will greet their nominee on that occasion.

Sixteen days earlier President Hoover will have opened his own campaign with his speech of acceptance.

The Roosevelt announcement came from Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, Smith's floor leader at Chicago, who has thrown the entire support of his Jersey organization behind the man he sought to defeat.

Persistent but unverified reports are that the seashore rally will be marked by a public reconciliation of Roosevelt and Smith.

The "happy warrior of 1928" and the nominee of 1932 have not met since their followers fought at Chicago. Neither has Smith made any statement about his attitude toward his former political ally except to say he will support the party in November.

Hausner's Plane Found By Ship Near Azores

Genoa, Italy, July 22 (A.P.).—The captain of the Italian steamer Escambia sent a radio message to his owners today saying that in the vicinity of the Azores he had recovered the airplane in which Stanislaus F. Hausner attempted a New York-to-Warsaw nonstop flight last month.

FOOD TESTS PUSHED IN POISONING OF 400

Only Seven Stay in Hospitals After Wholesale Illness at Dairy Picnic.

Only a bare handful of the 400 food poisoning victims of the Chevy Chase and Chestnut Farms Dairies' picnic remained in Washington hospitals last night, as the health department pushed forward its investigation of the food thought to have caused the harrowing outbreak.

Hospitals, which were crowded beyond capacity Thursday night with an unprecedented rush of cases when the steamer Charles Macalester docked with its hundreds of aching and ill persons, last night were normal again.

All the victims at Gallinger, Casualty and Garfield Hospitals had been discharged. Seven persons were still receiving treatment at Emergency, Providence and Georgetown Hospitals.

They were Caroline Weimer, 2 years old, of 21 Sixteenth street; Marjorie Beaver, 2015 Olive avenue; Catherine Fisher, of 2918 N street northwest; Marguerite Dellard, of 1257 Thirty-fifth street northwest; Sadie Burke, 1315 Thirty-fifth street northwest; Virginia Mastin, same address, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pennifil, of 2918 Olive avenue. Wilbur Calls Congress Members "Office Boys"

San Francisco, July 22 (A.P.).—Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, said in a luncheon address today most representatives in Congress are "selected office boys" of their particular districts.

"I defy you to name twelve men in Congress who have consistently fought for the national progress of the United States during the last year," he said. "It is basically and fundamentally necessary now that we work for the country as a whole and you people of the Nation can do your best in electing men to Congress and set them free to work for a National Government."

Brazilian Rebels Inflict Heavy Losses on Regulars

Buenos Aires, July 22 (A.P.).—Wounded began arriving in Rio de Janeiro today from a heavy artillery offensive launched by Brazilian federal troops against the Sao Paulo State rebels at strategic points along a 225-mile front near the border line between Sao Paulo and the State of Minas Geraes.

The rebels replied spiritedly to the gunfire of the loyal forces. The government claimed that Guaxupe, Ourifono and other centers, seized by the revolutionaries at the outset of their movement, had been regained, but the offensive has not yet penetrated appreciably into Sao Paulo territory.

The federal forces increased their hospital detachments, indicating that casualties were heavy.

A communique from federal headquarters in the field said that near Pouso Alegre the loyal forces had pushed a detachment of about 1,000 rebels fifteen miles to the south.

President Getulio Vargas offered amnesty to all soldiers charged with desertion who joined the federal forces.

The federal government extended until September 15 the period of grace for bills payable in foreign currencies. From Sao Paulo, capital of the rebel state, came news that banks had been reopened after being closed for several days. The authorities limited withdrawals by depositors to 20 per cent to avoid possible runs.

Meanwhile lines were drawn tighter in another of the conflicts disturbing South America. The newspaper La Republica at La Paz, Bolivia, announced the government had authorized it to say that negotiations in Washington to compose the differences between Bolivia and Para-

PLAN OFFERED BY AUSTRALIA TO AID EMPIRE

Bruce Gives Program to Restore Economic Confidence.

WIDER PREFERENCES BY TARIFF PROPOSED

Mrs. Runciman Says Britain Opposes New Duties on Foodstuffs.

Ottawa, July 22 (A.P.).—Stanley M. Bruce, chief of the Australian delegation to the imperial economic conference, today called upon the British nations to banish economic fears and doubts within the empire and thus restore a "contagious confidence" which will spread throughout the world.

Mr. Bruce announced a detailed program of what his nation is willing to offer Great Britain as its contribution to economic health within the empire. He proffered wider preferences for British trade and in return asked wider preferences for Australia.

"We are concerned with practical issues and seek to restore the prosperity of our countries and to rehabilitate their purchasing power," he said.

"Australia is therefore approaching the conference in an entirely realistic spirit. We refuse either to belittle or to exaggerate what can immediately be accomplished in the field of empire trade."

What Australia Offers.

The Australian spokesman said his nation was ready to reclassify tariff in order to make available to Great Britain in a preferential way protected areas of Australian industry not being exploited by Australian manufacturers.

The margin of preference in Britain's favor covering essential goods not produced in the commonwealth will be widened, he promised.

Australia is willing, he added, to undertake to remove prohibitions and surcharges imposed on trade for financial reasons two years ago. She will give "earnest consideration" to any British request for additional concessions.

All this, he made clear, is dependent on reciprocal treatment from Britain.

No Further Food Duties.

A chance suggestion that the British government will agree to no further duties on foodstuffs electrified delegates to the imperial economic conference today.

It came from Mrs. Walter Runciman, wife of the president of the British Board of Trade, during a routine interview with the press.

She said in effect that the British consumer would not sacrifice free trade in staple foods to insure the success of an imperial economic unit. Because of her position as the wife of a cabinet member, a number of the delegates accepted her remark as semiofficial.

It is especially significant, for the

Nicaragua Bandits Kill Eight in Raid

Americans Escape Injury, but Three Britishers Reported Slain.

(Associated Press.)

Lieut. Col. Calvin B. Matthews, commanding the Nicaraguan National Guard, yesterday reported to the Navy that eight persons were killed Sunday by bandits who looted two stores in eastern Nicaragua. None of the dead was American, but three were thought to be British and the other five Nicaraguans.

The stores were at the settlements of Pan-American and Morazan on the Rio Grande River.

Guard patrols pursued the bandits, who scattered as they fled. The guard brushed with one group, capturing a large part of the merchandise stolen from one store. Later another patrol contacted another of bandits killing two.

Matthews also reported that a third guard patrol attacked a bandit camp near Jalapa, wounded two bandits and captured a quantity of food, blankets and clothing. The same patrol ran into a second bandit group a short time later and three bandits were wounded. Both these groups of bandits fled across the border into Honduras.

Flier Meets Snow Above 80 Degrees on Ground

Frederick, Md., July 22 (A.P.).—Lieut. E. R. Penimore, of the Maryland National Guard, reported today he encountered a series of snow flurries while flying at an altitude of 10,000 to 12,000 feet over the Blue Ridge Mountains near here.

The ground temperature at the time was 90 degrees.

WORKERS' POOL FORMED TO AID LEAVE VICTIMS

Civil Service Commission Starts Register for Reemployment.

FURLOUGHED TO GET JOBS THAT DEVELOP

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

A personnel pool, to find Government jobs for Federal workers placed on indeterminate furloughs of six months or more, yesterday was called into being by the Civil Service Commission.

The pool was designated a "reemployment register" by Gov. Thomas E. Campbell, president of the commission and chairman of the President's council on personnel administration.

The register starts today with only one name. But that is expected to multiply into hundreds when departments generally make use of this alternative to outright dismissals.

The procedure, according to Gov. Campbell, will be as follows:

Where a department or bureau has had its funds cut so deeply that some workers must be released, those destined to go would not be discharged, but would be furloughed indefinitely.

Six Months Is Minimum.

The names of workers thus furloughed, if for six months or more, would be forwarded from the departments to the Civil Service Commission, where they would be placed on the "reemployment register."

When vacancies develop in any of the departments—vacancies that under the economy act can be filled only by order of the President—departments would make known their wants to the commission.

Should the President, on recommendation of Budget Director J. Clawson Roop, certify the vacancies must be filled, the commission would select from the register furloughed workers with qualifications for the jobs.

Employes placed on "administrative" furloughs for specific periods of less than six months, will not be put in the pool. When their payless furloughs are up, they automatically will go back on the pay roll of the department that hired them.

Only One Agency Cuts.

The move was seen as an effort to reduce unemployment in the Federal establishment to the minimum, and to obviate wholesale outright discharges throughout the service.

Only in one Government agency, the Federal Trade Commission, are workers actually being discharged, Gov. Campbell said. The Federal Trade Commission has let out 64 since passage of the economy act. Gov. Campbell pointed out, however, that these are temporary employes who had no Civil Service status.

Dail Passes Tariffs Bill to Fight Britain

Emergency Measure Levies Duties Up to 100 Per Cent on Imports.

Dublin, Irish Free State, July 22 (A.P.).—The Dail Eireann in special session tonight adopted the government's emergency tariffs bill and thus armed the Free State for economic war with Great Britain.

The bill, levying duties up to 100 per cent on imports from Britain, became law as soon as the governor general has signed it, and he is expected to do so tomorrow. It was designed as a measure of retaliation against 20 per cent duties levied by Britain on Free State goods when the Free State defaulted in payments of land annuities.

In adopting the measure tonight the Dail rejected a recommendation by the Senate, which deleted a section empowering the government to impose stamp taxes on documents used in transactions. The purpose of this section was to hit at British insurance companies doing business in the Free State.

U. S. Dry Agents Center On Virginia Sea Resorts

Richmond, Va., July 22 (A.P.).—Federal prohibition investigators operating in Virginia now are concentrating on Virginia Beach resorts, Capt. R. Q. Merrick, district administrator, revealed today.

The administrator said his investigators are searching especially for the "big boys" who are reported to be plying their illicit trade at Virginia Beach, Ocean View, Colonial Beach, Buckroe Beach, and other State seaside resorts.

HOME LOAN BANK BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT TO AID SMALL OWNERS

Pole Scores Inflation Rider

DOUBTS PLAN IS EFFECTIVE

Says It Opposes Reserve Act Policies

Characterized by the Comptroller of the Currency John W. Pole as "a backward step in currency and banking legislation," the Borah-Glass inflation rider to the home loan bank bill became virtually a dead letter yesterday.

In announcing his approval of the home loan measure, to which the inflation proposal was added in an eleventh-hour political maneuver on the last day of the session, President Hoover said he was advised by the Treasury "that in the practical working of this provision it will not result in inflation."

As passed by the Senate, and accepted by the House after having been rejected on three record roll calls, the Borah-Glass rider authorized national banks to circulate banknote currency against certain classes of their Government bonds up to the limit of their paid-in capital. It provided a potential inflation of approximately $1,000,000,000.

Against Established Practice.

Responsible fiscal officials of the Government acknowledged at the time that the proposal involved a monetization of banking capital which ran counter to the long-established policies of the Federal Reserve Board. From banking circles at the same time there came an avalanche of derisive comment which virtually assured the complete rejection of the scheme by sound banking institutions.

"This section of the bill," said that portion of Mr. Pole's analysis made public at the White House, "runs counter to the general plan established through the Federal Reserve act intended gradually to do away with an inflexible bond-secured currency and represents a backward step in currency and banking legislation.

Did Not Recommend Veto.

"In view of the fact that the provisions are limited to a three-year period, I do not feel justified in recommending that the bill be vetoed, more especially as it is a rider to an important and constructive piece of legislation to which it bears no relation."

All currency issues under the Borah-Glass amendment are subject

Mexico Operates Road After 25-Day Strike

Nogales, Ariz., July 22 (A.P.).—Disrupted by a 25-day strike, the Southern Pacific of Mexico Railroad resumed operations today in the hands of the Mexican government. A large crowd stood on the international boundary line and cheered as smoke began to pour from the funnels of locomotives.

Hoover's Message Text On Home Loan Measure

I have today signed the home loan bank bill. This institution has been created on the general lines advocated by me in a statement to the press on November 13 last. It is the outcome of the national conference on home ownership which represented every part of the country.

Its purpose is to establish a series of discount banks for home mortgages, performing a function for home owners somewhat similar to that performed in the commercial field by the Federal Reserve Banks through their discount facilities.

There are to be eight to twelve such banks established in different parts of the country with a total capital of $125,000,000 to be initially subscribed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Building and loan associations, savings banks, insurance companies, &c., are to be eligible for membership in the system. Member institu-

CHINESE MOBILIZING TO PROTECT JEHOL

Will Resist Japanese and Also Press Protest to League of Nations.

Nanking, China, July 22 (A.P.).—The Chinese government was reported today to have ordered mobilization of strong forces to protect the Province of Jehol from Japanese invasion, and to have decided upon a policy of "armed resistance without neglecting diplomatic methods."

Protests were lodged with the League of Nations and with the Japanese government against the presence of a small Japanese expeditionary force sent into Jehol several days ago.

Japanese military authorities said the mission of that force was to rescue Conshiro Ishimoto, a former Japanese army officer, who had been captured by Jehol troops.

The Japanese said yesterday they expected no trouble because the Jehol authorities had promised to liberate Ishimoto within a day or so.

Nevertheless the presence of Japanese soldiers in Jehol created considerable alarm in China, and the incident was described by Chinese as an invasion.

Yesterday it was reported that Chiang Kai-Shek was returning to Nanking because of the Jehol crisis.

The Kuomin, official Chinese news agency, said the Nanking government had ordered Tang Yu-Lin, governor of Jehol, and Chang Hsia-Liang, former Manchurian war lord, to mobilize against the Japanese.

Jehol, a province of inner Mongolia, is on the Manchurian border. When the new State of Manchukuo was created recently Jehol was claimed as part of its territory.

Gives Relief To Mortgage Holders

SETS UP NEW CREDIT UNITS

Agency to Handle Financing of Building

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Immediate establishment of a new and vital link in the national banking structure was assured yesterday when President Hoover signed the home loan banking bill, designed to stimulate home ownership, afford emergency relief to hard-pressed mortgage holders, and provide a more flexible and effective credit agency to handle the Nation's $20,000,000,000 in dwelling loans.

The measure provides for a chain of eight to twelve regional home loan banks, under the general supervision of a new Home Loan Bank Board of five members. In respect to both organization and essential functions, the new agency will closely parallel the Federal Reserve system, with the regional banks serving as the rediscount centers for the members.

Instead of commercial banks, however, the members of the home loan system will be building and loan associations, savings banks and insurance companies. Membership in the new system is to be acquired by stock subscriptions to the regional central banks, subject to the approval of the national administrative board, yet to be selected by the President.

Location Depends on Needs.

The location of the regional banks is to be determined upon by the developing needs of the new system, with the approval of the national board.

Under the bill passed last Saturday in the closing hours of the congressional session, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized to subscribe the initial capital of the regional banks up to $125,000,000. This fund eventually is to be repaid through the stock subscriptions of the affiliating members, as was done in the case of the Federal Reserve Board some eighteen years ago.

"The creation of these institutions does not involve the Government in business except in the initial work of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the setting up of the board in Washington to determine standards of practice," the President said in a statement announcing his approval of the bill.

Banks to Pay Costs.

"The cost of this board in Washington is to be paid by the home loan banks and the banks are to be owned and run by their members. In effect, it is using the good offices of the Government and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to set up cooperative action amongst these member institutions to mobilize their credit and resources. There are several thousand institutions eligible for membership."

A Commerce Department survey during legislative consideration of the measure resulted in an estimate that between $300,000,000 and $500,000,000 in home construction might begin "tomorrow" were credits available on anything but prohibitive terms.

In response to a Commerce Department questionnaire, a total of 5,868 financial institutions favored establishment of the home loan system, on

Telephone Operator Sues For Accrued Navy Leave

Justice Luhring Issues Rule for Secretary Adams and Yard Official to Show Cause Why It Should Not Be Granted.

A determined fight to relieve the restriction against Government employes taking accrued leave was launched in the District Supreme Court yesterday when William E. Leahy and William J. Hughes, jr., attorneys, secured from Justice Oscar R. Luhring a rule requiring the Secretary of the Navy and Capt. Frank D. Berrien, public works officer at the navy yard, to show cause Monday why a mandamus should not be granted compelling them to approve a request for leave by a navy yard worker.

The worker, Alma O. Sarton, of Alexandria, Va., a telephone operator at the navy yard, alleged she had eleven days of accrued leave coming to her. She asked for five, and her request was turned down because of the economy act.

It is the contention of the lawyers that the employe had earned the leave; that it was a vested right to demand it. She brought her suit in her own name, and for the benefit of any members of the National Federation of Federal Employes who might be affected by a favorable ruling on it.

The request for a rule to show cause recited the Navy act of August, 1916, allowing 30 days annual leave. The contention is made that Capt. Berrien was without authority in law to arbitrarily deny the application for leave because the leave had been earned prior to the passage of the economy act.

The attack on the accrued leave proposition is expected to apply also to employes in all branches of the Government service, especially Army and Navy officers and employes in foreign countries who have accrued leave coming to them.

RAIL HEADS PRAISE I.C.C. MERGER PLAN

Agree, However, That Many Months Will Be Needed to Carry It Out.

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission's Eastern railroad consolidation decision was given wide approval by railroad leaders of the East, but all agreed that many months will pass before the plan can be made operative.

Chairman Couzens, of the Senate interstate commerce committee, who so far has approved none of the consolidation plans, joined in predictions that a "long time" would pass before the four great systems are finally formed. He declined to comment on details of the decision, saying he would study them during the summer.

The plan apparently met general approval in the securities markets. Railroad stocks jumped $1 to $3 per share and bonds rose $20 to $45 per $1,000 bond.

The presidents of the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Baltimore & Ohio, the Pennsylvania, and the New York Central, the four systems promoting the mergers, plan to meet in New York next Tuesday to consider it. Presidents of other large roads, the identity of which may be sunk into one or another of the four large systems, are expected also to attend.

Willard Sees Many Economies.

Two executives who have been leaders in pushing the consolidation plan yesterday declined to comment on the decision. At the Pennsylvania Railroad offices in Philadelphia, W. W. Atterbury, president of the company, declined to talk at this time.

President Burnet, of the Chesapeake & Ohio, is noted for never commenting for publication, but it was understood here yesterday that he is well pleased with the decision and regards it as "probably the best that could be expected."

Some of those who did comment said:

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio—"If the plan is substantially accepted by the four principal carriers in the East, I believe it will be possible to bring about * * * many economies."

L. F. Loree, head of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad Co.—"The Interstate Commerce Commission has made a very earnest and sincere effort to solve a very difficult problem."

Reading "Not Affected."

Charles H. Ewing, president of the Reading Company—"The action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in allocating the Reading to the Baltimore & Ohio will not affect our service * * * the open door policy to and from all connections will continue."

R. D. Starbuck, executive vice president of the New York Central—"While the plan as I understand it may not be entirely satisfactory to any of the companies * * * I believe * * * it will result in benefit to the public."

Charles S. Valentine, Richmond, Va., representing minority stockholders of the Chesapeake & Ohio—"If we can not show it (the consolidation plan) is contrary to the public interest, we will get the best terms we can."

John J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford—"The * * * decision * * * should have a beneficial effect upon the general railroad situation and holds out substantial benefits for the future."

Rail President Regrets Road Will Lose Identity

Baltimore, July 22 (A.P.).—G. P. Bagby, president of the Western Maryland Railway, said here today he regretted to see the Western Maryland "ultimately lose its identity," but added "it does seem under present conditions, and conditions which can now be forecast, that there is not enough traffic to feed so many separate railroads."

"It is well," he said, "to get this vexed consolidation question, which has been open for some ten years, settled."

INQUIRY IS PUSHED IN POISONING OF 400

cians thought that all would be discharged today.

The Health Department is waiting for the development of cultures taken from samples of the food which was eaten at the outing at Marshall Hall. Dr. John E. Noble said that he would be able to determine today which of the foodstuffs was responsible for the poisoning.

The health office has received cooperation of the dairy companies in getting samples of the menu served. Samples were taken at the amusement park and of the leftover sandwiches and salad which caused a further outbreak of cases at the Thirteenth and D streets southwest bonus camp late Thursday night.

So far all the food is under suspicion, but the finger of doubt points most surely at the deviled egg salad. Health officers have promised a full probe of the sources of the food.

From all sources praise was given to the hospitals, the police and the Fire Department for their capable handling of the quite unusual emergency. With 400 victims being unloaded from the boat at once, many in agony, all facilities were taxed to the utmost.

All ambulances, fire rescue equipment, and private cars were called into action to receive the sick and bear them to hospitals. There, despite crowd and confusion, quick and capable relief was given the ill and those more seriously sick were promptly hospitalized.

At Emergency alone more than 200 were treated. The entire staff of 17 internes was called out. Emergency also sent doctors, nurses and medical equipment to the resort to treat the few who remained there for the later boat.

Henry N. Brawner president of Chestnut Farms Dairy, issued a statement last night for the two dairy companies. He said that every bit of information possible was being turned over to the Health Department.

"The food was prepared with the utmost care," he said. "On behalf of our companies, I should like to thank the hospitals, physicians and nurses who so efficiently aided our employes and their guests."

British Air Chief Resigns.

tions are required to subscribe for stock of the home loan banks and to absorb gradually the capital and they may borrow from the banks upon their notes to be secured by the collateral of sound home mortgages.

The home loan banks are in turn to obtain the resources required by them through the issue of debentures and notes. These notes have back of them the obligation of the members, the mortgages pledged as securities of such obligations and the captal of the home loan banks themselves. The debentures and notes thus have a triple security.

The creation of these institutions does not involve the Government in business, except in the initial work of the Reconstruction Corporation, and the setting up of the board in Washington to determine standards of practice.

The cost of this board in Washington is to be paid by the home loan banks and the banks are to be owned and run by their members.

In effect it is using the good offices of the Government and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to set up cooperative action amongst these member institutions to mobilize their credit and resources. There are several thousand institutions eligible for membership. The purpose of the system is both to meet the present emergency and to build up home ownership on more favorable terms than exist today.

The immediate credit situation has for the time being in many parts of the country restricted the activities of building and loan associations, savings banks and other institutions makinng loans for home purposes, in such fashion that they are not only unable to extend credit for the acquirement of new homes, but in thousands of instances they have been unable to renew existing mortgages with resultant foreclosures and great hardships.

A considerable part of our unemployment is due to stagnation in residential construction. There has been overbuilding in certain localities in boom years, but there has been far less than normal construction of new homes for three years in pace with the increase of population and there is thus a shortage which, while now obscured by present huddling, will become evident with the first stage of recovery.

Nearly 200,000 new homes are erected annually in normal times, which, with initial furnishing, contribute $2,000,000,000 to construction and other industries.

A survey by the Department of Commerce shows that there are localities in which there is today an immediate demand for homes amounting from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000, which could be undertaken at once if finances were available. Thus the institution should serve to immediately increase employment.

In the long view we need at all times to encourage home ownership, and for such encouragement it must be possible for home owners to obtain long-term loans payable in installments.

These institutions should provide the method for bringing into continuous and steady action the great home loaning associations which is so greatly restricted due to present pressures.

Currency Extension.

There was attached to the bill by the Congress a rider for the limited extension of the old national bank currency. I am advised by the Treasury that in the practical working of this provision it will not result in inflation.

The Comptroller of the Currency informs me that:

"This section of the bill runs counter to the general plan established through the Federal Reserve act intended gradually to do away with an inflexible bond-secured currency and represents a backward step in currency and banking legislation, but in view of the fact that the provisions are limited to a 2-year period I do not feel justified in recommending that the bill be vetoed, more especially as it is a rider to an important and constructive piece of legislation to which it bears no relation."

I do not, therefore, feel that the amendment is such as would warrant refusal to approve the measure which means so much to hundreds of thousands of home owners, is such a contribution to their relief; such a contribution to establishment of home ownership; and such an aid to immediate increase of employment.

C. & O. GROUP FIGHTS ROAD MERGER PLAN

Minority Stockholders Say Interests Hurt; Other Virginians Are Pleased.

Richmond, Va., July 22 (A.P.).—Charles S. Valentine, Richmond attorney, who represented a minority group of Chesapeake & Ohio stockholders in their recent opposition to a majority fiscal policy, indicated today that certain stockholders of the company will fight the proposed Eastern rail consolidation as set out yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The consolidation would provide for the union of the Chesapeake & Ohio with weaker Northern and Eastern lines.

Meanwhile other Virginia interests were pleased with the decision to maintain three competitive systems into Hampton Roads, but were afraid that the other phases of the plan will work to the disadvantage of the Virginia carriers, and local investors in the strong Virginia lines.

Under the proposal the Chesapeake & Ohio becomes the main unit in a system with harbor outlets to the North; the Norfolk & Western becomes part of the Pennsylvania System, and the Virginian is assigned to the New York Central System.

In denying the proposal of the Eastern lines that the Virginian be divided between the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western, the Federal tribunal conformed to the wishes of the Virginia intervenors, including the State Corporation Commission and the City of Norfolk.

But, the other principal contention of the Virginia interests, that the Virginia coal carriers be left independent, was not upheld by the Federal commission.

The decision yesterday was the latest development in the long series of efforts to group the Eastern carriers into large transportation systems.

the ground that it would "add desirable flexibility and security" to the conduct of their business. In this supporting group were some 1,400 national banks, 1,415 building and loan associations, 2,300 State banks and several hundred savings banks and loan and trust companies.

Official estimates presented in the Senate hearings on the bill were that approximately $2,000,000,000 in new dwelling credits would be released over a period of two or three years by the operations of the new banking system.

"A considerable part of our unemployment is due to stagnation in residential construction," the President's statement continued. "There has been overbuilding in certain localities in boom years but there has been far less than normal construction of new homes for three years in pace with the increase in population, and there is thus a shortage which, while now obscured by present huddling, will become evident with the first stage of recovery. to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency. In authorizing such issues, the bank examiners would be required, naturally, to assure themselves regarding the general position of the issuing bank. Where conditions appeared not to warrant currency backed by the applicant bank, the Comptroller would be required by law to deny the authority to issue the bond-secured bank notes.

AUSTRALIA ADVANCES PLAN TO AID EMPIRE

Canadian program which soon will be presented in detail is regarded as a suggestion that Great Britain impose a tariff on meat and wheat imported from countries outside the empire.

When he submitted the outline of his proposals yesterday Premier Bennett, of Canada, asked for extension of British preferences to Canadian imports in return for increased Canadian preferences to British manufactured goods. Great Britain has no tariff on wheat and meat, and until there is one no preference can be granted Dominion products in British markets.

Persons close to the United Kingdom delegation said there was a belief the specific results of the Canadian proposals on London's policy would include a British tariff on food products and preferential treatment for those imported from Canada. Neither the Canadian nor the British wheat trade favors a quota system for empire grain in British markets.

Therefore, it is argued, if Canada is to be repaid in kind for preferential treatment of British products, it must be through a British tariff system which will raise barriers against other exporting nations in favor of empire nations.

Presumably this situation will be discussed early in the negotiations of the several conference committees which were appointed today.

The open sessions of this conference are over and the real bargaining will be done in committee. It is not likely there will be another open session of importance until the committees have something concrete to present.

A considerable part of the agricultural income of the United States would be at stake in any British food tariff. Wheat, cotton, tobacco, meat and lard make up 80 per cent of the total value of America's farm exports.

Member of House Marries Secretly

Representative Samuel Dickstein (Democrat), of New York, was secretly married last Tuesday to his secretary, Miss Essie Tevers, of Brooklyn, it was learned here yesterday. Miss Tevers has been in charge of the representative's New York office for some time.

Announcement of the marriage was made by Mr. Dickstein's sister. The couple's future plans were not disclosed. The marriage came as a surprise to Mr. Dickstein's colleagues. He remained at the Capitol until the closing day of the congressional session.

Mr. Dickstein was elected to the Sixty-eighth Congress and has served continuously since. He is a native of New York and received his education in the public schools of that city. Prior to coming to Washington, he was a member of the New York General Assembly. Mr. Dickstein makes his home here in the Washington Hotel.

Will of Biscoe Hindman Disposes of $1,200,000

The Washington Loan & Trust Co. yesterday in the District Supreme Court filed a petition for probate of the will of Biscoe Hindman, who died in Chicago, June 17. The estate is valued at $1,200,000, most of which is comprised of real estate and personal property here.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Georgie W. Hindman; a brother, Thomas C. Hindman, both of Chicago, and a sister, Blanche H. Cox, of Nashville, Tenn. All of them share in the estate.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS OPPOSING VIOLENCE

Berlin, July 22 (U.P.).—Prussian Socialist leaders strove tonight to restrain radical factions now demanding violent retaliation against the cabinet of Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The government meanwhile continued to tighten its grip on Germany by ousting more Socialist officials and arresting Col. Magnus Heimannsberg, former commander of Berlin police.

Heimannsberg was released late tonight, but the government did not announce why he had been arrested. Ernest Caribergh, who was arrested with him, will be released later, but Maj. Walter Encke, the third man arrested, will be held.

Young Socialists Aroused.

This latter arrest aroused the younger elements of the Socialist party, who have strengthened their "iron front" against Fascism and are straining to revenge. Many of them favor collaboration with friendly police forces openly to oppose the dictatorial regime in Prussia.

The Socialist leader, however, argued that although such methods might win an ephemeral victory in Berlin, the Reich's army eventually would triumph in such a struggle. They prefer to await the elections July 31, when they believe the Fascist will suffer losses and that Socialists will be vindicated.

Col. Heimannsberg was arrested in bed by soldiers. Maj. Walter Encke and Ernest Caribergh, a member of the Reichsbanner, also were arrested. All were taken to Moabit Prison.

Plotting Is Charged.

It was said they were suspected of trying to organize disaffection among the Prussian police and were charged with removing documents from police headquarters. Col. Heimannsberg surrendered his office when the dictatorship was established only after being arrested. He was held only a few hours at that time.

Encke and Caribergh were supposed to have acted as intermediaries. All denied the charges.

Meanwhile, the government continued its general housecleaning by dismissing other high Prussian officials, bringing the total of ousted officers to four provincial governors, six vice governors and ten city police chiefs.

The Communist newspaper Rote Fahne was suppressed for five days after it demanded a general protest strike.

Extra Guard for Hitler Ordered by Von Papen

Waldenburg, Germany, July 22 (A.P.).—Chancellor Franz von Papen telegraphed the police here today to take special precautions to protect Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, because there was a plot against his life.

Herr Hitler made a campaign address and, although the police had no other information of possible trouble except that from the chancellor, they placed a strong guard over him. The campaign speech went off without unusual incident. Waldenburg is strongly Communist.

50,000 Will Sign Card for Hoover

E.D. Chase Prepares Unique Birthday Greeting for President.

Winchester, Mass., July 22 (A.P.).—Ernest Dudley Chase, whose hobby is the composing and manufacture of unique greeting cards, is engaged in the completion of what he believes to be his masterpiece, which he will send to President Hoover on the latter's fifty-eighth birthday, August 10.

The card, if present plans materialize, will contain the original signatures of approximately 50,000 citizens of the Nation.

The card will consist of four units, approximately 30 by 40 inches. One of these, in the form of a map of the United States, will contain the signatures of the governors of the States, another will contain the signatures of the mayors of about 200 principal cities, and a third will be in the form of a great birthday cake with signatures of private citizens.

Chase has sent out 60,000 letters in his quest for signatures and says he has obtained about 20,000 already.

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF

Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, July 22 (A.P.).—The old German love of singing intervened tonight to save colorful ceremonies in connection with the eleventh German Saengerbundfest, attended by choruses from many parts of the world. The ban on open-air demonstrations decreed by the federal government to stop political riots was partly lifted by Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, interior minister, in special consideration for the Saengerbundfest. The singers will thus be able to hold their big festival and parade Sunday.

Berlin, July 22 (A.P.).—Two men who attempted to assassinate Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, last April were sentenced to ten months' imprisonment today. They are Max Roosen and Werner Kertscher. They fired at Dr. Luther as he boarded a train for Basle to attend a meeting of the World Bank directorate. He was only slightly wounded.

London, July 22 (A.P.).—Baron von Schleich, so-called "black knight" of the German flying forces during the war, and Maj. Christopher Draper, known as the mad major of the old British Royal Flying Corps, announced plans tonight for a westward flight across the Atlantic. They intend, they said, to make the trip in the near future, and they will be seated side by side in the cockpit of their plane.

Berne, Switzerland, July 22 (A.P.), Dr. Alexander Alekhine, world's champion, today conquered Salo Flohr, of Czechoslovakia, in the seventh round of the international chess masters' tournament, and as a result Dr. Alekhine remained in first place, while four dropped into a tie for second. The other winners today were Dr. Max Euwe, of Holland; Mir Sultan Khan, of India, and Dr. Henneberger, H. Grob, Dr. Naegeli and Hans Johner, all of Switzerland.

Wasserkuppe, Germany, July 22 (A.P.).—Robert Kronfeld, noted aviator and glider, dropped safely 2,000 feet in a parachute today when both wings of his glider, Austria, said to be the largest glider flier in the world, crumpled.

ENGINEERS ANSWER WATERWAY CRITICS

(Associated Press.)

The Army engineers put figures on paper yesterday to disprove claims the new St. Lawrence waterway treaty would destroy the usefulness of the Illinois waterway by limiting the flow of water at Lockport, Ill.

Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of Army engineers, in a memorandum to Secretary Hurley, said there was "no conflict" between the limiting provision of the treaty and the United States Supreme Court's decree of April 21, 1930. By that decree, the State of Illinois and the Chicago sanitary district were enjoined from diverting after December 31, 1938, from the Great Lakes through the Chicago drainage canal more than 1,500 cubic feet of water per second.

The general pointed out that article 8 of the waterways treaty provided a similar limit, but further provided a diversion increase in the event of emergency.

"There is no conflict between the decree of the Supreme Court," the memorandum said, "and article 8 of the treaty. It has been contended that the flow at Lockport as limited by the treaty will destroy the usefulness of the Illinois waterway. This contention is without basis of fact."

The flow at Lockport permissible under the treaty, the general added, would be more than three times the average low water flow of the Ohio River at Pittsburgh, Pa.; two and one-half times the yearly average amount of water required for lockages on the Panama Canal and seventeen times the low water flow on the Monongahela River, carrying two and one-half times the tonnage estimated for the Illinois waterway.

"If additional locks and dams in that portion of the Illinois below Utica are found to be necessary to provide a 9-foot channel during low water stages, the cost thereof will be negligible compared to expenditures made on other waterways and to the advantages resulting to the public from the proposed improvement of the St. Lawrence River," the general said.

Telegraphic Dispatches

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—Associates of Al Capone, Chicago gang ruler, now in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., tonight scoffed at reports that Capone contemplated purchasing the 101 Ranch from Col. Zack Miller, Ponca City, Okla. Miller could not be located in downtown hotels where he was reputed to be conferring with "Diamond Jack" Alterie, business representative for Capone.

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—The heat wave doesn't bother Prince Subba Svasti of Bangkok, brother of the Queen of Siam. In Chicago today before leaving for Denver, he commented: "Hot? I don't notice it. You know it gets warm in Siam."

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 22 (A.P.).—Where the carefree nomads of the railroad "jungles" gathered today around their Mulligan stew, a kindly word was spoken for James Eads How, once "king of the hobos." Today was set aside for paying tribute to the memory of How, Harvard graduate and millionaire, who spurned wealth to live among the knights of the road. It was the second anniversary of his death.

Atlanta, Ga., July 22 (A.P.).—Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, was bequeathed $10,000 in the will of the late Daniel W. Rountree, prominent Atlanta attorney, who died recently. No estimate was placed on the size of the estate by the will which was probated today, but approximately $150,000 was left to friends, relatives and employes.

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—Sally O'Neill, motion picture actress, was reported in "very good condition" tonight at the Medical Arts Sanitarium, following upon an appendicitis operation this afternoon.

Wisconsin Dells, Wis., July 22 (A.P.).—Two children, hitch-hiking with their parents from Cleveland to Minneapolis were killed by an automobile which ran into the plodding group near here late today. The dead are Elliott, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, and Gloria, 15 months old, who was being wheeled along the pavement in a baby buggy.

Pontiac, Mich., July 22 (A.P.).—Bodies of two Negro women came to the surface in Pontiac Lake tonight, bringing to three the known fatalities from a sudden storm which swamped dozens of small boats last night. Sheriff Frank Schram, of Oakland County, said he believed seven more were in the lake.

Detroit, July 22 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary Rush, 55, was not one to bow to superstition when she encountered a ladder leaning against a sign on a downtown street today, she walked right under it. A gust of wind blew the ladder down. It struck her on the head and she was taken to Receiving Hospital with a fractured skull.

Los Angeles, July 22 (A.P.).—Burton J. McKinnell, brother of Winnie Ruth Judd, Arizona "trunk murderess," was convicted by a municipal court jury today on a charge of blocking traffic in connection with the sale of his book, "The Truth About Winnie Ruth Judd." He will be sentenced Monday.

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—Two men driving an automobile with Indiana license plates attempted today to kidnap Milton Rosenthal, 38, mortgage broker and former bank official, but were frightened away by the approach of several city firemen.

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—The Middlewest College committee for investigation of relief in the southern Illinois coal fields announced today that 44 students from ten colleges have signed up to make a motor bus expedition into Franklin County and other mine centers.

Pittsburgh, July 22 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh relatives of Gilda Kreegan, Pittsburgh actress, said tonight they had been informed of her marriage to Bror Dahlberg, president of the Celotex Co.

CAMPAIGN STRATEGY SOON TO BE SETTLED

Both Candidates Nearing Time When Decisions Must Be Made.

(Associated Press.)

The rapid pace of the presidential campaign is forcing toward decision these two highly interesting and possibly dominating questions of party strategy:

How far will the Republicans go toward an affirmative bid for the prohibition vote? And how far will the Democrats go in seeking the support of the West at the sacrifice of certain strength in the East?

For the answer to the first of these questions, the country is looking to President Hoover's acceptance speech August 11. As he begins its preparation, he is besieged on the one hand by pleas that he show a definite personal inclination to the dry side, at the same time that he accepts the submission plank adopted at Chicago, and on the other hand by advisers who think the party ought to cut loose entirely from the organized drys and stand for submission and nothing else.

Will Not Work for Repeal.

It probably is true that not one of the President's intimates knows today what he will decide to say. He is listening to both sides, and keeping his own thoughts to himself. All that can be said with certainty is that he has no intention of declaring for repeal, or even by inference putting himself definitely on the extreme antiprohibition side of the case.

Similarly, many politicians expect Gov. Roosevelt to indicate whether he intends to follow the strategy adopted by his running mate, Speaker Garner, in the closing days of the session of Congress and in the homecoming speeches in Texas.

Garner's thrusts at "Wall street," and his denunciation of President Hoover as the special friend of big business, have aroused questionings among many Eastern Democrats. Already Republican speakers have sought to attach the tag of "radical" to the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, and have used the utterances of the Democratic vice presidential nominee in the hope of frightening the East.

Roosevelt Bids in East.

Only indirectly has Gov. Roosevelt indicated what his own ideas as to political geography are. By his conferences with Massachusetts Democrats, and by his dispatch of Chairman James A. Farley into New Jersey yesterday on a peace-making mission, the nominee has shown he has no intention of waging a campaign aimed solely at Southern and Western electoral votes.

Much higher interest attaches, however, to what the governor actually says in his future addresses and whether Speaker Garner, after his fishing trip, resumes his speech-making where he left off.

Farley's New Jersey speech did not touch the big business issue. It was an appeal for party harmony, addressed not alone to the Hague organization in New Jersey. Its complimentary references to John J. Raskob and Jouett Shouse were calculated to reach the ears of those in all States who stood against Roosevelt's nomination. It will be on the State leaders, more than usual, that the Democratic campaign will rest under a plan of decentralized management worked out at Albany.

St. Lawrence Waterway.

Another question still to be decided is whether the Democrats will make a concerted attack on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty signed this week in Washington. Gov. Roosevelt has indicated a feeling that the interests of New York State were not sufficiently considered by the administration in Washington, and there are rumblings of dissent among some Western senators. The form of this treaty may become an important campaign issue, but the situation still is too nebulous for definite prediction.

That the governor intends to do something about the water-power issue, from the St. Lawrence angle or some other, is indicated by the conferences he has been holding with his home State advisers. He also has gone into the farm relief situation, coupled by some with the water-power question, in talks with Farm Bureau Federation officials, but the results appear indefinite.

Texas Democrats Vote on Dry Issue

Primaries Today Also Will Pick Nominees for Governor and Congress.

Austin, Tex., July 22 (A.P.).—Democrats of Texas, long regarded as an ultradry Commonwealth, tomorrow will say whether they desire the question of constitutional prohibition resubmitted.

Incidental to the party's biennial primary to nominate candidates for governor, representatives in Congress and all State, district and county offices, the voters will be granted an opportunity to vote "yes" or "no" on an auxiliary ballot which reads:

"For submission by the Seventy-third Congress of the question of retaining or repealing the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States to the people through conventions specially elected in the separate States to consider that issue by itself as provided in article five of the Constitution of the United States."

The gubernatorial nomination race has held chief interest. Gov. R. S. Sterling, asking reelection after a first term, is opposed by seven candidates, one of the most active of whom was Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, elected Texas' first woman governor in 1924, and wife of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, impeached and removed from office during his second term in 1917.

ROOSEVELT TO BEGIN TOUR IN NEW JERSEY

Will Launch His Personal Campaign at Sea Girt on August 27.

Seagirt, where 100,000 hailed him in 1928, was:

"He has received no invitation yet."

Meantime, James A. Farley, new national chairman and campaign manager, continued his drive to enlist the whole-hearted support of all who were on the Smith bandwagon.

From New Jersey, where he had eulogized Hague for his sportsmanship, the energetic Farley went to Massachusetts, which also sent a Smith delegation to Chicago.

In a hotel at Springfield he spent two hours with Gov. Joseph B. Ely, who placed the 1928 party leader in nomination last month. Ely is the only anti-Roosevelt leader not on record as a supporter of Roosevelt.

As they came from their session, Farley announced:

"Gov. Ely and I have gone over the situation very carefully and I have arranged for Gov. Ely to meet Gov. Roosevelt in Albany some day next week. After that visit Gov. Ely will issue a statement."

Partial Shift by Ely.

Neither Ely nor Farley would enlarge upon the prepared statement, but Farley appeared in high spirits. Friends of Ely saw in his decision to go to Albany at least a partial shift in his position, as hitherto he had made no move toward support of Roosevelt and had made it known the Roosevelt organization must come to him for any conferences that might be held.

It was believed tonight Ely would make public, after his conference with Roosevelt, not only his position toward the national Democratic ticket but his decision as to whether he will be a candidate for reelection as governor. He has yet to announce himself.

Farley was expansive and enthusiastic over the progress which he said had been made in behalf of Roosevelt. In Ely's presence he told newspapermen: "I am satisfied the New England States will give to Gov. Roosevelt their whole-hearted support, and we look for entirely satisfactory results in every State."

Farley Is Expected Here For Tactics Conferences

(Associated Press.)

Democratic leaders here expect James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to visit the Capital early next week for campaign conferences. He is expected to lean heavily on the experience of some of the veteran Democratic congressional chieftains, such as Senators Harrison of Mississippi, Connally of Texas, and Hull of Tennessee.

The congressional leaders in turn have some very definite ideas to pass along to the new party leader. Informal discussions among them so far have developed that it might be well to call in Speaker Garner, the vice presidential nominee, for conferences to obtain an understanding on campaign tactics.

There also is a feeling that Gov. Roosevelt would do well to employ the radio to a great extent rather than rely on the old theory of "around the circuit" speaking tours.

Senator McKellar (Democrat), of Tennessee, in a statement last night said Gov. Roosevelt, if elected President, would not represent any one branch of the Democratic party, but the entire party.

McKellar said he had received a letter from "a prominent Republican Wall street banker" asking whether Roosevelt would become affiliated with the "Young, Ritchie, Baker, Baruch, Glass wing of the Democratic party, or the Hearst, McAdoo, Long contingent."

Young Will Advise Roosevelt on Drive

Foreign Debts and Railroad Problems to Be Part of Vote Appeal.

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (A.P.).—International debts and the problem of revivifying the Nation's railroad industry probably will be woven into the campaign pattern of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee.

To advise him in the shaping of a public discussion on international affairs, the candidate has called to conference Owen D. Young, chief of the Reparations Commission, international expert and industrial leader. Young will meet the New York Governor tomorrow at the latter's Hyde Park home, to sit down and discuss, as the governor phrased it, "a great many things, including the foreign situation."

That Mr. Roosevelt's lifelong interest in the railroads would be reflected in his campaign activities was indicated in a meeting last night between the governor and Carl Gray, Union Pacific president.

Georgia Women Back Roosevelt.

Atlanta, July 22 (A.P.).—Democratic women of Georgia began a campaign here today with the announced purpose of carrying "every precinct" in the State for the Democratic nominees, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Speaker John N. Garner. The organization was named the Georgia Women's Democratic League and members said a chapter would be formed in every county.

guay over the Gran Chaco region were considered terminated. The newspaper, an opposition organ, editorially urged war with Paraguay "in view of the grave offense to our national honor."

A large gathering demonstrated in favor of Chile in front of the Chilean legation at La Paz after reports were spread that prominent Chileans were on the side of Paraguay in the wrangle over the Chaco.

At Asuncion the Paraguayan government announced its delegates had been ordered to return to Washington and resume discussions of a settlement. The Paraguayan representatives broke off from the conference because of what they called Bolivia's offensive acts.

The Asuncion government announced that Secretary of State Stimson had been notified Paraguay would commit no hostile act against Bolivia while the negotiations were going on except in legitimate defense of its interests.

Semiofficial circles in Santiago, capital of Chile, expressed the belief that Chile would remain an "interested neutral" in the Chaco dispute.

(Associated Press.)

Although feeling continues high between Bolivia and Paraguay, new hope of negotiating a nonaggression pact came yesterday in Paraguay's ordering her delegation back to Washington.

The delegation had been told to return home after months of conversations here. The discussion with Bolivian representatives and spokesmen of the neutral countries—United States, Colombia, Cuba and Mexico—were halted when Paraguay charged Bolivian provocation in a Chaco clash on June 15.

At the behest of the neutrals, however, the withdrawal orders were rescinded Thursday, and the delegation definitely instructed yesterday to come back to Washington from New York.

Reports that the Bolivians would discontinue negotiations came to the neutrals, but that country's delegation in Washington said no such instructions had been received. The neutrals hoped it would cooperate in investigating the recent clashes and proceed with the principal negotiations.

Prisoners Say Victims Were Accidentally Drowned on Swimming Party.

Rochester, Minn., July 22 (A.P.).—County authorities said tonight that Reuben Kruger and Jesse Salley, both of Plainview, Minn., admitted they were the men who went on a swimming party Tuesday night with Louise Prigge, 22, and Frances Polikowski, 22, whose bodies were found later in the Zumbro River. Kruger and Salley are being held here without charge.

They were taken into custody at Plainview. Officials said they had gone swimming at Ryan's Beach with the women. The latter were overcome in the water, county officers were told, and the men are alleged to have become frightened and fled. They declared the girls' deaths were accidental.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Buske, farmers living near the Zumbro River, testified that Tuesday night two men and two women were seen entering the stream, clad only in undergarments. When last seen, the laughing group was still swimming.

Death of a third girl, Agnes Stevens, 22, of Melrose Park, Mass., near Lake City today was suicide, announced Coroner Russell Edstrom. She was shot in the head in her automobile. She was a student at the University of Minnesota.

Friends of Miss Stevens, who registered yesterday at the university, could advance no motive for her suicide, although her father, Charles W. Stevens, of Melrose Park, said she had been reported despondent recently.

Stevens, an assistant bank cashier in Boston, requested two university deans to represent him in any investigation and asked that the body be returned to the East.

Officials were convinced there was no connection between the suicide of the Stevens girl and the other tragedy.

Widow Asks Uncle Of Reynolds to Act

Seeks Him as Executor of Estate After Report of Another Plan.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 22 (A.P.).—Libby Holman Reynolds, widow of Smith Reynolds, has asked his uncle, W. N. Reynolds, to be executor of his estate, Alfred Holman, Cincinnati attorney and father of the musical revue star, who left Broadway to become the bride of the tobacco fortune heir, transmitted the request in a letter to Reynolds, who disclosed it here today.

Reynolds' disclosure was prompted by reports current here that a New York legal firm had been appointed executor of the estate. He said that so far as he knew there was no truth in the report.

Informed of the report in Cincinnati, Holman said:

"I am my daughter's only attorney."

The elder Reynolds was coguardian of his 20-year-old nephew with R. E. Lasater, of Winston-Salem.

(Associated Press.)

John D. Parker, who has been retired as chief clerk in the Inspector General's Office of the War Department after more than 52 years of continuous service, was honored at a reception by office associates yesterday and presented with a purse of gold.

Mr. Parker, a native of Culpeper County, Va., was retired under the provisions of the national economy act.

He previously had been given two extensions after reaching the retirement age. He first entered the service as an enlisted clerk in the Weather Bureau, which then was a part of the Signal Corps of the Army.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE DROP IN ROMANCE.

THERE'S a matrimonial depression—a slump in the United States marriage industry. Weddings, according to the Census Bureau, fell of between 6 and 7 per cent in this country during the past year.

* * * *

Early spring brides were at the lowest levels in many years and with practically no takers. Selected June spouses were a drug on the market in most parts of the country, and as for fall and winter choice cuties, the very best stock, the clergy was unable to move the crop.

* * * *

There were only 1,060,095 marriages in the United States last year, as against 1,128,572 in 1930.

* * * *

* * * *

In New York City weddings fell off 3.4 per cent. Even the visiting tourists must have kept their heads.

* * * *

Only eleven States showed a marriage increase. They were New Hampshire, South Dakota, Nebraska, West Virginia, Maryland, South Carolina, Florida, Utah, Kentucky, Nevada and Virginia. You can explain the increase in most of these States on the ground of Western and Southern hospitality, which makes it possible for the bridegroom to live with the bride's folks.

* * * *

BUT what about granite-ribbed New Hampshire? You can't start housekeeping at father's expense in that State.

* * * *

The situation in four States was reported today as follows:

Illinois: Investigation of the matrimonial situation here reveals that brides of the very highest grade are clogging the market. Inventories are at the highest in history. There is talk of demanding congressional action to keep the market at reasonable levels until the crisis passes.

* * * *

Pennsylvania: "It is almost impossible to float even the very finest type of cutie this year," said a prominent State economist today. "Buyers, if any, are extremely cautious. They prefer to wait to see what Europe is going to do before they pop the question."

* * * *

California: Never has this State seen so many choice brides with so few takers. Disposing of them at this time presents insurmountable obstacles because of the world crisis. We had to take an issue of First & Refunding 5½s Brides of 1932 off the market this week because of a total dearth of subscribers."

* * * *

New Jersey: "It's terrible," said the governor today. "My marriage bureau tells me it can't sell even its ten-year gold convertibles at a yield of 9 per cent, with a barrel of rice and plenty of old shoes thrown in."

APROPOS OF NOTHING MUCH.

POOR POLITICS.

MAYOR CERMAK of Chicago says that the city made a profit on the two political conventions. Think of the money there would have been in them if he had sold the radio rights to a soap or soup manufacturer!

Harold Seton observes that the more some people become wrapped up in themselves the colder they grow.

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS.

Hollywood stars have their salaries reduced as much as 35 per cent, and they would feel pretty sore about it if they knew enough about mathematics to figure it out.

B. E. F. EVACUATION ORDERS MODIFIED BY DISTRICT HEADS

scribed by Chief of Staff Carter, is that Communist organizations are recruiting in large cities to stage a march on the Capital. Carter says. The bonus army could then be used as an adjunct of the civil authorities in the event of disorder, he said.

Legal Requirements.

Execution of the general evacuation order was postponed indefinitely because of "certain possible legal requirements," the Commissioners instructed Gen. Glassford. These legal requirements consist principally of court proceedings, centering about eviction orders.

The postponement was announced after the Commissioners, in executive session, had considered the reply of Gen. Glassford to their general evacuation order. After three hours they sent out a copy of a formal order advising Gen. Glassford of the postponement.

"On account of certain possible legal requirements, the execution of the order will be postponed until after the fulfillment of these legal requirements," the letter stated.

"The orders issued you requiring the return of tentage and rolling kitchens, belonging to the National Guard and temporarily loaned to the bonus marchers, will be accomplished by noon August 1."

Commissioners Determined.

The Commissioners, in a press conference, took full responsibility for issuance of the original evacuation order and announced their determination to see it through as soon as the legal snarls have been untangled.

Asked why they had not obtained legal counsel in the first place, Police Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby said: "We didn't think it was necessary."

In all, the bonus army is using 160 pyramidal tents, the property of the National Guard, which Gen. Glassford will have to have returned. Five rolling kitchens, also the property of the National Guard, are in use by the bonus army. These tents are in use at Camp Bartlett and Camp Marks, the large encampments in Anacostia.

"We don't want to turn the city over to unwelcome visitors," Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of Commissioners, said. He admitted that trouble may be encountered in evicting the veterans, but he does not expect it will be serious.

Glassford Reply Concealed.

Both Commissioners flatly refused to make public Gen. Glassford's reply to their order. Gen. Crosby said it contained reference to riots and bloodshed, which he didn't think should be published. The police chief also declined to make public the letter.

When asked point blank whether the White House had been responsible for the original order, Gen. Crosby thundered:

"No, sir. We take full responsibility for that order."

Cancellation of the order very likely averted a serious situation. The first requirement of the order, the eviction of 1,800 veterans from the area bounded by Pennsylvania and Missouri avenues and Third and Sixth streets northwest, was to have been accomplished by last midnight.

To forestall such a move a battalion of 1,500 men from the Anacostia camps came over to reinforce the men in the billets to be vacated. They were instructed by Commander in Chief Waters to passively resist any move to oust them.

"If the police get rough, we can get just as rough," he said, as he established his headquarters at the area that was to have been vacated.

Robertson, who is leading his 800 followers out of the Capital today, expressed the belief that Waters will be unable to keep his men together.

"These men know there is nothing to stay here for except to see Waters strut around with new boots on and a new black cane to swagger with," he said. "If trouble starts, I expect Waters will find he has to go to Pittsburgh to get food or to Newark to make a radio speech."

The Robertson contingent will assemble at the Peace Monument at 10:30 this morning and will be carried away in District-owned trucks to Frederick, Md., when Maryland authorities will pick them up and transport them to the Pennsylvania line.

Pinchot Asked to Help.

Gen. Glassford last night directed a telegram to Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, asking his assistance in transporting the men through that State. None of his men have applied at the Veterans' Bureau for subsistence allowance, Robertson said. "We're going out to campaign against those who voted against the bonus. We'll have plenty of food, too."

Other angles of the evacuation order which remain operative are those that instruct Gen. Glassford to make no exceptions in cases of violations of District regulations by veterans, and forbidding the occupancy of private dwellings unless they have passed sanitary and fire inspection.

Better Billets Demanded.

Asked whether he was in accord with the general evacuation order issued by the Commissioners, Gen. Glassford replied: "It's not my business to be in accord with an order from my superiors. An order is an order, and I have to enforce their wishes."

Gen. Glassford saw Waters yesterday at the Pennsylvania avenue billets and was assured by Waters that the veterans would cooperate with police; but would move only when better billets are provided for them. None were in prospect last night.

"I don't propose to have the men removed from Federal property which they fought in France to defend," Waters told the police chief.

Waters promised either "a fight or a frolic" as he led the detachment of 1,500 men from Anacostia into the Pennsylvania avenue quarters. His men left for Anacostia soon after he had addressed them and said the "veterans stand for law and order."

The head of the army said the men in the Sixth regiment, which is housed on the Federal property on Pennsylvania avenue, have been instructed to remain where they are until better housing is furnished.

"Forcible resistance will not be tolerated. Our objectives, we feel, are too important to ourselves and the rest of the common people of the United States to risk the loss of all we have gained through disorder."

"Let Police Be Aggressors."

To his men, he said: "I've come here to await the arrival of police. We don't want a riot, and if the police get rough be sure and let them be the aggressor. * * * But let the police get rough and we'll show them. I, as your commander, need only to raise my hand above my head and my following of 12,000 men would act according to my wishes—either a fight or a frolic."

The Treasury Department requested Gen. Glassford yesterday to take steps to secure the evacuation of 400 veterans who are quartered in the block bounded by Twelfth, Thirteenth, C and D streets southwest.

Those who attended the conference which considered the legal angle of the general evacuation order yesterday morning were: Gen. Glassford, Acting Corporation Counsel Vernon L. West, Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward W. Thomas, U. S. Marshal Edgar C. Snyder and his assistant, Stephen B. Callahan, and Acting U. S. Attorney John W. Fihelly, in whose office the meeting was held.

Limit on Travel Loans Near.

Two lines of veterans were at the Veterans' Administration Building yesterday, one seeking transportation loans and the other seeking the loan of half the value of their adjusted service compensation certificates. The loans on the certificates were authorized in a bill signed Thursday by President Hoover.

The men in the bonus line could only file their applications. The machinery for paying these loans will not be in motion until Monday.

The "zero hour" for transportation and subsistence loans for veterans who wish to return home is tomorrow midnight.

The radical wing of the bonus army, led by John Pace, of Detroit, who was released under bond after his arrest Wednesday at the White House demonstration, announced yesterday that the Executive Mansion will be picketed again on Monday.

PRISON HEADS CLEAR IN 2 CONVICT DEATHS

"Sweat-Box" Torture Case Not Included in Probe; Georgian Indicted.

Raiford, Fla., July 22 (A.P.).—Complete exoneration of Florida prison officials and employes in the recent deaths of two convicts was voted here tonight by the Board of State Institutions.

The action was taken following a two-day hearing conducted by Nathan Mayo, head of the State's prison department, during which approximately 80 convicts were questioned. Today's session was attended by Gov. Doyle E. Carlton.

The two prisoners whose deaths were being investigated were Harold Bradley and Frank Powell.

Bradley, whose home was at Loretta, Pa., was shot and killed by a guard when he and another prisoner attempted to escape from a prison road camp at Indiantown. The board upheld the Martin County grand jury finding and a report by State's attorney Angus Sumner that Bradley's death was justifiable homicide.

A request that Bradley's death be further investigated was made recently by Pennsylvania authorities.

Powell, a one-legged convict from Miami, died shortly after he collapsed in the prison shoe factory. Dr. C. D. Whittaker, physician, held Powell died of "acute dilatation of the heart."

"Sweat Box" Case in Courts.

More than a dozen convicts who worked at the shoe factory with Powell testified they frequently had seen him take large doses of medicine. A request that the board investigate Powell's death was made by Al Gorman, foreman of the Duval County grand jury, on the suggestion of Powell's father, W. J. Powell, of Miami.

Following up the investigation the board wired the elder Powell that the convict died of natural causes and he replied he accepted the findings "and shall consider the matter closed."

The board did not investigate the "sweat box" death of Arthur Maillefert, young New Jersey convict who was found strangled with a heavy chain about his neck and his feet in wooden stocks at the Sunbeam Prison Camp near Jacksonville recently.

It held that this case now was in the State courts for disposal. Two camp officers, Capt. George Courson and Guard Solomon Higgenbotham, were indicted for first degree murder in Maillefert's death and are at liberty under $5,000 bond each pending trial next fall.

Georgia Warden Indicted.

Griffin, Ga., July 22 (A.P.).—The recent death of a Negro convict was charged today to Capt. P. H. Randall, county convict warden, in an indictment for involuntary manslaughter. Douglas Smith, a convict guard, also was indicted for assault and battery for whipping the prisoner, J. T. Lassiter, the day before he died.

The indictment charged Randall killed Lassiter by "hitting, striking and beating him with his hands, fists, sticks, pieces of wood and other weapons to the grand jury unknown." The warden was released under $1,000 bond. Testimony at a coroner's inquest said Lassiter fell and struck his head after being beaten. His skull was fractured.

Mrs. Caraway Scores Loan Dawes Bank

Hot Springs, Ark., July 22 (A.P.).—Senator Hattie W. Caraway in a speech tonight in her campaign for renomination assailed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and its loan of $80,000,000 to the Chicago bank of Charles G. Dawes, former chairman of the corporation.

"It will have to be a very strong bank to be able to pay the interest alone," she said, "to say nothing of repayment of the principal. To me, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is a big funnel with spongy sides which absorbs all money poured into it for the relief of large interests—never a drop dribbling to the bottom to men and women who need it most."

District Names Tugboat After William Tindall

To honor the memory of William Tindall, veteran District employe who died recently, the District Commissioners yesterday named a new tugboat, purchased for the District Reformatory at Lorton, Va., for him upon recommendation of Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner.

Several names were suggested for the honor, but Maj. Gotwals put forward that of Tindall, who he described as a "soldier, scientist and gentleman who was so intimately interwoven with the municipality of the District of Columbia."

7 Bass and 2 Turtles Are Garner's Capture

Uvalde, Tex., July 22 (A.P.).—Fully as adept with a casting rod as with a gavel, Speaker John N. Garner came home from his fishing trip today with seven bass weighing from 3 to 5 pounds each, and two big soft-shelled turtles. One of the turtles weighed 15 and the other 20 pounds.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee has his own recipe for making turtle soup. Ross Brumfield, Uvalde garageman who accompanied him on the fishing trip, said they had soup from another turtle for their noon meal today. Garner also cooked their supper last night. Squirrels shot by the Speaker helped diversify the cuisine.

The big thrill of the trip came when Garner and Brumfield sighted a big buck deer swimming in the river and gave chase by boat. The season on deer is closed now.

DR. DANIEL FOLKMAR RITES TO BE TODAY

Famous Anthropologist and Statistician to Be Buried in Cedar Hill.

Funeral services for Dr. Daniel Folkmar, noted anthropologist and statistician, who died of a heart attack in Washington Sanitarium Thursday, will be held today at the Zurhorst funeral home, 301 East Capitol street at 10:30 a. m. Interment will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Dr. Folkmar was convalescing at the sanitarium from a nervous ailment when death overtook him. He had been at the institution since June 9 after he had been arrested following an altercation with a tenant in his home at 10 Third street southeast. He was to have faced charges in Police Court after his recovery.

Surviving Dr. Folkmar is a sister, Mrs. Etta F. Winter, of this city. His wife, Mrs. Elnora Cuddeback Folkmar, well-known physician, parliamentarian and author, died about two years ago.

Dr. Folkmar was born in Roxbury, Wis., October 28, 1861. He came here in 1908. He had studied at Harvard University, Clark University and the Universities of Chicago, Paris, Berlin and Brussels. Dr. Folkmar was the fifth American to receive the Ecole d'Anthropologie from the University of Paris.

A member of the Masonic Order, Lebanon Lodge No. 7, Dr. Folkmar was also identified with a number of other fraternal and civic groups. He was the author of numerous scientific works.

Indiana Cashier Injured In $4,000 Bank Holdup

Scottsburg, Ind., July 22 (A.P.).—Robert Blunt, cashier, was beaten severely late today by gunmen who robbed the Scott County State Bank of $4,000. The three men who held up the bank were driven away by a fourth who waited in an automobile.

Blunt was hit on the head when he resisted the robbers. He ran outside and fired on the departing automobile and the robbers retaliated. Their bullets hit no one.

Kahahawai Slaying Story Told by Mrs. Fortescue

Mother of Mrs. Massie Writes Details Telling of Confession and Death of Hawaiian After Assault Upon Her Daughter.

New York, July 22.—Mrs. Granville Fortescue, central figure in the Honolulu murder trial, describes in this week's issue of Liberty Magazine the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai for the alleged assault of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Massie.

Mrs. Fortescue, whose sentence on a manslaughter conviction was commuted with those of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, her son-in-law, and two sailors, last April, expressed her regret for the death of the Hawaiian and affirms her opposition to lynch law as well as capital punishment.

She and Lieut. Massie had become convinced, she recounts, that if they could wreat a confession from Kahahawai that he participated in the outrage of her daughter they could clear her name of "rumors and gossip," which they believed were part of a "hush-hush" campaign instituted by Honolulu politicians.

By means of a spurious warrant they lured Kahahawai to her home, and Lieut. Massie began to grill him. The prisoner, pictured as sullen and defiant, denied knowing anything about the attack last September.

After giving him the lie and threatening to beat him up if he did not tell the truth, Lieut. Massie is quoted as shouting:

"You assaulted her! I know it! You and the rest!"

"Yeah, we done it," the Hawaiian is quoted as admitting.

"I turned toward my desk to get paper and pen," Mrs. Fortescue continues. "Suddenly the room vibrated with a shot. I wheeled around. Kahahawai was dead and, facing him, Tommie stood transfixed, the pistol at his feet, staring before him unseeingly, unknowingly.

"I have seen men die. I have seen men dead in Belgium in the war, but never before have I seen a man motionless, rigid, unconscious on his feet."

She led the young naval officer into the kitchen and then the necessity for flight overcame her. The body was loaded into a car and taken toward the ocean. Before the party reached their destination they were captured by police.

"I sincerely regret the death of Kahahawai," Mrs. Fortescue concludes. "I do not believe in lynch law—I can not state that too emphatically—and I am opposed to capital punishment.

"Could I have looked into the future but a few hours, nothing would have persuaded me to go to the courthouse (where she picked up Kahahawai) that fatal day."

MRS. CLEMENTSON'S RITES.

Widow of William H. Clementson Buried at Tennallytown.

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie E. Clementson, 81, wife of the late William H. Clementson, were held Wednesday afternoon. Burial was at Tennallytown.

She died at her residence at 3007 M street northwest after a brief illness. She is survived by two sons, George W. and James J. Clementson, three daughters, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. Katie Rittue and Mrs. Effie Minnis, 22 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren.

GEORGE M. HUNTER BURIED.

Funeral of Rockville Bank President Is Held at St. Mary's.

Funeral services for George M. Hunter, president of the Montgomery County National Bank at Rockville, Md., were held yesterday. Requiem mass was said at St. Mary's Catholic Church by the Rev. Charles R. O'Hara, the pastor. Burial was in Rockville Union Cemetery.

Mr. Hunter, one of the most prominent men of the county, died Wednesday night following a heart attack. He had been an employe of the bank for 48 years, starting as a messenger at the age of 14. He became president about 15 years ago.

MOVIE TO STAY SHUT AT COLONIAL BEACH

Enforcement of Antigambling Law Promised by Virginia Beach.

Richmond, Va., July 22 (A.P.).—The motion picture house at Colonial Beach will have to remain closed on Sundays under a ruling issued today by Attorney General John R. Saunders.

The ruling was written at the request of Gov. Pollard with whom a number of Colonial Beach citizens have filed complaints since the amusement house was closed. They pointed out that many of the Sabbath visitors came from Washington, where Sunday movies are permited, and told the governor that the closing of the motion picture house materially would harm business there.

Mr. Saunders said that the courts would have to decide the legality of other Sunday activities at the beach resort, such as the operation of merry-go-rounds and bath houses, the sale of soft drinks and food. Their legality, he said, depends upon whether they are "works of necessity."

Governor Lacks Authority.

The courts have held that a work of necessity "is one which, under all the surrounding facts and circumstances, is reasonable and essential to the welfare of the people."

In reply to the request that the beach theater be permitted to operate on Sunday, the governor said he had no authority to grant the request. "It is generally recognized throughout the State," he said, "that the conduct of moving pictures on Sunday is in violation of the statute."

Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County officials, on an official visit to the capitol, today assured Gov. Pollard of the fullest cooperation in law enforcement against gambling at the resort, and told the State auditor that the county treasurer discrepancy case would be before a grand jury Thursday.

In their conference with Gov. Pollard, both Mayor Barco, of the resort town, and Paul W. Ackiss, jr., Commonwealth's attorney of Princess Anne, told the governor that local authorities were eager to do all in their power to enforce the law.

"Petting Party" Courts.

Commenting on recent reports of "roadside courts" for "petting party" law violators, Mr. Ackiss said, so far as he could learn the reports were "extremely exaggerated." He added, however, that if and when a definite case is brought to his attention "the proper steps will be taken."

Gov. Pollard, after the conference with the county and town officials, said he was pleased with the attitude they showed. He added that the attitude last year was not the same.

It was a year ago that Gov. Pollard publicly asserted that the town of Virginia Beach was "in open rebellion against the laws of the Commonwealth," and reprimanded local authorities for their lack of diligence in law enforcement against alleged gambling.

CIVIL SERVICE POOL TO AID FURLOUGHED

Federal Trade Commission, announced yesterday that 32 more of this class of workers will be released July 31. The cuts he said were made necessary by the $200,000 appropriation slash Congress voted the commission. He said the commission will not have to make use of administrative furloughs.

Other departments generally are delaying decision on application of the administrative furlough, in addition to the 24-day compulsory congressional furlough. Only the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Office of Public Buildings and Parks have announced one month additional furloughs are in prospect.

The question was raised yesterday whether 2,300 so-called "superannuated" postal employes retired on June 30, but held over by executive order until July 10 will lose 21 days' retirement pay between that date and August 1, as a result of a ruling by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl. He ruled their retirement pay may not start until August 1, and the Postoffice said yesterday it must administer funds accordingly.

In keeping emergency retired officers' combined pay from civilian employment and retired compensation down to the $3,000 economy act maximum, payless furloughs, the five-day week or percentage reductions may be invoked to effect the necessary cut in civilian compensation, the Comptroller yesterday advised Administrator of Veterans' Affairs Frank T. Hines.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke, who last week announced the five-day week will not be applied in the Navy Department, yesterday issued an order permitting civilian Navy employes to take their payless leave much as they formerly took their paid annual leave.

"An employe may be granted one work day's absence each half month for which deduction of one and one-quarter days' pay is currently made on account of legislative furloughs, or he may be permitted to defer such absence, accumulating it until a time which he may desire, and which will be convenient to the bureau or office concerned," his order read.

District Workers To Take Furloughs

5-Day Week Plan Vetoed by Commissioners; Pay to Be Deducted.

Employes of the District of Columbia will not work under the five-day week plan, it was announced yesterday by the District Commissioners. They will, however, be forced to adopt the furlough system.

It was pointed out by the Commissioners that each employe of the District may take his furlough as he sees fit, providing it is approved by department heads. He may take all his 30-day furlough at once, or split it up over the fiscal year.

Each pay day, twice a month, 1¼ days' pay will be deducted from each pay envelope, the Commissioners declared.

$15 Hidden in Store Stolen.

Thieves broke into a drug store at 1128 H street northeast yesterday and stole $15 in change from a hiding place under the counter. Enoch H. Norris, owner, told police entrance was gained by breaking glass in the rear door.

POLICEMEN ACCUSED IN 10 INDICTMENTS

Nassau Prosecutor Declines to Divulge Names; Monday Set for Arraignment.

Mineola, Long Island, July 22 (U.P.).—Ten indictments against Nassau County policemen involved in the "third degree" torture and death of Hyman Stark, a prisoner, were returned tonight by the grand jury.

District Attorney Elvin Edwards impounded the indictments and declined to reveal the names of the officers against whom the indictments were found, nor the crimes with which they are charged. He had asked for indictments ranging from conspiracy to obstruct justice, to second degree murder.

The accused men will be arraigned Monday, he said, and the grand jury, which has not yet completed its investigation of the "torture murder," will resume its activities next Tuesday.

Thirteen police officers, including the assistant chief of police and eight detectives, were accused by Edwards of participating in the brutal assault upon Stark, and with forming a "conspiracy of silence" afterward, for their own protection.

Arthur W. Brierly, foreman of the jury which for two days has listened to evidence from a constant stream of witnesses, handed the indictments up to Judge Courtland A. Johnson, at 9:30 tonight, after an evening session.

Stark died after a 6-hour grilling in the Mineola police station. He had been arrested on charges of robbing and beating Mrs. Valeria Hizenski, mother of Detective Joseph Hizenski.

Triduum to Start Today to St. Anne

Special Mass and Other Services to Be Held at St. Aloysius.

A triduum to St. Anne will be held in St. Aloysius Church, North Capitol and I streets, today, tomorrow and Monday, with a special triduum mass each day at 7 a. m. and the evening services consisting of prayers to St. Anne, short instruction, benediction of the most Blessed Sacrament and blessing with a relic of St. Anne will be held at 7:30 a. m.

TALIAFERRO HEADS CHEST COMMITTEE

Sidney P. Taliaferro, former Commissioner of the District of Columbia and now trust officer of the Riggs National Bank, has accepted the chairmanship of the Community Chest endowment committee, E. C. Graham, president of the Chest, announced yesterday. Mr. Taliaferro has taken an active interest in the Community Chest since its beginning and last year was chairman of the schools unit.

The endowment committee has two functions, Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest, pointed out yesterday. The first is to study the problem faced by generous and civic-minded citizens who wish, over and above their annual gifts to the current budgets of social and educational work to make a substantial contribution in more permanent form to the welfare of their community; to determine which of the available methods can be best used in Washington to guarantee both the security and the wise use of funds left for specific purposes, and to set up for potential contributors the means of making such gifts with a minimum of technical difficulty.

The second is to secure the cooperation of the trust companies, banks doing trust business, lawyers, and others whose cooperation would be needed in making the plan set up by the endowment committee fully available to potential contributors. In addition to this the committee will endeavor to bring to the attention of such possible contributors the facilities thus made available and urge upon them the possibility of making substantial gifts of a permanent or semipermanent nature.

In the office of the Community Chest a considerable study of the whole field of endowments has been made, and it will be the responsibility of Mr. Taliaferro and the members of the endowment committee, appointed by him, to take the further steps looking toward the provision in Washington of the means by which those who wish to add to the social welfare or educational facilities of the Capital City may be enabled to do so with the fullest assurance that their wishes will be respected and the funds which they contribute will be safeguarded.

Michael Cook Speaks Tonight.

P. Michael Cook, general chairman of the committee on arrangements for the golden anniversary supreme convention of the Knights of Columbus to be held here August 14-18, inclusive, will speak about the convention over WMAL at 6:45 tonight. Mr. Cook is in entire charge of local arrangements for the convention, which will be featured by the unveiling of a statue of the late James Cardinal Gibbons.

HEAT WAVE CENTER MOVES EASTWARD

Midwest, Except Missouri Valley, Has Comfortable Temperatures.

(Associated Press.)

A measure of relief came yesterday to heat-stricken America, but it still was hot enough in several States to cause suffering, crop damage and deaths.

The center of the heat wave had moved Eastward, bringing temperatures of above 90 degrees to parts of North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Except for the Missouri Valley, the Midwest had comfortable weather. There was no let-up of withering heat in Kansas, although showers had cooled off the northern section of the State temporarily.

Salina, Kans., had a recording of 100; Wichita, 95, and Kansas City, Mo., 96. Oklahoma City had a high of 92 by midafternoon and the mercury continued to rise.

Scattered rains helped crops in Nebraska Thursday night, but it was hot again within 24 hours, Lincoln registering 98 degrees. It was 92 in Omaha, the eleventh day of unbroken heat.

At St. Paul, Minn., where a 22-year record had been equaled with ten consecutive days of 90 or above, the mercury dropped to a comfortable 82. Wisconsin's temperatures hovered near the 90-degree mark, but cooler weather was predicted for Saturday. It was 91 at Milwaukee, and six more deaths in the State raised the toll for the heat wave to fifteen.

Texas' report for Friday was "clear and hot, quite normal," in comparison with temperatures of around 100 for several days previous.

'Last Man' Drinks Toast With Water

Capt. Charles Lockwood Pays Tribute to Comrades at Bull Run.

Stillwater, Minn., July 22 (A.P.).—A toast—probably his last—to 33 fighting former comrades of Civil War days, men with whom he rallied around an old bottle of wine at dozens of annual reunions, was the tribute paid last night by the "last man" of the Last Man's Club.

The last man, Capt. Charles Lockwood, 89, was the only one to answer when he called the roll of the club organized 47 years ago with one object, that the last survivor should drink a toast in wine to the others when for the first time he should be alone.

Lockwood fulfilled that pledge two years ago with wine, but tonight he substituted water as he raised his glass and repeated a poem ending, "To my comrades all, good-by."

The Last Man's Club was organized on the anniversary of the first battle of Bull Run, in which members of the club, soldiers with Company B, First Minnesota Infantry, fought—and ran when Union forces were routed.

Kansan New President Of Lions' International

Los Angeles, July 22 (A.P.).—Charles H. Hattan, of Wichita, Kans., was elected president and St. Louis was chosen as the 1933 convention city as the International Association of Lions Clubs ended its 1932 conclave today.

Other officers elected are Roderick Beddow, of Birmingham, Ala., first vice president; Vincent Haskell, Omaha, Nebr., second vice president; R. J. Osenbaugh, Denver, third vice president. Melvin Jones, of Chicago, founder of the organization, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dictionary to Contain Words of Underworld

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—A "pineapple" is no longer merely a fruit, and a "racket" may be something besides an instrument for hitting balls.

The underworld's definitions of the two words have been formally admitted to good standing in a new dictionary.

Short-Clad Women Win Tennis Court Freedom

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh today granted an injunction restraining Irving Park commissioners from chasing women clad in "shorts" from the tennis courts.

Ruth Smutney, 18, and Mona Thome, 20, said park police were offended when they appeared on the courts in their abbreviated costumes and chased them off. They sought legal sanction for the dress.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, city health commissioner, was among those who testified benefit was to be derived wearing shorts to expose more of the body to health-giving rays of the sun.

"There is nothing immodest in these shorts. No one would look at these girls' legs twice these days. Twenty years ago they might be exciting, but times have changed," the judge said.

Maurice Chevalier Files Divorce Suit

His Music Halls Partner of Years Ago Is Charged With Desertion.

Paris, July 22 (A.P.).—Maurice Chevalier, who came back from Hollywood less than a month ago, filed suit for divorce today from Yvonne Vallee who used to be his partner in the music halls before he won fame in the movies.

Their friends said they were surprised, for the Chevaliers always seemed to be such a happy couple. They recalled, however, that Mme. Chevalier did not go with her husband on his last trip to America.

Chevalier charged desertion. With two attorneys he appeared at the palace of justice to file the petition himself. It was learned later that his wife had retained counsel and the boulevards expected a lively contest. Chevalier and his wife were popular in Paris long before America ever heard of him.

Beaufort, S. C., Begins 4-Day Business Holiday

Beaufort, S. C., July 22 (A.P.).—Mayor W. R. Bristol ordered a four-day business moratorium in Beaufort today and the town shut itself up and took a holiday. The mayor said he "padlocked the town to give the banks a chance to catch up."

As the order was issued, business establishments began closing their doors. Everything closed except groceries, filling stations and drug stores. The businesses which closed are to stay shut until Monday.

San Diego City Manager Dismissed as Costs Rise

San Diego, Calif., July 22 (A.P.).—Horace Hovey Esselstyn, former Detroit consulting engineer who served 45 days as San Diego's first city manager and then was suspended, was dismissed formally today by a 4-to-3 vote of the city council. A. V. Goeddel was named to succeed him.

The council members who voted to oust Esselstyn charged he had proved himself incapable to serve as budget officer by recommending an increase in city xpenditures after promising to reduce the budget by $300,000.

NEW PRIZE OFFERED FOR CANNING RECIPE

$1 Will Be Given for Best Derived From Another Generation.

What is the average homemaker doing about preserving the fruits and vegetables of today for the need of tomorrow?

In this era of depression when savings are essential it is a splendid thing to take advantage of the low costs of vegetables and fruits in our markets and can and preserve them for winter use.

In doing this the modern woman is following the good example of her grandmother and great-grandmother. These keen-eyed pioneers let nothing go to waste in their kitchen, gardens and orchards. Therefore, their families knew the delights of summer all the year around.

If the homemakers who read this page in The Washington Post regularly every Saturday have any pet recipe for canning or preserving which has come down to them from another generation send it in. The best one received will be given a special prize of $1. The only condition is that the ingredients used must be credited to some store which advertises on this page weekly. Pick your favorite store and recipe and win a vacation dollar.

Winners this week were:

PUMPKIN PIE FILLING.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

1 heaping cup pumpkin (Sanitary)
1 cup of sugar, mix sugar with 1 heaping tablespoon flour, Washington; then add to the pumpkin;
1 tablespoon molasses
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice (scant)
1 teaspoon ginger (scant)
Add yolk of 1 egg to mixture; now add 1½ cups scalded milk; ½ teaspoon vanilla, and lastly add the well-beaten white of egg. Splendid.

MRS. O. J. SCHUSTER.
1011 E street northwest.

Market Meanderings

By MILDRED REED BUNDY

Steaks, Chops and Poultry Discussed as Seen in Capital Markets; Berries Offered at Attractive Prices; Real Fresh Peach Ice Cream Met.

Cool currents of air greet customers as they step into the door of one of the oldest, if not the oldest market in Washington. The housewife does well these torrid days to drop into this exceptionally well-ventilated shop on Connecticut avenue near Dupont Circle, to cool herself and to take advantage of the 55 years of experience in food selling which forms the local background of this shop. Honey dew melons, cantaloupes, freestone peaches from Florida, and June apples were among the most appealing of the offerings in this big, white-painted, cool market.

"Prices this fall will be higher than the prices you see now, in my opinion," the manager in charge of this Connecticut avenue market prophesied. "Dealers in food everywhere are expecting a slow rise in prices."

Steaks, chops and poultry are by far the most popular meat cuts for summer use, declared the meat department head at this market. Of course, importance of steaks and chops in summer lies in their suitability for quick cooking, the marketer said. The appeal of poultry for Sunday dinners, for picnics, and for other special occasions is strengthened by its low cost, the lowest for many years.

So dependable is the meat from this old, established market that many of the cuts used for testing in various ways by the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, are chosen there.

The Meanderer spent much time this week exploring summer meats with an eye to what would interest the Washington housewife. After visiting the market near Dupont Circle, she proceeded to a big market out Fourteenth street northwest, which, it seems to the Meanderer, is a family market, as are all markets to some extent, in that they naturally serve families with food. But nowhere does one find so many children accompanying their mothers on the food-buying expeditions as there are in this open market located in the heart of one of the most thickly settled and desirable residence districts.

Children seem at times to be leading their mothers to the destined market stand; they are heard urging their mothers to buy this or that food; they are greeted familiarly by the marketers as though their coming was a regular thing. Truly, the little girls in their wisps of summer frocks, the little boys in their sturdier, no less attractive summer togs, and the captivating babies wearing almost nothing as they are wheeled about with mother for food shopping, are a decided ornament to the scene.

As meats, not children, were to be the subject for the moment, let's mention corned beef. That doesn't sound delicate. It doesn't have summer appeal, many will think. But a dealer in one of the highest class meat markets that Washington boasts, declared that corned beef is in popular demand all summer. In three corners of the big, attractive, well-refrigerated show case the Meanderer noticed corned beef. Two of the exhibits were of corned beef prepared for cooking, and the other of corned beef ready to eat. In the ready-to-cook corned beef there are several cuts included in the rolled and tied, salty meat.

One can have the prime ribs, boned and rolled, for his corned beef choice, or the lean, large bullion roast corned, or the cheaper cuts, such as brisket or plate beef. From 15 cents to 35 cents a pound, according to cut, corned beef fits into any food budget.

After thorough cooking, then thorough cooling, the rolls of corned beef are worthy of the popular demand for summer. The Meanderer proved this to herself by choosing a 3-pound corned brisket well trimmed, at 25 cents a pound, cooking it thoroughly as the marketer suggested. The three pounds of corned beef were sufficient for two well-received family meals and for numerous picnic sandwiches. Figure the cost for yourself, Mrs. Housewife.

Perhaps it was unusually easy to linger at the market where the Meanderer discovered corned beef's importance. One reason was that part of the lingering was done in the shop's enormous ice box. That was "somepin" on the hot day, one of the hottest on which meanderings have been taken. For the ice box visit an accommodating marketer persuaded the Meanderer, with difficulty, to put on a woolly sweater belonging to one of the butchers. And the roomful of air cooled down to somewhere in the thirties does call for a sweater in July, or December. Here were choice, big, reserve cuts of meat of all kinds, bearing important stamps of quality. Here were the barrels of meat in the process of "corning."

It requires ten days for corned beef to cure, the marketer explained. After the ten days' curing the meat will keep indefinitely. From the quantity of meat on hand in the ice box, from the brisk, frequent selections from its stores, and the incessant customers and telephone calls in the market stand, it seemed that here was one of the centers of Washington. Six salesmen are necessary in this stand, and six telephones are also provided. The busy signal is never given on the telephone lines of this market. Automatically, if one telephone is busy, the ring goes to the next. That, to the telephone customer, is important, of course.

Three large glasses of jelly for 25 cents will serve to divert the subject from meat. This jelly value the Meanderer found in a big chain store across from Dupont Circle. There, too, were fresh raspberries and blackberries, two or three kinds of cherries and fresh plums and pears at attractively low prices. Fresh mint, for 10 cents a bunch, is nearly always available at this store.

Fresh peach ice cream, made with real cream, is a headliner on the menu card at one ice cream and confectioner's shop near the big family market. Coffee ice cream and cherry bisque flavored with rum are other frozen ways of dispelling heat, the shop suggests.

Inquiries about items in this column will be answered at The Washington Post, telephone National 4205, extension telephone 52, or by writing to Mildred Reed Bundy, The Washington Post, and inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

RECIPE FOR WINTER SALAD WINS AWARD

Mrs. O'Connell's Formula Tells How to Preserve Mixed Fruit.

A summer salad for winter is the theme of the recipe which was the winner of this week's $5 award.

Mrs. J. L. O'Connell, of 934 I street northwest, submitted the recipe and method for making "canned fruit salad."

Her formula provides a way of preserving a delicious mixed fruit salad for use when desired.

To be eligible for The Post's weekly recipe awards, all formulas which are submitted must use one or more products advertised on the Saturday Food Page. Mrs. O'Connell's recipe follows:

Ingredients from Sanitary Grocery.
1 peck mellow pears
4 cups sugar
2 large-sized cans sliced pineapples
1 large can cherries
Sirup of pineapple and cherries
1 peck firm peaches or 4 quarts canned peaches
8 cups water

Peel and dice pears and peaches as you would potatoes for salad. Have sirup made of the sugar and boiling water. Add pears and peaches and cook until tender. Add pineapple, cherries and sirup from both and let all come to a brisk boil. Can in pint jars and seal airtight. This makes a fine salad for winter served with either whipped cream and nuts and topped with cherries or served on lettuce with cream or mayonnaise dressings or congealed with lemon gelatine. If canned peaches are used add with the pineapple and cherries.

UNCLE SAM AND THE HOMEMAKER

By PATTIE ELLICOTT

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

With the reassuring news that many American homes are to be saved through recent legislation, and in these days when some members of the family have more surplus time than cash, it is a good idea to check over the condition of the home, make minor repairs that call for little or no outlay and map out a long-time plan for improvements that can be started when times get better.

Much can be accomplished by an orderly way of going over what is needed, advise Uncle Sam's experts. List the different jobs to be done, make a well-thought-out plan that can be followed over a period of years—a "five-year plan," if you like—or one for any other period. Improvements can then be distributed according to income, and definite parts of the program assigned to those who can carry them out.

Many smaller changes and repairs that require but little expenditure can be listed and taken care of. Start by inspecting the roof, says an engineer of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Are there any missing or broken shingles or slates? Are the metal flashings around the chimney and the other angles of the roof water tight? Do they need painting? Look at the chimney to see if there are any loose bricks and look at the joints to see whether the mortar needs repointing. See that gutters and downspouts are fastened securely in place and have no opened seams. Clean out leaves and trash. Next look at the sides of the house—its siding or shingles, and the windows and doors. Repair broken panes, window cords, dried out putty, sagging doors, worn-out screens. Look for rotten boards in the floor and steps, especially on porches.

Inside the house every housewife can think of things she would like repaired or changed—shelves put up, hooks, closet poles, extra closet space, partitions put in or taken out, painting or papering, more outlets for electric lights, tables and other working surfaces raised to the right height, furniture done over, and so on.

The fact that a woman notices what needs doing as she goes about her home does not make these jobs personal favors a man does for his wife or mother. They are a normal necessity to maintain a home in good repair and convenient to live in. Doing them keeps up property values or actually adds to them.

Among some interesting new recipes put out by the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture are the following:

Prune Jam.

2 cups prunes
1½ pints water
2 oranges
1 lemon
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Soak the prunes overnight in the water. Cook them for ten minutes in the water in which they soaked, drain, and cut into small pieces. Slice the oranges and lemon, including the peeling, very thin and cook rapidly in the prune juice for fifteen minutes. Add the prune pulp, the sugar and salt, and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Seal in hot, sterile jars.

Apricot and Prune Conserve.

½ pound apricots
½ pound prunes
1 cup sugar
4 cups water

Wash the prunes and apricots thoroughly and put them in the water to soak overnight. Cook the fruit together for ten minutes, add the sugar and simmer until the juice is fairly rich. Pour into hot, clean jelly glasses, seal and store in a cool place.

Grape Conserve.

3 pounds Concord grapes
2 pounds sugar
1 cup nut meats (English walnuts or pecans, chopped)
1 cup seeded raisins
1 orange cut fine

Skin the grapes, stew them, run them through a sieve, and add this pulp to the skins. Then add the other ingredients and cook until the mixture is thick. Grape conserve is likely to stick to the kettle unless it is watched closely. An asbestos mat will keep the conserve from sticking. Pour into hot, clean jelly glasses, cover when cold with melted paraffin, and store in a cool place.

OUR DAILY FOOD

By COLONEL GOODBODY

SUMMER DESSERT FOR CHILDREN.

MARY SCHWARTZ ROSE, professor of nutrition at Columbia University, says: "Cold desserts of gelatin, cornstarch, tapioca or frozen custard or fruit juices are not only easy of digestion, but refreshing."

I thought that might be of interest to mothers who wonder whether fruit ices and sherbets and ice creams are suitable for serving to their children. They are.

Nutritionists never advise meals that are entirely cold—one hot dish—I believe they say—should be included in every menu, no matter how warm the weather is. But a luncheon of sandwiches and a cold fruit drink or dessert will be healthful for a child if it begins with a cup of consomme or a bowl of soup.

It would be a terrible day for children if the nutritionists suddenly went back on ice cream and fruit ices and sherbets and so on.

That would be the day "when a feller needs a friend." But there's no chance of it while ice creams are made of nourishing eggs and creams and fruit flavorings.

One nice thing about desserts, mothers don't have to think up ways to get their children to eat this course. Imagine the child that would turn down orange ice, or lemon snow with a strawberry sauce, or raspberry sherbet, or cool chocolate pudding, or fresh fruit molded in shimmering lime gelatin.

The cereal puddings, such as Indian pudding and hot souffles, brown Bettys and so on are not as refreshing as the other desserts I've named. They are heavy for summer for one thing, and then they're usually served hot, which doesn't make them popular in June and July, or August.

The desserts that are hurried from the icebox to the table are the thing. I think a cold chocolate malted milk makes a good lunch dessert, served with simple cookies. These drinks are mostly milk, but children like them as well as sodas, if they can be imbibed with a straw.

Or a fresh fruit drink—lemonade with some cut strawberries in it perhaps, and a stick of fresh pineapple—that's a cool ending to a lunch on the porch, a fruit beverage with a cooky or plain cup cake.

But here's something I want to call to the attention of mothers.

All these summertime desserts can be made up at least a day in advance of when they're served. If they are gelatin desserts they need to be in the icebox for several hours. Now a good way to save time in the daily meal preparation is to make up several of these desserts at one time.

For instance, you can prepare, on Monday morning, a lime-flavored gelatin, with several kinds of fresh fruit in it for that day's dinner; an arrowroot dessert, for lunch or supper, and perhaps a tapioca or rice pudding for the next day.

Different fresh fruit sauces can be served with the various desserts—whatever's good value in your store, crushed strawberries or raspberries maybe, or crushed fresh pineapple sauce, or sliced peaches a little later in the summer.

WINCHESTER DRIVER WINS GASOLINE CASE

However, Another Is Guilty of Illegal Importation in Arlington County.

Earl Spiker, of Winchester, Va., charged with importing gasoline into the State in violation of the gasoline tax law enacted at the last session of the General Assembly, was found not guilty by Judge B. M. Hedrick of Arlington County yesterday.

It was charged that in addition to the tank on the truck which he was driving there were auxiliary tanks containing gasoline, which was claimed by the Commonwealth as a direct violation.

Counsel for the defendant showed the court that the tanks were properly connected with the motor and were thereby a part of the equipment. The cargo capacity of the truck was 5 tons, with 28 gallons of gasoline for use of the motor.

An appeal was noted by the Commonwealth.

O. H. Lamont, held on a similar charge, was fined $34.25, including cost. In this case the capacity of the machine was 1½ tons, carrying 60 gallons of gasoline. It developed that the auxiliary tanks carried were not attached to the motor.

An appeal by the defendant was noted.

The law reads that: "Any person importing, or causing to be imported, into the State, for their own use, such motor fuel in any container other than the usual tank or receptacle connected with the engine of the motor vehicle in the operation of which the motor fuel is to be consumed will be violating the law."

4 Murder Suspects Jailed for Safety

Robbery of Aged Man Is Charged as Motive in Slaying.

Richmond, Va., July 22 (A.P.).—Four white men, suspected of the murder of an aged Negro man, were brought here today from Amelia County "for safe keeping" by the county Commonwealth's attorney, George K. Taylor, who said he would lodge murder charges against them when he returned to the county tonight.

Blanton Wills, 22, and Charlie Elliott, 30, were placed in the Richmond City Jail, and the other two, J. B. Snow, 39, and Kenneth Tinsley, 24, were put in Henrico County Jail. They were suspected of the death of James Turner, 60, a respected Negro, who was found dead on the morning of July 13, about twelve hours after having been shot. He lived near Amelia. Reports from the county today said feeling was running high against the slayers.

Turner was believed to have been robbed of about $1,000. No money was found in his house. Mr. Taylor said the next term of the county court grand jury was not until September. A date for the preliminary hearing was not immediately set.

Devotion of Wife Clears 2 in Court

Upper Marlboro Judge Is Impressed in Traffic Law Violation.

Charges of driving without a license against Mrs. Mildred Floyd, 3014 Ninth street southwest, were dismissed yesterday by Judge J. Chew Sheriff in Upper Marlboro. Charges of permitting her to drive without a license, placed against her husband, Joseph Floyd, also were dismissed.

When State Policeman H. S. Eckhard told the judge that the young woman had her arm around the man who was with her, Mrs. Floyd informed the judge it was her husband. "How long have you been married?" asked the judge.

"Two years."

"Well, we can't find it in our heart to be hard on a wife who still puts her arm around her husband after two years of married life," the judge smilingly said.

Ira B. Major, of 222 Seventeenth street northeast, failed to answer to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and his collateral of $103 was ordered forfeited.

Takoma Man Arrested On Bad-Check Charge

Charles A. Immick, 24 years old, of 520 Lincoln avenue, Takoma Park, Md., has been arrested by Town Policeman Earl Thomas and County Policeman Joseph B. Nolte, of the Takoma substation, on warrants sworn out by Mrs. Molin M. Sams, 3133 Connecticut avenue, alleging passage of bad checks.

Immick is alleged to have gone to a hardware store in Takoma Park operated by Mrs. Sams and given a check for twice the amount of a purchase made at the store.

Head of Army Nurses To Speak in Arlington

Maj. Julia C. Stimson, U. S. A., in charge of nurses, is announced as the speaker at the breakfast meeting of the Arlington County Business and Professional Woman's Club tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the Arlington County Experiment Farm, with Mrs. Edna Butterfield as the hostess.

Arrangements are being made by the health committee of the organization.

Trap-Shooters to Meet Today in Montgomery

The first trap shoot of the newly organized Montgomery County Skeet Club will be held today at 2:30 o'clock just off the East-West highway between Rock Creek and Silver Spring.

The club was organized at Chevy Chase with 75 members. Andrew J. ("Cy") Cummings is president, Thomas W. Perry is vice president, and Lieut. Lawrence Williams, secretary-treasurer.

Vansville Farmers Meet Tonight.

A meeting of the Vansville Farmers Club will be held tonight at the Lightbown Hotel, Beltsville, Md. The club will be entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. William P. Magruder, of Hyattsville.

Walker Asks Workers To Take Month Leave

New York, July 22 (U.P.).—Mayor James J. Walker tonight called upon the 147,000 employes of the City of New York to take a voluntary one-month vacation in 1933, without pay, to effect a saving of between $26,000,000 and $27,000,000.

In a radio speech directed to the city workers, Walker pointed out that 56,000 men and women are not protected by any mandatory legislation, and that should the board of estimate be forced to cut salaries or eliminate positions, the hardship would fall on this class—the lowest paid type of employe.

Department heads will take a poll next week, he said, to determine those who are "willing to help out and prevent the city from going bankrupt as other large cities have done—and to find out those who don't care about their fellow employes."

GRANGE TO CONDUCT FORESTVILLE'S FETE

Community Day Program Today Will Include Dances and Games.

The annual Forestville Community Day, given each year under the auspices of the Great Falls Grange, will be held today at Forestville, Va., on the Georgetown-Leesburg road. The proceeds will be used to help meet the indebtedness on the grange hall and other community purposes.

The committee on general arrangements includes Mark Turner, O. K. Miller and Marvin Sanders. Mrs. C. A. Pirkey, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Sanders, Mrs. A. C. Speight and J. R. Shroy, will have charge of the dinner and refreshments; Will Tavenner and P. E. Boode, watermelons and soft drinks; John W. Preston, games; Marvin Sanders, aluminum ware; O. K. Miller and Claude Jenkins, sports; A. G. Schmidz, ice cream, and Miss Elizabeth Guilford, furniture and radio.

Today's program will open this morning at 11 o'clock with a baseball game between teams from Vienna and Forestville. An orchestra concert will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, lasting until dancing begins, when three pieces will play for old fashioned square dancing, in the open air pavilion, and the other five pieces will play for round dancing in the grange hall.

A tug-of-war will be held at 4:30 between teams from Vienna and McLean, as Forestville is offering a silver cup to the winner. A radio and several pieces of furniture will be given away before the celebration closes.

Man Held After Refusing Dry Agents Water Pail

Wallace Clark, colored, of near La Plata, Md., was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner J. Frank Parran yesterday at Upper Marlboro, Md., on charges of interfering with Federal officers in the performance of their duty. Clark was held for action of the Federal courts on bond of $500.

Clark remonstrated with three dry agents when they started to take a water pail from him to fill their automobile tank. He said they attacked and beat him. The agents said that Clark attacked them. Clark has filed charges against the three agents at La Plata, charging them with assault.

G.O.P. of Arlington To Pick Delegates

Committee Sets August 5 for Mass Meetings in 11 Voting Precincts.

Meeting last night in the Spaulding Building, Clarendon, the Arlington County Republican committee set August 5 the date for mass meetings in the eleven voting precincts for the selection of delegates to the county convention. The county convention will be held in the Lyon Park Community House the evening of August 8. There will be a total of 144 delegates selected.

J. E. Spaulding announcing that he will not be a candidate for reelection as county chairman, L. C. MacPherson is being strongly backed for the office.

Chairman Spaulding announced that the Eighth Congressional District convention will be held in Clarendon, Monday, August 22. At the county convention there will be 36 delegates selected to attend.

The boys will go by motor and camp at various places, and all desiring to make the trip are asked to communicate with the Rev. Mr. Lineweaver, 910 Prince street.

Davenport Better After Operation

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, July 22.—The condition of Dr. D. E. Davenport, assistant medical director of the Washington Sanitarium, who underwent a serious brain operation in Johns Hopkins Hospital yesterday, was described last night as "good." Physicians said Dr. Davenport was "doing nicely" after a tumor was removed from the brain.

Dr. Davenport is a graduate of the College of Medical Evangelist, Loma Linda, Calif. He served for several years in China as a medical missionary for the Seventh Day Adventists. He has been at the Takoma Park institution for some time.

Dr. Davenport was confined to bed at the sanitarium several weeks before he was taken to Johns Hopkins. He is married and has five children.

ALEXANDRIA LEGION ACCEPTS FETE PLAN

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
Phone Alexandria 523.

At a special meeting of Alexandria Post No. 24, American Legion, last night, the question of holding the commander's banquet during the State convention in Alexandria July 31-August 3, in the Lee-Jackson High School was discussed, but it was finally decided to uphold the action of the banquet committee which decided upon this location.

C. W. Hanger, commander of the Arlington Post, and Stuart F. Thompson, chairman of the Arlington convention committee, attended the meeting and told of plans of that post for the entertainment of the visitors. They have arranged for an automobile tour, starting at the George Mason Hotel at 2 p. m., August 3, visiting the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery, then going to Clarendon, where refreshments will be served.

The matter of additional police protection during the convention was referred to the chairman of the provost guard committee, with instructions to confer with the local fire department and endeavor to arrange with the firemen to assist in police work during the legion convention, in return for which the legion men would assist the firemen in their convention the following week.

Arrangements have been almost completed for a boxing contest in Portner's arena Tuesday night, August 2, for the benefit of the convention fund, and under the auspices of the legion athletic club.

It is understood that Richmond, Radford and Bristol, and possibly other cities, will bid for the 1933 convention. Mayor J. Fulmer Bright, of Richmond, who is a World War veteran, will attend the convention and present the bid of that city, which is indorsed by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce and the advertising committee of the Richmond city council.

The Harvey-Howe Post of Radford, with the support of the business and professional men of that city, will campaign for next year's convention, the Radford legionnaires pointing out that only once heretofore has Southwestern Virginia been given an opportunity to entertain the convention. The Pulaski and Christiansburg posts are understood to have pledged their aid to the Radford post in acting as hosts if the convention goes there.

The James C. Brewer Post, of Bristol, has the formal indorsement of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce in its fight to secure the convention, and it is expected the chamber of commerce will send a representative to Alexandria to press Bristol's claim.

Daughter Explains Fund Withdrawal

Brentwood Woman Says Father's Money Taken Out for Protection.

Answer to the suit of Charles K. Rocker, of Brentwood, Md., who alleged that his daughter had withdrawn funds from a joint bank account, was filed yesterday by the daughter, Mrs. Carrie I. Crawford, of Brentwood, in circuit court at Upper Marlboro, Md.

Mrs. Crawford alleged that the withdrawal was for the protection of her father and stated that it had been made only after consultation with counsel.

Rocker declared that the daughetr had withdrawn $2,000 from the account without his authorization. The daughter replied that the money was placed in safekeeping and that she withdrew it for "protection of her father due to his threatened indiscretions while in an intoxicated condition." She is represented by Attorney J. Frank Lillard.

Democrats of Arlington Told to Organize Early

Speaking at the meeting of the Arlington County Democratic Club in Clarendon last night, County Chairman William L. Bragg declared "it is never too early to organize for a campaign; many an election is won in July."

"I am much gratified at the rapid progress that this club has made and with the cooperation I know the county committee will have we shall carry Arlington County in November," he said. "God knows we can not make conditions worse than they are now and I am satisfied that we can make them 100 per cent better with the election of our ticket."

$10,000 Verdict Asked In Bethesda Auto Crash

Suit for $10,000 damages, alleging personal injuries as the result of an automobile accident, was filed in Montgomery County Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Lenore Oldfield, of Bethesda, against Harold Cook, of Brighton, Md. Mrs. Oldfield is represented by Attorneys Charles C. Collins, of Washington, and Robert B. Peter, jr., of Rockville.

Mrs. Oldfield alleges that Cook's car struck a car operated by her husband, Benjamin Oldfield, January 30, at Old Georgetown road and Cedar lane, Bethesda, causing her to suffer injuries of a painful and permanent nature.

8 Alexandria Merchants Ask Checks Explanation

A man giving the name of A. E. Gates was in Alexandria police court yesterday morning on complaint of eight merchants asking an explanation of checks given by him on a Washington trust company. Gates asked a continuance until today to get in touch, he said, with a certain man whom he alleges authorized him to sign the checks.

Among those appearing in police court were Joseph Hayman, who cashed a check for $16.50; M. B. Shiflett, $5; L. C. Penn, $10; A. M. Remschel, $1.65; J. T. Bowman, $3; Bradshaw's, $3.95.

Takoma Park Wages Traffic Drive.

Takoma Park, Md., police are waging a campaign against traffic violators. Warning slips have been presented to nearly 100 motorists parked without lights or running without the full set of lights. Arrests will be made in such cases. About fifteen speeders have been arrested and forced to deposit collateral so far in the campaign.

FOUR SERVICES SET FOR MT. ST. ALBAN

Four religious services and two group pilgrimages will be held at Washington Cathedral tomorrow for the benefit of Washingtonians who have not yet gone on vacation, and visitors to the Capital.

The Holy Communion will be celebrated in the Bethlehem Chapel at 7:30 o'clock followed by the reading of morning prayer and the litany at 10 o'clock in this same chapel. After 10:30 o'clock all three crypt chapels will be open for quiet pilgrimage and meditation, the Chapel of the Resurrection under the south transept being reserved for private devotion.

The Right Rev. H. Almon Abbott, D. D., Bishop of Lexington, Ky., will deliver the sermon at the celebration of the Holy Communion in the great choir and sanctuary at 11 o'clock and will preach again at the people's evensong service at 4 o'clock. The Bishop of Washington has arranged for Bishop Abbott to be special summer preacher at the cathedral for the remaining Sundays in July and the first two Sundays in August. He has been interested in the enterprise on Mount St. Alban for many years and was present on May 5 when the great choir and sanctuary were opened for the beginning of public worship.

The cathedral choir of men and boys, under the direction of Edgar Priest, will furnish music at the 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. services. The evensong service will be broadcast as usual over Radio Station WMAL.

Immediately following the two services in the great choir there will be group pilgrimages through that portion of the cathedral, the crypt chapels, the temporary baptistery, containing the Jordon font, and other points of interest. Those interested in joining these pilgrimages are requested to meet Canon John W. Gummere in the Chapel of St. John in the south choir aisle at 12:30 p. m. and 5 p. m. Because of the great thickness of the walls the temperature in the choir and crypt of the cathedral is invariably 10 to 15 degrees below the reading of the official Weather Bureau thermometer in midsummer.

The Rev. Ernest E. Youtz, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will speak tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at First Congregational Church. Mr. Youtz is the associate minister of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church in Brooklyn, which is one of the largest Congregational churches in the world. His subject tomorrow morning will be "When Christianity Comes Alive."

The regular church night supper will be held on Thursday at 6 o'clock. This will be the last supper until September 1. The prayer meeting will be held on Thursday at 6:45 p. m. in the Sunday School room. Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen will speak on "How Can We Know God?" Dr. Bowen is one of the outstanding physicians in Washington.

On account of illness Dr. Walter A. Morgan was unable to come to Washington to supply the pulpit of First Church. Dr. Robert Wood Coe, former assistant minister of First Congregational Church, Washington, will preach next Sunday.

Oxford Movement Celebration Is Urged

The Right Rev. George Craig Stewart, Bishop of Chicago, has written to the Rev. Robert Shores, president of the Anglo-Catholic Club in the Diocese of Washington, requesting that the local organization cooperate with the Rev. W. B. Stoskopf in arranging for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Oxford Movement.

The executive committee of the Anglo-Catholic Club of Washington consist of the president, the vice president, the Rev. Charles R. Barnes; Paul G. Burton, secretary and treasurer, and Dr. C. Ernest Smith, of St. Thomas' Church; the Rev. Alan Parsons Ascension Church; Dr George W. Atkinson, St. James' Church; and the Rev. Calvert E. Buck, superintendent of the Episcopal Hospital.

Petworth Methodists To Hear About Angels

The service of morning worship will be held at Petworth Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow at 11 a. m., with the Rev. Robert Louis Wood preaching. His subject will be "Angels, Fears and Hornets."

The one hour service will be held tomorrow evening from 7:30 to 8:30. The Epworth League, Frederick Church, president, will have charge of the first half hour, and will include a song service, led by Charles Buchanan. An address will be given by some member of the league. The minister will conclude the service with a brief sermon on "Modern Invalids" or "The Man With the Withered Hand," based on the miracle by which Christ healed the withered hand on the Sabbath.

Young People to Report On Conference's Work

At the Central Presbyterian Church the pastor, Dr. James H. Taylor, will preach tomorrow morning on the theme, "The Impossibility of a Divided Allegiance."

Tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock reports will be given by the young people who attended the conference at Massanetta, Va., during the past week. The work will be reported by the following: Morning devotionals and vesper services, Herbert Allison; history and doctrine of the church, Margaret McPheeters; foreign missions, Laurence Sherfy; Bible study by class, Winifred Gary; hymnology, Clyde DuBose; religious life of young people, Helen Williamson; social and recreational leadership, Rachel Miller; personal evangelism, Mary Poole Shannon; open conference, Raphael Sherfy; athletics, Peggy Keyser; inspirational services, Donald Prince.

Rev. Ray Palmer Back After Western Trip

The Rev. Ray Palmer has returned to Washington after a preaching tour in California and Oregon. While in Portland he preached in two of the largest Baptist churches in that city, White Temple and Hinson Memorial Baptist Church. In the latter church, Dr. Palmer served for five years as pastor.

Dr. and Mrs. Palmer are now at their home at 18 East Bradley Lane, Chevy Chase.

Rev. S. Carroll Coale's Sermon.

"Borrowed Religion" will be the Rev. S. Carroll Coale's morning topic at Brightwood Park Methodist Church tomorrow. "Pursuing an Ideal" will be the subject at the happy twilight service at 8 p. m. "The Palace of Beautiful Deeds" will be the title of the children's story at the morning service.

Christian Science Churches

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all the Churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow. The Golden Text is from Isaiah 65:16: "He who blessed himself in the earth shall bless himself in the God of Truth; and he that sweareth in the earth shall swear by the God of truth." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be thou exalted, Lord, in thine own strength: so will we sing and praise thy power" (Psalms 21:13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Text Book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If thought is startled at the strong claim of Science for the supremacy of God, or Truth, and doubts the supremacy of good, ought we not, contrariwise, to be astounded at the vigorous claims of evil and doubt them, and no longer think it natural to love sin and unnatural to forsake it, no longer imagine evil to be ever-present and good absent? Truth should not seem so surprising and unnatural as error, and error should not seem so real as truth." (Page 130.)

Harmon Sermon On "Conversions"

Program for Tomorrow at National City Christian Announced.

"Conversions Imperative" will be the subject of Dr. H. H. Harmon's morning sermon tomorrow at the National City Christian Church. Mrs. B. D. Shreve and J. Horace Smithey will sing a dust.

Emily Harrold Withers will be the soloist at the evening bells service at 7:45 o'clock, singing "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," by Handel, and "Thou Wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace," by Oley Speaks. Numbers on the tower chimes and the organ, played by Robert Ruckman, will complete the program.

Harold Aitken will lead the meeting of Le Rendezvous tomorrow evening at 6:45 o'clock. A travel program will take the group to central Europe, with particular emphasis upon the country of Martin Luther and the influence of his life and work upon modern civilization.

'Table Talks' Topic In Epiphany Pulpit

Rev. Alvin Wills Preaches on Series During July Services.

The Rev. Alvin Lamar Willis is preaching a series of sermons at the Church of the Epiphany at the 11 o'clock service during July on "Table Talks of Jesus." Tomorrow his subject will be: "Jesus at the Table in Another Pharisee's House—the Response of the Moral Outcast to Jesus' Challenge."

On July 31, the series closes with: "Jesus at Table in the House of Mary, Martha and Lazarus—The Response of the Genuinely Religious to Jesus' Challenge."

Leading up to this climax, the three earlier sermons dealt with: "Jesus at Table in St. Mark's House," when the personal example was expressed; "Jesus at Table in St. Matthew's House," when His interpretation and mission were shown, and "Jesus at Table in a Pharisee's House," when the spiritual indifference of the morally respectable is demonstrated.

Rock Creek Episcopal Service for Tomorrow

The services tomorrow at Rock Creek Episcopal Church, Rock Creek Church road at Webster street, include celebration of Holy Communion at 8:30 a. m. and morning prayer at 11 a. m., with sermon by the Rev. Dr. Cochran to Direct Union Service in Mt. Pleasant Church Tomorrow.

At the first of four union summer services in the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church tomorrow morning, in which the All Souls' Unitarian, National Memorial Universalist and Mount Pleasant churches are cooperating, the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Joseph Wilson Cochran, minister of the American (interdenominational) Church, in Paris, France. The subject will be "Religion's Paradox."

Dr. Cochran has been in charge of the Paris church for nine years. Previous to going to the French capital he was minister at the Northminster Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, and also served as pastorate in Detroit. He has been general secretary of the board of education of the Presbyterian Church North.

Recently he dedicated a new million-dollar building for the Paris church, the fund having been contributed by Americans living in the French capital. While he is in Washington, Dr. Cochran will be the guest of Dr. Charles Wood, formerly minister of the Church of the Covenant.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, minister of Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, will be the guest preacher tomorrow morning at the Central Congregational Church, Worcester, Mass.

Chevy Chase Union Services at Night

Rev. E. O. Clark to Preach; Dr. Henry W. Snyder to Preside.

At the Chevy Chase Baptist Church tomorrow morning at the 11 o'clock srevice the pastor, the Rev. Edward O. Clark, will have for his theme, "Hold Fast." A story sermon will be given to the junior congregation.

The church unites with other Protestant churches of the community in the union service at 7 o'clock on the lawn of the All Saints Episcopal Church. The Rev. Mr. Clark will preach. Dr. Henry W. Snyder will preside.

At the Thursday evening devotional service the subject will be, "Psalm 42." The quarterly business meeting will take place following the service. The Sunday school continues its sessions at 9:45 a. m. throughout the summer.

Full Gospel Tabernacle To Observe Communion

The Rev. Harry L. Collier, the pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, will preach at 11 a. m. on "Putting On the New Man," when Communion will be administered. He will speak at the evangelistic service at 7:30 p. m. on "Signs of Christ's Coming." A special musical program will be given.

Services for the week are: Prayer, Tuesday, 1 p. m., and Friday, 7:45 p. m.; Pentecostal healing service Wednesday, 7:45 p. m.; choir Friday, 7:45 p. m., and Tabernacle Band Saturday, 7:45 p. m.

Dr. Smith Will Preach On Humility Tomorrow

Dr. Herbert Scott Smith, rector of St. Margaret's Church, tomorrow will continue his series of sermons on "The Marks of the Lord Jesus," his subject for the day being, "Humility."

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:30 a. m. There will also be a celebration of Holy Communion at 11:00 a. m. on Monday, St. James Day, and on Thursday at the same hour.

THE HOME LOAN BANKS.

With a great deal of satisfaction, President Hoover signed the home loan bank bill, creating a new financial set-up to aid home owners. It is a measure that helps to lighten the burdens of American families.

The home loan bank act will perform much the same service for people trying to acquire or save a home as the Federal Reserve system performs for business. President Hoover points out that it will not involve the Government in business, but will merely use the good offices of the Government to stimulate cooperative action among home-financing institutions.

Aid to the unemployed through this agency may be considerable. In some localities there is an immediate demand for construction of new homes, which remains unsatisfied only because of inadequate financing. Thousands of mortgaged homes will probably be saved to their owners, because building and loan associations, savings banks and insurance companies will be able to discount such mortgages at the new home loan banks.

The feature of the act which seemed to threaten inflation proves to be innocuous. Treasury officials informed the President that the Glass-Borah amendment, allowing the conversion of Government bonds into currency, would not result in inflation. The Comptroller of the Currency branded it as a "backward step in currency and banking legislation", but it will not result in any serious damage before it is repealed. After the inflation amendment has been forgotten, the home loan banks will remain to buttress the position of the home owner and to aid American families in acquiring homes on the basis of long-term loans.

GERMANY IN TURMOIL.

Chancellor von Papen's dramatic move to restore law and order in Prussia is probably an effort to recoup some of the prestige that the German government lost at Lausanne. The government has not set aside the constitution. It has merely invoked an emergency clause of that document, giving the Reich authority to assume dictatorial powers in states which allow law and order to break down. The order does not concern the other German states. Assurance is given that the Reich will withdraw as soon as a constitutional cabinet has been formed in Prussia.

For several weeks Prussia has been torn by factional riots and disorder. Last week the conflict between the Hitlerites and the Communists reached a stage of open hostilities in several sections. Apparently the Socialist regime in Prussia was unable to cope with the situation. At any rate, conditions, and led the German people to believe Whether or not the situation had reached a stage that justified intervention by the Reich is a question that can not be determined from this distance.

It may be assumed, however, that the move was not free from politics. The von Papen government has been regarded as a weak make-shift ever since it took office. Events at Lausanne tended to confirm that opinion. The chancellor allowed the allied governments to pretend that they had arranged for a generous settlement of reparations, and led the German people to believe that he had achieved a great victory at Lausanne. Then came the revelation that the whole proposition was hinged upon cancellation of Europe's debts by the United States. A wave of reaction swept over Germany. In spite of Chancellor von Papen's eloquent description of his victories, it was apparent to the people that they had been duped—that the allied governments had given nothing, except hope that America might be gulled into assuming the war debts.

This incident played directly into the hands of Adolf Hitler, the would-be Fascist dictator of Germany. Hitler has maintained that he alone is capable of giving Germany a government strong enough to preserve internal order and to repudiate reparations. Having failed to demonstrate any prowess in dealing with the reparations tangle, Chancellor von Papen is anxious to manifest the strong arm of martial law in dealing with the riots in Prussia. But it may be too late.

The Reichstag election is scheduled for July 31. Some talk of a postponement is heard on the ground that orderly balloting could not be conducted under present circumstances. But it is questionable whether delay or any other tactics can save Germany from a Fascist government. The people are at high tension. They demand that the burden of reparations be lifted from them, and Hitler seems to offer the best hope of wiping the slate clean. In their present state of mind they probably do not stop to contemplate the probable results of a repudiation of the Versailles treaty as demanded by the Nazis. Wearied by long months of depression and unemployment, they are ready to face the allies and demand a showdown.

Unless present indications fail the von Papen regime will soon have to give way to the hot-heads. Then the crafty maneuvers at Lausanne will be buried under a new vociferous demand for revision of the Treaty of Versailles.

RAIL MERGERS APPROVED.

Consolidation of eastern railroads into four great trunk line systems, as agreed upon by the Interstate Commerce Commission, will meet with general approval. It is substantially the railroads' own plan. The earlier proposal to merge eastern railways into five trunk-line systems was not acceptable to the carriers, and events since the depression began have made it completely unworkable. The issue confronting the commission was whether the four-system plan should be accepted or hope for early consolidation abandoned.

Some of the process of consolidation as approved by the commission has already been effected. The four great lines are eager to put this plan into operation. But they would not have accepted the five-system arrangement, and since the commission has no authority to require the carriers to buy or sell railroad property, the project could not have been carried out. Consolidation must be voluntary. Congress has gone a long way in dominating the affairs of the railroads, but it could not deprive them of their property for the sake of effecting mergers.

No effort was made to build a fifth trunk line. The commission notes that since the five-system plan was announced the Wabash and the Seaboard Air Line, which were to be the backbone of the fifth system, have been placed in the hands of receivers. On the other hand, two strong roads in the eastern territory, the Pennsylvania and the New York Central, control almost one-half of the mileage in this region. They have more than one-half of the desirable mileage. Three strong systems could not be created out of the remaining roads. Any fifth system that might have been set up under these conditions would have been weak and unstable.

The commission would not have been justified in creating a system without the physical and financial strength to render efficient public service. The carriers of the Nation are struggling against adversity. What they need is more unity and greater strength. A weak and inefficient system put into operation in times like these would be a travesty on consolidation and a liability to public confidence in the rail transportation business.

Commissioner Eastman's dissenting opinion is not impressive. He argues that this is not the proper time for railroad consolidation. Yet he admits that much of the plan approved by the commission has already been carried out as a result of conferences among railroad chiefs. The purpose of railroad consolidation, as ordered by Congress, is to improve service to the public, to effect economies in the handling of freight, and to strengthen the railway structure. The achievement of these ends has never been more important than it is today.

Indications are that the four great eastern trunk lines—the Pennsylvania, the New York Central, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate—may acquire the branch lines and smaller roads allotted to them through trading stocks. If so, large amounts of capital will not be necessary to complete the contemplated mergers.

Four large systems will certainly be able to handle transportation more efficiently and economically than several hundred independent roads. At the same time competition will be preserved among the larger units. On the whole the commission seems to have apportioned the eastern lines among the four chief carriers on a fair and practical basis. It is to be hoped that the consolidations will be completed at an early date so that they may contribute to the general economic recovery.

GOV. ROOSEVELT'S PLANS.

Gov. Roosevelt has decided that the Democratic national campaign shall be directed from New York. It is customary to set up headquarters in the Middle West, the Far West and the South. But this year the presidential candidate thinks it would be wise to keep the campaign under direction of his trusted lieutenant in New York. No regional headquarters will be established, and contacts will be maintained only through the national committeemen of each State.

This decision to maintain headquarters in the eastern metropolis is indicative of the trend of events since the convention. Gov. Roosevelt will make an appeal to conservative opinion. The radicals and the so-called progressives are already with him. But his managers realize that he can not be elected without the support of the conservative East. Hence, efforts are to be made to emphasize the difference between Gov. Roosevelt's record in New York State and the more radical record made by the Democratic House of Representatives.

MOVING TOWARD SECURITY.

A number of industrial leaders have recently expressed their conviction that the way to recovery is a restoration of the purchasing power of workingmen. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, now makes his contribution to that reassuring note. "The largest single job facing industry," he told the National Editorial Association in San Francisco, "is to get men back into productive employment."

Nothing has been more conclusively demonstrated during the last three years of hard times than the necessity of maintaining the purchasing power of the working classes on a level with productive capacity. "In the laboratory and in the field," Mr. Sloan said, "we have learned how to produce at a lessening cost in terms of both dollars and human energy. But we have made these advances so rapidly that our facilities for getting these products into the hands of those who need or want them temporarily have broken down."

This means that distribution facilities were not only imperfect but that purchasing power and the stimulation of wants through advertising failed to keep pace with the output of factories. Every industrialist realizes that this was one of the causes of the breakdown. Likewise, every one is aware that purchasing power must be expanded and confidence revived before this country can go forward to any substantial improvement.

This fact furnishes the greatest possible stimulus for industrialists to expand their payrolls and to make jobs secure wherever it is possible to do so. "The industrialist," says Mr. Sloan, "can well afford to give careful study to problems of job insurance. The employe who has faith in his job is ready to buy." Buying is just as essential to modern economic civilization as is manufacture. A piling up of goods in factories or in retail stores, either because the people have insufficient purchasing power or because they are afraid to spend what they have, will produce economic disaster at any time.

Industrial leaders find it necessary, therefore, to build up the purchasing power of their employes to protect their own interests. Enlightened industry may be expected, during the period of recovery, to inaugurate extensive plans to bolster up purchasing power and make jobs more secure.

TEAMWORK OF AMERICANS.

Americans may well be proud of the record that their fellow citizens are making during these depression years. Democracy and the misnamed capitalistic system, with all its faults, withstands all shocks. While economic troubles have brought a growth of Socialism and even Communism to many countries, the reverse has been the case in the United States.

Violent upheavals in various parts of the world serve to emphasize the steady character of Americans who are suffering the universal hardships attendant upon business stagnation. The reasonableness of labor and the policy of capital and management show that in times of stress Americans become constructive instead of destructive. Common danger results in teamwork for the common welfare.

A notable example of the inherent conservatism of the American people has been seen in the political field. In the midst of trouble and discontent the prophets who might have thought to fatten on depression have been discarded. The radicals have been rejected by the people. The reason is not hard to find. The forte of "progressivism," which is really reactionism, is denunciation and disruption. For the going concern the progressives have many complaints; for a machine out of order they have no constructive ideas; and the sum total of their efforts during the recent session of Congress was to stand on the side line and throw monkey wrenches. Americans have taken their measure and will have naught of them.

Jim Ham Lewis views with alarm the suggestion that Canada is to have something to say about Chicago swallowing Lake Michigan.

If the bonus boys will watch Giff Pinchot they'll see how a master in the art of panhandling gets in his fine work with Uncle Sam.

JOHN D. AT GOLF

From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It was the sunset hour at Gloucester. Dories bobbed precariously, and catboats darted through the spinning water with feline grace, and here and there a yawl rested awkwardly after its day of labor, and Gen. Ames was talking. Gen. Ames (need it be said?) is West Point's oldest living graduate, almost a centenarian, but he was unreeling no yarns of "old, unhappy, far-off days and battles long ago." Golf was his theme, 25 years of golf on the links of Osmoud, in simmering, distant Florida, with the elder Rockefeller as his opponent. From tee to green, through how many winters, Mr. Rockefeller has commanded a vaster gallery than ever followed the infallibility of Jones, the derring-do of Sarazen, the pictorial showmanship of Hagen. Colorless, prosy, with never a hint of audacity, but proceeding with mathematical precision down the fairways, with a drastic economy of effort and, within his limitations, achieving the minimum score. Such is the pale picture of Mr. Rockefeller's golf as painted by the reportorial brush.

Gen. Ames tells a better story. It seems that, for all his orthodoxy, Mr. Rockefeller has his moods of errancy, when the ball will sinfully soar away into that "rendezvous with death," the rough. Here enters the miraculous element. By some unfailing generosity of chance, the Rockefeller ball always contrives a beautiful lie, as plump and sweet and inviting as if tricky hands had slyly moved it into happy position. So says Gen. Ames, who further has observed that Mr. Rockefeller is strangely forgetful, too, at times, so that frequently the seven or eight strokes expended in negotiating the hole are entered on the score card as six, or five, or whatever the occasion requires. Gen. Ames assures us he is making no accusations, is not speaking in any derogatory manner and hopes he will not be misunderstood. He will not be. What may be written down is this: As a golfer, the oil magnate emeritus is every inch a Rockefeller.

Of His Own Making. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

POST HASTE.

British good feeling and sentimental desire for cooperation at Ottawa find that the stubborn facts of geography and economics are stumbling blocks that refuse to give way to theory.

The $300,000,000 is ready for distribution through the States. The bonus boys should realize that they couldn't get any of it here, even if they were residents of the District. Go back to your States, boys, and get your share of work.

The think machine of any amateur economist who believes industry can be saved and revived by distributing individual doles is run with a twisted belt.

The Federal worker who is to enjoy 60 days of payless leave can at least ruminate on the fact that his enforced vacation numbers but one-sixth as many days as others have experienced.

Former Senator Wadsworth is willing to return as a representative from New York if his presence will help to saturate the House.

The Democratic chairman, right out in meetin', wants to know whether Al Smith will take a seat in the bandwagon or persist in driving his old sulky. Jim Farley's temerity in poking the Tiger pet scares the spectators.

To hear the alarmists talk you would think this country is going entirely to pot because of the loss of 2½ billions of export trade. The reduced volume of American business is probably ten times as great. To recover all that foreign business will take a long time; expansion of the home market by twice the value of all exports can come promptly by American energy alone.

If you have ever had a touch of the old ptomaine it is not necessary to solicit your sympathy for the 400 picnic sufferers. PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A RABBIT MOVES IN.

There's a little jack rabbit comes into our garden
With never a "May I?" or "Begging your pardon!"
Or "Please, sir, permit me. I'm hungry for roots."
And he nibbles the green leaves and tender young shoots,
And I vow that I'll send for a shotgun and end him—
Which I would, didn't Janet rise up to befriend him.

I've caught him—the rascal—at work on my phlox,
And I know he has eaten my best hollyhocks!
Already he's cost me nine dollars in money—
But Janet insists he's a cute little bunny.

Now, I wouldn't mind it so much if this rabbit
Had asked my permission my grounds to inhabit;
But he didn't! He moved in one bright starry night
As if to my shrubs he'd a God-given right.
And I swear that I'd fix him so he couldn't fret me
By nibbling my posies—if Janet would let me.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN

My dear Louise: When I was a kid some inspired instructor filled me with improbable legends about Washington—including the one that he died of a "bad cold" and loss of blood.

I suppose you will hear more or less argument about it all your life, and I'd like to have you equipped with the facts.

Fortunately, the doctors were wise enough to make a written record of all that happened, so it isn't necessary to depend on some historian's imagination.

Washington, for all his height and bulk and grim endurance, was never in robust health—except, perhaps, in his youth. He had inherited a family weakness that made him an easy victim of respiratory diseases, and he suffered many illnesses, each of which he expected to be his last. During his last years bad teeth caused him much suffering and probably kept him full of poison.

It was his custom, as you know, to ride a horse over his plantation every day from 10 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon, and he never let the weather interfere.

On December 12, a day of rain and cold wind and snow, he came in a little late and sat down to dinner without changing his wet clothes.

Next morning he had a sore throat and remained indoors until afternoon. When he came in he was so hoarse he could scarcely speak, yet he read aloud in the evening as usual. He refused to take anything for his "cold."

At 3 o'clock next morning he awoke with a chill. He was breathing with great difficulty and could hardly speak. His wife prepared a mixture of molasses, vinegar and butter, but he could not swallow.

He sent for his overseer and that worthy bled him, taking a pint. His friend Lear then massaged his throat with sal volatile and bathed his feet in hot water, but nothing gave relief.

The first doctor to arrive bled him twice. When two more doctors came he was bled again, yet he did not faint or show signs of weakness.

Two of his doctors were graduates of Edinburgh, the world's greatest medical school. They examined his lungs and found no congestion, yet there is no record that either of them looked inside his throat. They merely gave him calomel and tartar and applied blisters to his legs and feet, as other doctors of that period would have done.

They said he died of "cyanche trachealis," a form of quinsy. Modern doctors call it acute laryngitis. In plain words, he choked to death. His closed air passages could not admit enough life-giving oxygen. Modern doctors would have cut open the trachea to save him.

That's the straight of it, dear. He was a grand old man, and words he spoke near the last are worth remembering, "Doctor, I die hard, but I am not afraid to go." Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

But Borah Can Lick It.

Topeka Capital.

The National Prohibition party put the World Court into its platform, and then invited Senator Borah to head its ticket. Which is worse than the Democrats denouncing government extravagance and then nominating Garner, the pork-barrel statesman, for Vice President. On the World Court Borah now has nowhere to go, since the Prohibitionists, Republicans and Democrats have declared for the World Court in their platforms. But that ought to just about suit the Idaho senator. It gives his genius for opposition full play.

But They Were Thorough.

Atlanta Constitution.

An economist thinks the railroads and bus lines should merge. We hardly think so—the mergers they've attempted to date at the crossings have been highly unsuccessful from a financial standpoint.

The Old Dumb Despair.

Boston Transcript.

There is always a gleam of hope when a new senator comes to Washington, but it soon yields to the old dumb despair.

Just as Well.

Minneapolis Journal.

Political hot air over the major radio networks is said to cost $35,000 an hour. Most of the smaller politicians will let the country continue to drift toward the rocks.

Not a Pretty Record.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The people will be glad to see the Congress disperse, even though it will merely transfer its oratory from the legislative halls to the political stump. Its record has not been pretty. Beginning with solemn pledges of nonpartisanship in the interest of national legislation, it soon broke down into one of the most bitterly partisan of recent Congresses, an attitude that was climaxed by the recent precampaign battle over the veto of the Garner relief bill.

Doesn't Need Such Rescue.

Fort Scott Tribune.

"Every time," says Newton D. Baker—"every time the Nation has needed to be rescued, it has turned to the Democratic party." Very true, but what makes it so difficult is convincing the Democrats that the country really doesn't need rescuing every time they think it does.

The Ancient Mariner.

Detroit News.

Some were in hopes that Borah, too, would spend the off season in a yawl, to see what record he could set up, of nots in an hour.

Gross Oversight.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Both parties announced their need for $5,000,000; but no provision was made for the Reconstruction Corporation to lend them the money.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The present march to Washington by the World War veterans in their bonus appeal has not been stopped. We see a great number of cars passing through Wheeling each day and the cars are plainly marked "World War Veterans' March to Washington." Wouldn't it be possible to obtain a registration list from Commander Waters and check this up with the War Department and ascertain the exact service each man has rendered to our country, whether he was abroad, the length of time he was in the army, whether he was drafted or volunteered his services. I am of the opinion a statement of this kind would be quite illuminating and of great value in the handling of the situation.

Of course, the few thousand men demanding immediate payment of the bonus represents a very small percentage of the 4,000,000 enlisted. I am personally of the opinion they represent a minority of the members of every American Legion post and their appeal is not the majority opinion of the 4,000,000 men interested.

If numbers and demonstration are all that is needed to get legislation through, the city of Washington will be flooded by men, women and children for this purpose. Unless some radical reduction is made in taxes—at least 25 per cent—there will be some action of this kind taken within the next six months. The people are being aroused, mass meetings are being held in every town, city and State throughout this country and they mean business, expect and have a right to demand radical reduction in taxes, city, country, State and government. X-Ray Device to Detect Bombs in the Mails.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Despite the ineffectiveness of the method, radicals, cranks and gangsters continue to send bombs through the mail to intended victims. The recent discovery of several infernal machines by the United States Postoffice was but one of many instances which keep postal employes constantly on their guard. As a result of this recurrent danger a Boston inventor has perfected an apparatus suitable for installation in postoffices, which reveals the presence of bombs in packages by means of X-ray. A type of fluoroscope shows the contents of suspicious packages without breaking the seals.

Opening a package has in some instances meant disaster. In Easton, Pa., last January, a postal clerk became suspicious of a package and unwrapped it. Inside was a wooden box secured with two metal clamps. When the man released one of these an explosion took place which killed two clerks and wounded four others. This plot involved other bombs sent by express as well as mail. Yet none of the fatalities was among the intended victims. This is nearly always the case. An expert who has dealt for years with this problem asserted that he had never known of an important bombing that succeeded in killing the person against whom it was intended. C. P. J.

Democrat Says Party Plank Holds Out False Hopes on Repeal.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: That mythical "man on the street," who somehow has multiplied himself into millions, is saying that while the Republican reference to prohibition is insincere and hypocritical, the Democratic declaration is frank and devoid of hypocrisy. This statement seems to go uncontradicted and will doubtless be used as one of the strong arguments in the coming campaign.

The Democratic plank says that the Democratic party, if elected, will "urge the repeal of the eighteenth amendment." This is taken by superficial people to mean that Mr. Roosevelt, if elected, will do the Lincoln act, and with one stroke of his pen proclaim a second emancipation proclamation. Mr. Roosevelt knows he will do no such thing, and the party leaders know it. After all, the people must, through their constituted authorities, undo what has been done, if it is to be undone. Yet this false idea concerning repeal of the eighteenth amendment is permitted to be interpreted in the way I have above stated. Millions of our people are thinking and talking this way. I, as a Democrat from my youth up, refuse to countenance this hypocrisy. Let the people know the truth.

Visitors Should Know That Rock Creek Park Is a Cool Retreat.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Probably not many of the transient visitors to the Capital know that there exists in this city a drive that is always 10 degrees or more cooler than the streets of Washington—Rock Creek Park. Miles of shady lanes are to be found there which offer grateful relief on a hot day or evening. It is remarkable what a different climate is to be found in the depths of the park. Ample parking space is provided and there are seats and tables to accommodate picnic parties.

Needless to say, Rock Creek is generously patronized these days by residents of Washington. Many take their children and the evening meal to the park and spend pleasant hours there, where recreation facilities are afforded for the little folks. One big modern apartment house built on one of the Rock Creek branches has taken advantage of the colder air always available at the lower levels to pipe it into its halls and corridors so that it tempers the summer atmosphere effectively. JAMES RIDLEY.

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

President Hoover Host at Luncheon To Dr. Arias.

THE PRESIDENT ENTERTAINED at luncheon yesterday at the White House in honor of the President-elect of Panama, Senor Dr. Harmodio Arias. The other guests were the Secretary of State, Mr. Henry L. Stimson; the Minister of Panama, Senor Dr. Horacio Alfaro; the Secretary of War, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley; Mr. Lawrence Richey, Senor Don Octavio Vallerino, the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Francis White; the Director General of the Pan-American Union, Dr. Leo S. Rowe; Senor Don Eduardo Sosa, Secretary to the President-elect; the Secretary of the Legation of Panama, Senor Don Juan B. Chevalier; Mr. Jefferson Patterson, Capt. Walter N. Vernon and Col. Campbell B. Hodges.

Army Relief Chapter Has Lawn Fete and Dinner Dance.

Mrs. Edward E. Gann and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley headed the receiving line yesterday afternoon at the opening of the lawn fete and dinner dance at the Army and Navy Country Club, given under the auspices of the Washington Chapter of the Army Relief. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. Charles M. Bridges, wife of Maj. Gen. Bridges; Mrs. Lutz Wahl, widow of Gen. Wahl, and executive chairman of the fete, and Maj. Gen. John F. Preston.

Mrs. Gann wore a chiffon gown of Alice blue printed in soft colors, with a large hat to match, and Mrs. Hurley wore a smart afternoon frock of pink crepe with a large hat of brown straw.

The afternoon was gay and the amusement diversified with swimming events, bathing beauty contests, golf and tennis tournaments and dancing in the clubhouse, where tea was served later in the afternoon.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley, who were to have been the guests of honor at the dinner given by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert U. Patterson, were unable to attend because of an official engagement of the Secretary. Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Patterson had as their guests at dinner, which was served in the dining rooms of the club, and on the roof garden, overlooking the beautiful panorama of the Capital, the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service and Mrs. Hugh S. Cumming, Dr. and Mrs. William A. White, the Assistant Military Attache of the French Embassy and Mme. Lombard, Capt. and Mrs. Joel T. Boone, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Couch, Col. and Mrs. William N. Bispham and Maj. and Mrs. Robert McC. Beck, jr.

Others who entertained at dinner at the club last evening were Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Van Horn Moseley who had as their guests Col. and Mrs. Everett Hughes, and Maj. and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John F. Preston, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Charles H. Bridges, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Matthew A. Delaney, who had with them Brig. Gen. William E. Horton and Mrs. Ralph Worthington; Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Perry L. Miles, who had as their guests Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Nathaniel F. McClure, Col. and Mrs. Alvin V. Voris, Col. and Mrs. Edward H. Shulz, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. James M. Lockett, Lieut. Col. McKenney, Capt. Horace B. Smith and his mother, Mrs. Benjamin Smith; Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Joseph McAndrew, widow of Maj. Gen. McAndrew; Mrs. Asher and Lieut. John B. Sherman.

Others dining at the club last evening were Col. and Mrs. Charles L. Humphrey, Col. and Mrs. Kennedy, Col. and Mrs. Don Sawyer, Maj. and Mrs. C. W. Russell, Maj. and Mrs. Leon N. Logan, Maj. and Mrs. Sidney Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Goring Bliss and Mrs. Lutz Wahl.

Ambassador and Mrs. Chilton Arrive in New York.

The British Ambassador to Chile, Sir Henry Getty Chilton, with Lady Chilton and their daughters, Miss Anne Chilton and Miss Betty Chilton, arrived in New York yesterday on the Berengaria. They will be in New York for some time and will sail later in the summer for Santiago, Chile.

The Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, left Washington yesterday for Maine, where he will attend the dedication of the Cadillac Mountain road, in Acadia National Park today. He will then join Mrs. Adams at their summer home at Minot, Mass., for the week-end.

The Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro entertained at dinner last evening for the President-elect of Panama, Senor Dr. Harmodio Arias, who is stopping at the legation during his short stay in Washington. The guests included members of the legation staff and their families.

This afternoon the Minister and Senora de Alfaro will entertain at a large reception in honor of their distinguished countryman.

Senator and Mrs. Cordell Hull are visiting in Staunton, Va., where they are the guests of the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cook. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Hull are sisters of Mr. Julius Witz, former Mayor of Staunton, and were born in that city. Mr. and Mrs. Cook recently moved to Staunton and are occupying the Stallenwerck House.

Senator and Mrs. Hull will leave Staunton next week and will continue on their motor trip to their home in Tennessee.

Representative and Mrs. Addison T. Smith, of Idaho, will go to their home about the first of the month. They are with their son, Walter, at 5545 Forty-first street, Chevy Chase, having closed their apartment at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Representative Clarence J. McLeod, of Michigan, and Representative Patrick J. Carley, of New York, who came to their apartments at Wardman Park Hotel several days ago to spend an indefinite time, have rejoined their families in their respective homes, for the summer.

The newly appointed chief of the division of western European affairs of the State Department, Mr. J. Pierrepont Moffat, succeeds Mr. Pierre de L. Boal, who is now first secretary of the United States Legation in Ottawa, will leave Washington later in the summer to join Mrs. Moffat and their children in Hancock, N. H., for a short vacation. Mrs. Moffat was formerly Miss Lilla Grew, daughter of the United States Ambassador to Tokyo and Mrs. Joseph C. Grew.

Representative and Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp have gone to their home in Louisiana to spend the next few weeks.

The chief of the division of international conferences of the State Department, Mr. James Clement Dunn, arrived in New York yesterday on the Paris after spending some time in Europe.

The Secretary of the Roumanian Legation and Mme. Popovici are spending the week-end at Bethany Beach, Del., where they have taken a cottage for the month of August. They will return to Washington for next week and will then join Dr. and Mrs. Harry Healy at Bethany Beach to remain until after Labor Day.

Maj. and Mrs. P. E. Van Nostrand, whose marriage took place on Wednesday in Hampton, Va., are now in Washington at the Mayflower. Mrs. Van Nostrand is the former Miss Lavinia Gregory Holt, daughter of the late Capt. and Mrs. Virginius P. Holt, of Hampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Maffitt entertained at a tea yesterday afternoon in their home on Massachusetts avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Tevis Huhn will entertain at tea this afternoon at their home in Georgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hill To Go to North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. John Philip Hill and their daughters will leave Washington by motor on August 1 for Asheville, N. C., where they will remain until after Labor Day. Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry has placed at their disposal Mount Pisgah Lodge, in the mountains near Asheville. The charming rustic house is a part of the famous Biltmore estate which Mrs. John Francis Amherst Cecil, daughter of Mrs. Gerry, inherited from her father, the late Mr. George W. Vanderbilt. It is far up the mountain, deep in the woods and giant rhododendrons which flower the North Carolina mountains, and commands a magnificent view of the valleys below.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill have remained in Washington through the early summer, and with their daughters, Suzanne, Elise and Kitty, have been frequent visitors at the Annapolis Roads Beach and Tennis Club on Chesapeake Bay, of which Mr. Hill is secretary.

Miss Francesca McKenney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McKenney, will leave next week for New York where she will visit her cousin, Miss Frances Miller, for some time. Later they will visit their uncle, Mr. William Miller, at his home on Long Island for several weeks.

Mrs. Frank B. King is spending the summer abroad. She will arrive in France this week and from there she will travel through Europe by motor, visiting points of interest. Mrs. King will return to her apartment at Wardman Park Hotel in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter DeButts, of Upperville, Va., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter Thursday in Richmond. The infant is the third child of Mr. and Mrs. DeButts and has been named Mary Custis Lee, after her mother, who in turn bears the name of her grandmother, the wife of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the Confederate leader.

Mrs. DeButt's father was Capt. Robert E. Lee, third son of Gen. Lee.

Mr. John Barrett, former director general of the Pan American Union, who is spending the summer at his country home at Grafton, Vt., has gone to Ottawa to attend the Imperial Economic Conference.

Miss Elizabeth Bostick Elmore arrived in Washington yesterday from her home in Alabama to visit her sister-in-law, Mrs. Willett Elmore, wife of Capt. Elmore, who is now on duty in Nicaragua.

Mrs. Elmore will entertain at luncheon and bridge on Wednesday at the Army and Navy Country Club for Miss Elmore, who will remain in Washington several weeks.

H. Prescott Brigham Wed in Fairfield, Conn.

The marriage of Miss Polly Middlebrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Middlebrook, of South Orange, N. J., to Mr. H. Prescott Brigham, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Southgate, of Washington, took place yesterday in the First Church of Christ, in Fairfield, Conn., of which Miss Middlebrook's ancestor, Andrew Eliot, was colonial minister for 30 years.

Mrs. Edward J. Croker, of Baltimore, has invited Miss Maud Judith Scruggs, of Washington, and Mrs. Leacy Naylor Green-Leach, of New York City, to be the honor guests and to read their poems at a reception, Tuesday, July 26, given at the home of Mrs. Croker, 3803 Juniper road, Gilford, Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Bell and family and Mr. Henry Glassie were members of an enthusiastic fishing party at Point Lookout, Md., this week, as were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mehlman and Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Brent and their daughter from Ruxton, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Blays, jr., of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Offutt and their family, of Winchester, Mass., and Maj. H. G. Pratt, former chief of police of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman and their two younger daughters were all guests at the Point Lookout Hotel during the past week.

A silver cup will be presented to the winner of the highest score in contract bridge, and a similar cup will be presented to the winner of auction contest at the card party, which will be given next Thursday, at 2 o'clock at the Rossdhu Castle Club, under the auspices of Mrs. William Laird Dunlop, jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Entertain at Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Watson entertained last evening at the dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace in honor of Miss Mary Martha Wren and Mr. Barclay Jermaine Townsend, whose marriage will take place July 30; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Phillips, two brides and bridegrooms of June; and her house guest, Miss Virginia Goode of Boynton, Va. Their other guests were Miss Martha Young, of Detroit, Mich.; Miss Lalla Lynn, Miss Mary Virginia Yellott, Mrs. Helen Martin, Mr. Forney Reese, Mr. Tyree Dillard, Mr. William Laird Dunlop 3d, Mr. Jack Hayes, Lieut. Reynolds Condon, U. S. A., and Mr. Arthur Clephane.

The table was decorated with yellow roses.

The Arts Club of Washington will entertain at their last informal Sunday supper for the season tomorrow evening in the garden of the clubhouse. After supper the Arts Club Male Quartet will give a group of familiar songs. Miss Harriet Garrels and Mr. Hugo Inden will be hosts for that evening.

At the National Woman's Party tea in the gardens of Alva Belmont House tomorrow afternoon, Dr. Mary Wilhemine Williams of Goucher College will speak on "The Woman's College and the Woman's Movement." Dr. Williams, professor of history at Goucher, is prominent in the international scholastic movement, and is a favorite lecturer. The tea will be at 4:30 o'clock, and members and friends of the Woman's Party are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. Paul Myron Linebarger, District chairman, will preside.

The garden of Alva Belmont House, was the scene last evening of several charming numbers by the Washington Denishawn Dancers under the direction of Lester Shafer and Marion Chace. Frances Rand, Nancy Brock and Wilma Dinowitzer danced the "Choeur Dance" and a suite entitled "Apparaxes" with Ruth Raine, while "Coquette" was done by Amalie Freische and an additional solo dance "Temple Bells" by Ruth Raine.

In Receiving Line at Lawn Fete

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

READERS' PROBLEMS SOLVED BY OUR EXPERT.

W. P.: The chin straps which are recommended for wear overnight are usually the wide, thin gauze type, put on over a rich emollient cream or skin food. Their purpose is to keep the cream from rubbing off, rather than to support the chin muscles. The chin straps that are tightly adjusted to the contour in order to lift and firm the muscles are best worn during the day, while reading, writing, resting or sewing. They should be worn for fifteen minutes to a half hour. If this unnatural support is worn for too long a time, particularly during sleeping hours, their effect is soon lost. Yes, you can easily make a chin strap at home. I have found unbleached muslin excellent for the purpose. Take a strip of material about a yard wide and hemstitch every two inches, then cut through the center of the hemstitching and you have a nicely finished chin band. Its edges won't ravel. Place securely under chin and tie or pin overhead. If the strap is worn after the skin has been patted with a good emollient cream or skin food, and a pad of cotton wrung out of cold water and dipped into a good astringent and placed under the chin (the strap adjusted over this flat pad which should extend from ear to ear) it will do the most good.

• • • • •

Darkening Brows and Lashes.

M. B.: There are several lash and brow dyes on the market that claim to be entirely safe and darken the brows and lashes for several months. There is no such thing as a really "permanent" dye, because the hairs of lashes and brows have a life span just as the hair on the head. I would not advise you to use a dye yourself. Have this done at a reputable beauty salon. Otherwise the daily use of mascara is the best you can do. Vaseline is about the best thing to use for darkening and encouraging the growth of brows and lashes.

• • • • •

Hard Corners Around Nails.

B. A.: Dip the fingers in warm olive oil for a few minutes every day, or massage with a softening cream of the emollient type. Wear loose gloves or the fingers of old gloves and tie with tape so they will not fall off. When massaging pinch fingers between thumb and forefinger of opposite hand. Be persistent in this treatment and gradually the hardened skin at the corners will soften. Yes, the square fingertips can be made more tapering by this pinching massage, but it will take a long time.

• • • • •

Oily Scalp and Dry Hair.

L. H.: It is not at all uncommon for the scalp to be oozing oil as you say and the hair, particularly at the very ends to be quite dry. This indicates that the oil is not being distributed evenly throughout the hairshaft. The best way to correct this condition is to brush diligently night and morning, up from the scalp out to the very ends of the hair. Weekly hot oil treatments, scalp massage and brushing should soon normalize the oil content through scalp and hair. Cutting and above treatment is the best way to treat splitting hair ends. For full information send for my hair bulletins, including self-addressed, stamped envelope, please.

FORESEEING AND AVERTING A SQUEEZE.

THE squeeze play, whereby one or both opponents are forced to give up otherwise winning cards by the inexorable working of the time factor, can frequently be defeated if the defending players realize in time that a squeeze situation is likely to develop, and take prompt, if daring, steps to avert that situation. In fact, most hands which eventually develop the squeeze in the early stages present to the defending players, fully awake to the defensive potentialities of their cards, a chance for successful defense.

An illustration of the manner in which a squeeze was averted is given in the hand below, played in a Duplicate game in Little Rock, Ark. The defending players who realized the danger that impended, but the one chance for successful defense, was Mrs. Clarence Pfeifer, who sat East.

North—Dealer.

	♠ Q 10 7 ♡ A 9 7 4 ◇ K 7 ♣ A Q J 3
♠ K 5 4 ♡ Q 10 5 ◇ A Q J 10 5 ♣ 6 5	N W E S	♠ 9 3 ♡ J 6 ◇ 8 6 4 3 2 ♣ K 10 9 7
	♠ A J 8 6 2 ♡ K 8 3 2 ◇ 9 ♣ 8 4 3

The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
		1♣	Pass
1♠	2◇	3♠	Pass
4♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding followed natural and normal lines. When North bid three spades, he elected to give at once not only the full Raise his hand held, but an optional Raise as well. This slight overbid would, however, be actually made by most good players, particularly when not vulnerable.

Against the contract of four spades, West, unwilling to lead from his diamond tenace, elected to open the 8 of clubs. The Knave was played from Dummy, and East won with the King, and then took stock of the situation and the defensive possibilities of the cards. It was apparent that a return of her partner's bid suit could accomplish nothing constructive, but would merely establish, without effort, the King in the Dummy, and thus possibly afford a discard, if South, as was possible, held a singleton in the suit. West's opening lead might conceivably have been a singleton, but more probably a doubleton. Hence, the return of a club could accomplish nothing, as East had no prospect of again being in the lead until the trumps were drawn, and, in any event, East would then have another club trick.

There then remained the possibility of a heart lead. Ordinarily, holding J x, this would be an undesirable lead, but desperate situations require daring treatment, and East, foreseeing the extreme probability that in order to defeat the contract a possible third-round heart trick must be established in her partner's hand, boldly led the heart Knave. This trick was won with the Ace in Dummy, and the Queen of spades led and finessed. West won with the King, and before leading the Ace of diamonds, led another round of hearts, which drove out South's King and permitted him to cash the heart trick when in the lead later with the diamond Ace.

TODAY'S POINTER.

An appreciation of the time factor in relation to the trick-taking power of a hand, played either in attack or in defense, is essential to successful play. The success or failure of a contract almost always rests upon suit establishment.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

	♠ 10 8 6 ♡ 8 7 ◇ — ♣ A K Q J 9 7 5 3
♠ J 5 4 ♡ Q J 10 5 4 3 2 ◇ 9 7 ♣ 2	N W E S	♠ 2 ♡ A 9 ◇ A K Q J 6 5 4 3 2 ♣ 4
	♠ A K Q 9 7 3 ♡ K 6 ◇ 10 8 ♣ 10 8 6

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Four bandana handkerchiefs make Miladi Housewife colorful and chic, not to mention clever! (Dah-ray designs.)

NEW YORK, July 22.—Well, well, well! I just simply can't seem to stop doing things with bandana hankies, can I?

You see, sister Dionne likes 'em, too, but she can't—as I did—wear the sun suit made from two handkerchiefs around the ranch—being the mother of two children and weighing 50-odd pounds more than does her famous sister. (!) So what could I do but up and make her a house dress out of 'em? The bandana handkerchiefs, silly!

Sure enough, I made a simply delightful one for her—it fits and everything—out of four handkerchiefs. Five cents apiece—dahrlings! The four-hankie one is sun back and sleeveless, as in the corner sketch. Then we found that for days not so warm one more handkerchief, cut a certain way, furnished a yoke, little sleeves and filled in the back so it was a whole dress, not sun backed.

Well, and there that one is—on the larger figure. 'Nit you have any doubts of the chic and charm, the color and coolness, the simplicity in making and the ease in washing and ironing—well, just try a house dress or two made from bandana handkerchiefs!

• • • •

The best part of it all, next to the fact that these handkerchiefs cost 5 cents apiece, is that there is no binding or finishing necessary on these house dresses. The hankies are finished themselves, you know, both in design and as to edges. I timed myself and—honestly, no fibbin' now—made sister a house dress in one-half an hour, not counting time in taking the goods to the hemstitchers! Can you beat that for time saving, chic and economy? One dress costs 20 cents, the other 25. If you don't send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this leaflet—well, there is just something the matter, that's all—with you, I mean.

• • • •

Hit me wif a bwick, do! For now that I've just told you about the dull, dull, dullness of fabrics—in tone, my deah—not in interest, my arch enemy, Schiaparelli, swings out with high luster peau d'ange! And scores a hit with it, and makes me like it!

• • • •

The Beauty Sorceress.

The fine points of care:

Hands—Skin food at night, every night, on the backs of them, and cosmetic gloves to wear.

Beauty—Serenity!

Sleeves for fall? Yes. We are still interested in 'em—and will find them interesting to us. Decorative sleeves, oddly shaped and cut sleeves, and trimming rather elaborate on the sleeves alone of a dress, are all good autumn hints.

But don't ask me about capes—because I fear, I fear! They are just the least little bitty-wit shopworn, what, what?

• • • •

'Nif you are real good, you can have the leaflet showing you how to make the beach dress or bathing suit or sun suit from two bandana handkerchiefs—when you send your envelope for the new leaflet telling you how to make house dresses from bandana handkerchiefs.

Au revoir.

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF July 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:05 a. m. to 12:45 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:35 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3:35 p. m.

July 23 will bring in its train, so the stars say, troubles and anxieties. Differences—trivial but exaggerated—with friends or relatives will lead to estrangements. On the other hand, a new interest will engage your attention, which will prove to be of a most profitable nature. Love will be put to the test and not found wanting.

Children born on this July 23 will have restless natures, and will be geared by nature to a high rate of speed. They will be self-centered, impatient and slightly selfish. They may be credited with absolute honesty and a high degree of intelligence. They will be too straightforward to be artful.

While there is much in your character that calls for admiration and respect, there is also much that invites criticism and merits disapproval. You are, undoubtedly, quick and alert, and possess the saving grace of a keen sense of humor. Your wit, however, is not all harmless; you let loose a barbed joke just because you think it smart. You do not think of the hurt it may cause.

You work in fits and starts. Consistency is a jewel that you do not possess. Your opinions, too, are as variable as the weather. You are also too critical of the work of others and too quick to give voice to your own thoughts. On the other hand, you are a staunch friend and ally, and if at times you strain the chain of your friendship to the point of breaking, you are not slow in making amends.

Married life will not be for either you or your partner "one long, sweet song," but the trouble caused by your volatility will be offset by repentance and our efforts at atonement.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

RECIPES FOR ACID MILKS.

THE opinion is rather general that acid milks are more easily digested and probably more wholesome generally than is ordinary milk. In many parts of the world various kinds of clabbered milk are the staple food and fresh milk is not much used, and here buttermilk is a popular beverage.

If your babies can not have breast milk the most popular modification of cow's milk is known as lactic acid milk. The commonly used method of making lactic acid milk is as follows:

For 24 hours' feeding take a quantity of milk that equals in ounces twice the baby's weight in pounds. Let us say, in this instance, the baby weighs 10 pounds. We start with 20 ounces of good, fresh, clean milk. Boil for three minutes and cool. Mix 1½ ounces corn sirup with an equal quantity of water and add 60 drops of lactic acid. Stir well. Add the corn sirup-acid-water mixture to the cooled milk, stirring well all the time. It is generally the custom to add the sirup mixture slowly. The acid thickens the milk, and the object in stirring as the acid is added is to make an even mixture with no large, solid curds.

If the baby is 1 month old this milk is put into six bottles and put on ice. The baby is given a bottle every four hours.

To prepare lactic acid milk with evaporated milk:

Take 16 ounces of evaporated milk. Mix 3 ounces of corn sirup and a scant teaspoonful of lactic acid in a pint of water. Mix thoroughly. Add the water, corn sirup and acid to the milk gradually, stirring well all the time. This mixture is divided into bottles and put away on ice. It will keep for several days, and the amount given should be determined by the age and weight of the baby.

Since lactic acid milk is thick and gruel-like, it will not pass readily through the ordinary hole in the regular nipple. Therefore the size of the hole should be increased. This is readily done with a hot needle. In warming the milk just before using, care should be exercised lest it be spoiled by heating to a temperature that is too high.

The amounts of lactic acid given at a feeding are lower than those given if liquid milk is used.

There are many other acid milks in somewhat general use. Among them are lemon juice, orange juice, other fruit juices, vinegar, acetic acid, and dilute muriatic acid. Each has advocates. The method of mixing these acids and the quantity used varies according to the acid used and the procedures worked out by different men for each.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

WHEN the pick of the American turf match their speed and stamina in the $25,000 Arlington Handicap at Chicago today, Clem McCarthy will be at the microphone overlooking the track to describe the event (WRC, 5 p. m.).

Richard H. Waldo, of New York, president of the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, will tell the American Legion unemployment commission about "The Keylog in the Depression Jam," at 11:45 a. m., over Station WRC. The address will be the result of questions asked by audiences in periods following Mr. Waldo's talks during a visit to nineteen States, in which he traveled 22,000 miles by air, train and motor car.

Following a speaking trip to the Pacific Coast and a study of depression conditions last year, Mr. Waldo was invited to come to Washington. A couple of audiences with the President resulted in the appointment of a committee. Mr. Waldo, a close personal friend of former President Coolidge, has continued to keep in touch with depression developments.

WMAL will become the first local station, and one of the first in the United States to include "lapel microphones" in its regular use by the station within a few weeks.

The new mikes, scarcely an inch in diameter, will replace the battery of large microphones on many regular programs involving speakers where the point of origin is outside the studio.

SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH, of Idaho, will discuss what he considers to be one of the outstanding problems before America and the world—the Lausanne reparations agreement and its implications for the United States, with respect to war debts, when he speaks over WMAL, 9:15 o'clock tonight.

Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, was recently selected by President Hoover as the medium for the administration's reply to the now famous "gentlemen's agreement" which followed the Lausanne reparations pact. Europe was informed, through the note which President Hoover addressed to Senator Borah, that the United States Government will not be influenced by any so-called "united front" which our war debtors might present on the question of revision or cancellation.

Senator Borah holds strong views on what he thinks the attitude of this country should be in the presence of the European demand for a new deal on debts.

SCHUBERT'S exuberant Symphony No. 9 in C Major, the "Nutcracker Suite," by Tschaikovsky, and Liszt's dramatic symphonic poem, "Les Preludes," will be played during the broadcast of the Lewisohn Stadium concert over WMAL at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Willem van Hoogstraten will conduct.

A recital of choral music by the Berlin Teachers Male Chorus, one of the features of the current Frankfurt song festival, will be transmitted direct from Festival Hall during an international broadcast (WRC, 3 p. m.). Prof. Hugo Rudel will direct the singers in "Gesang der Deutschen Heimat" (Song of the German Home), "Requiem" and excerpts from the song cycle "Deutschland," by Georg Nellius.

Kurt Sell, Washington representative of the Reichs Rundfunk Gesellschaft, will discuss Germany's general elections during a broadcast over WRC at 5:30 p. m. today.

A wide assortment of dance rhythms by George Olsen and his music, with vocal interpolations by Ethel Shutta and Fran Frey, will be heard on the Lucky Strike Dance Hour (WRC, 9 o'clock) tonight.

WHEN the S. S. Manhattan, largest American-built liner, makes her first trial run today, a special radio program will be short-waved from the ship and carried over a national network (WJZ, 9 o'clock tonight). Several speeches from the ship's officers and music by Harry Reser's orchestra will be included in the hour.

Typical of the supposed state of health of that community, the call letters of the radio station at Battle Creek, Mich., are WELL.

Even with the aid of radio, the Weather Bureau is not yet ready to undertake forecast more than a week in advance. This was not possible until the advent of radio, but as to predicting the weather a month or two or six months in advance, the Weather Bureau authorities say that at the present time this is impracticable.

COCHRANE'S EXTRA-BASE HITTING BEATS NATS, 8-4

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

The Nats staged a stirring exhibition of baseball as it should not be played when they managed to lose to the Athletics yesterday, particularly in the second inning, when they made four straight singles without scoring a run.

◆

Failure to score on four clean hits to the outfield requires a lot of thought and deliberation, but the Nats succeeded in doing it with virtually no thinking at all.

◆

The Nats not only failed to score after making four clean singles, but when the fifth batter appeared there were two out, and nobody on third base. That's a trick.

◆

They can blame Al Schacht for sending Bluege home from second on Berg's short single to left, which Simmons fielded in deep short stop, but a third-base coach has considerable difficulty in signaling a runner to stop when that runner in rounding third with his head on his chest and looking at nothing but his shoetops.

◆

When better plays are made than Cronin's stop and throw on Cramer's shot through the box, Cronin will probably make them. The Nats' shortstop scrambled 3 feet on the far side of second base to spear the ball and make a back-hand flip to Myer for a forceout. It was grand larceny in the first degree with no mercy recommended.

◆

It looked as if Cronin was the team's defensive fullback in the first two innings. He had a hand in the first five putouts, all different chances. He made a force-out at second, a throw to first, caught a man at home, speared a liner and caught a popfly. Other than that he was disengaged.

◆

Outside of making a single, double, triple and homer, driving in four runs and scoring three runs himself, Mickey Cochrane wasn't in the ball game. The feature of the game occurred when he grounded to Kuhel in the ninth inning.

◆

Moe Berg and Ossie Bluege were debating the possibilities of a third party the while Dykes' high pot was descending over the infield, but Berg remembered that he was in the ball game in time to push Bluege out of the way and make the catch.

◆

Mickey Cochrane had no license to be trapped between the bases in the sixth when Simmons grounded to Cronin, but he only avoided being put out when Bluege's throw hit him on the elbow. It was a providential act for Cochrane.

◆

The Nats made fifteen hits to the Athletics' ten and were beaten. But it is explained by the fact that in the sixth inning when the Athletics had made seven hits they were good for five runs, while the Nats' eight safeties had netted only one tally. Or maybe it can't be explained.

◆

Vines Wins in Four Sets After Von Cramm Takes Opening Match in Upset

Shields in Poor Form in 7-5, 5-7, 6-4, 8-6 Defeat.

Vines Brilliant and Erratic; Doubles Listed Today.

By FRANK H. KING.

PARIS, July 22 (A.P.).—Ellsworth Vines, jr., United States and Wimbledon champion, today made a puzzling debut before the tennis fans of Paris as the United States and Germany broke even in their first day of play in the interzone final of Davis Cup competition.

Vines defeated Daniel Prenn, No. 1 of the German team, 6—3, 6—3, 0—6, 6—4, after Frank X. Shields had lost to Baron Gottfried von Cramm, 7—5, 5—7, 6—4, 8—6, but the American youngster's way of doing it sent the 5,000 spectators home wondering whether he was another Tilden or just another uncertain star like his teammate.

Vines' play, like that of Shields, was superb in spots, but did not compare with his play at Wimbledon, where he lost only two sets in winning the title. He lost nine straight games to the stolid Prenn and showed he could toss them off as rapidly as he could win them. His spotty play aroused fresh French hopes—they were becoming considerably wilted—for a successful defense of the historic cup next week-end.

No Alarm Shown By Vines.

During his losing streak Vines never evinced the slightest alarm, however, and slouched placidly about the court while Prenn passed him with persistent precision. The German veteran cleverly mixed his length and strength with a sound backhand and almost had the youngster against the wall when he won the first three games of the final set after sweeping the third. Vines pulled himself together to win, but he was worried toward the end.

If Vines was disappointing for part of his play, Shields was worse. His service was ineffective and his whole game was without coordination. Confidently improving as the match progressed, the German law student was the master throughout, his work at the net being consistently good, while his driving, cleverly masked in direction, never was solved by the American.

Shields Changes Style of Play.

After Shields had lost the first set and trailed 4—5 in the second Bernon S. Prentice, American Davis Cup captain, consulted with Shields, and he changed his style of play, rushed the net and won the set. But he lost his touch in the next set, after leading 4—2 and let the German player run off four straight games.

Prenn and Von Cramm were named by the German captain to carry the full burden of play and will meet John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, the favored American pair, in the doubles test tomorrow.

The Americans still are favored to win the series, but Vines will have a tough assignment in the stylish Von Cramm Sunday and Prenn looks definitely the superior of Shields unless the New Yorker can get his game under better control.

Henri Cochet, mainstay of the French team, was an interested spectator at the matches, particularly watching every move of Vines. He will carry the burden against either the United States or Germany next week-end, playing both singles and doubles, the latter with Jacques Brugnon.

LEGION GAMES SCHEDULED.

George Washington Post meets Lincoln Post today at 1 o'clock on the North Ellipse in the American Legion baseball series. Tomorrow Lincoln will oppose Bunker Hill Post at 1 o'clock and George Washington will play the leading Spengler nine. Both games will be staged on the West Ellipse.

Houghton Shoots 63, Nine Under Par

Pro Sets Kenwood Record; Has One Eagle and Seven Birdies.

Al Houghton, youthful Kenwood Club professional, continued his recent streak of brilliant golf yesterday by scoring a 63, nine under par, for a new Kenwood course record. Last Wednesday he came within one stroke of equaling a world's record for playing eighteen consecutive holes on a championship course without taking at least one five.

Playing yesterday with C. Powell Grady, Prof. Selden M. Ely, M. E. Irwin and John Shory, Houghton broke the course record of 66 held by himself and Reds Cunningham, of Burning Tree, while also shattering another record and equaling a third. He clipped one stroke from the outgoing nine holes standard with a 30 and equaled the incoming nine record of 33. He had one eagle and seven birdies. His card:

C., vs. Jack Castle, Buffalo, N. Y.; Phil Brain, Minneapolis, vs. Bruce Barnes, Austin, Tex.; John Cardegna, Ardsley, N. Y., vs. Julius Boise, Sewickley, Pa.; Paul Bennett, Evanston, Ill., vs. Hans Nusselein, Germany.

Brazilians Bring Coffee To Pay Olympic Fare

It was understood the Brazilians were almost without funds, pending the sale of 50,000 bags of coffee in the hold of the S. S. Itaquice, auxiliary ship of the Brazilian navy.

The vessel carried a party of 180, including 69 athletes and 10 officials and newspapermen.

Among the Brazilian athletes were 12 men swimmers, 1 woman swimming star; 15 oarsmen, 28 track and field performers, and 6 water polo players. The leading star of the delegation is Jose Xavier de Almeida, sprinter.

MILLER BOYS PUBLIC GOLF FINALISTS

By S. V. STILES.

SHAWNEE GOLF COURSE, Louisville, Ky., July 22 (A.P.).—The national public links golf championship will go to a lad named Miller, who has just trimmed 21, but whether it will be Chicago's stocky, black-haired Pete Miller, or Jacksonville's slender freckle-faced blond, R. L. Miller, remains to be told after 36 grueling holes tomorrow.

The Jacksonville Miller, native of Nashville, Ga., whose father is a night watchman in a shipyard and who himself worked in a bakery until the depression cost him his job, ousted Al Campbell of Seattle, Wash., 3 and 2.

Pete Miller downed Joe Nichols, medalist, in the morning round today and his seven years of golfing experience among Chicago's younger golfers and the fact he won the Chicago city title three years ago gave him an edge in the final match.

It is Pete Miller's first try at the national title. The Floridan, however, went to St. Louis in 1929 and to Philadelphia in 1928, but failed by one stroke to qualify in either. He was runner up this year in the Jacksonville city tournament. He has played steady golf here, however, and downed Oliver C. Sleppy in the third round today to get a place in the semifinals.

Illness Is Causing Moriarty to Idle

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—Umpire George Moriarty is suffering from intestinal trouble and not from bruises suffered in his free-for-all battle with the Chicago White Sox, American League officials said today in commenting on a report from Washington.

"Mr. Moriarty was stricken while lecturihg last winter and his physician suggested an operation for appendicitis," he said, "but he refused to undergo one. When he was forced to quit umpiring in his last game, he gave intestinal trouble as his illness."

The Washington dispatch said that Moriarty was secluded in a hotel in the Capital, where he conferred with League President William Harridge two days ago. Mr. Harridge said that he found Moriarty in a highly nervous state and in no condition to umpire at present.

LEONARD, LOAFING, WINS.

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—After being three times warned by the referee to show some life or run the risk of being disqualified, Benny Leonard, of New York, the long-time retired lightweight champion, finally punched out a ten-round decision over Eddie Shapiro, of New York, tonight at Coney Island Stadium.

Leonard weighed 153; Shapiro, 147.

Striking Netmen Withdraw After Seabright Ultimatum

NEW YORK, July 22 (A.P.).—The first organized tennis "strike" in the history of the game in the United States was declared today as thirteen tennis players, including three of the ten ranking stars of the country, withdrew from the Seabright tournament, one of the fixtures of the season in the East.

The players, headed by Berkeley Bell, Clifford Sutter and Keith Gledhill, had demanded that the club drop its rule of withdrawing club privileges as soon as a player was eliminated from the tournament. The demand met with a flat refusal from Hooker Talcott, tournament chairman.

"We respectfully withdraw from your tournament," the players wired back, when they received the club answer.

The "strikers" now are playing in the Crescent-Hamilton tournament at Huntington, Long Island, and just what they would do next week had not been decided. The Seabright tournament opens Monday. There was a report that a small Eastern club would transfer its tournament date from mid-August to next week and the players themselves were talking of going to Ottawa to play in the Canadian championships, beginning Monday.

The withdrawal of the thirteen leaves Seabright with only Sidney B. Wood, jr., as a headliner in men's play. Heretofore it has been one of the big tournaments of the East, Ellsworth Vines, jr., national and Wimbledon titlist, winning the final last year. Most of the ranking women players, with the exception of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, will play.

Those who joined with Bell, Sutter and Gledhill, the three "first ten" players, were W. J. (Junior) Coen, jr., Joseph Coughlin, Henry Culley, J. Gilbert Hall, Jake Hess, David Jones, Dr. Eugene McCauliff, Richard Murphy, Julius Seligson and Bryan Grant.

Fritz Mercur, one of the original insurgents, had accepted an invitation to play at Ottawa and, therefore, did not sign the last telegram, while Jerry Lang, who also was in sympathy with the movement, was prevented by business from considering a Seabright entry.

Influx Marks Olympics Scene

Switzerland, Brazil, U. S. Athletes Are Latest on Scene.

LOS ANGELES, July 22 (A.P.).—The incessant tramp of the world's greatest athletes marching toward the tenth Olympic games continued today, swelling the number of total competitors in training here to approximately the 1,500 mark.

America, Brazil and Switzerland were represented in the delegation of more than a hundred athletes whose names in a few short days may be spoken in every language as the cosmopolitan contests get under way, July 30 to August 14.

Brazil's was the largest contingent of the day, consisting of 69 athletes, who put into Los Angeles harbor aboard the Itaquice, an auxiliary ship of the Brazilian navy.

Mildred "Babe" Didrikson was the ringleader of the party of sixteen women track and field stars which followed closely on the heels of the main American delegation that arrived yesterday.

Miss Didrickson Says "Call Me Tex."

The girls were full of pep, bursting forth into song as they climbed from the train with the old strains of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," and others.

"What events do you plan to compete in, Miss Didrikson?" the girl star from Texas was asked. "Call me Tex," was her comeback, "and I'll compete in as many as they will let me. How about four, coach?"

Count Henri de Baillet-Latour, of Belgium, president of the International Olympic Federation, also arrived today, saying he found interest in the games "growing steadily."

U. S. Olympic Expense Fund Donations Short

With the greater share of the United States team of more than 300 athletes already in training here for the international games July 30 to August 14, Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, stated the "expense fund of the team —$350,000—is far short of achievement."

"Eastern apathy has checked our success in securing the needed fund," he said in calling upon the "public-spirited generosity of the leaders of Los Angeles" to correct the situation.

"Where we received approximately $100,000 in the metropolitan area for the last games," he added, "we have collected only some $5,000 this year."

While Brundage did not say how much money had been collected, information from reliable sources was that only about a third of the fund was in the coffers of the American Olympic committee.

Distance Swimming Races Planned Here

With a view to developing local swimmers for competition in long-distance events the Washington Canoe Club plans to conduct championship races over the 440 and 880 yards and mile distances, it was announced yesterday. The races will be at two week intervals, with the first one scheduled for July 31, and will be sanctioned by the District A. A. U.

The 440-yard swim will be contested July 31, and the 880-yard event has been scheduled for August 14. The one-mile race will be held August 28, the day on which the 3-mile President's Cup race will also be staged. The latter is over a triangular course. It has been pointed out that since the inauguration of the cup race several years ago, no local swimmer has won the coveted trophy, nor has a local team won the team trophy. Entries for the above races should be mailed to Howard H. Ruppart, Washington Canoe Club, 3800 K street northwest. They will be accepted until two days before each event.

CUBS BEATEN BY LEADING BUCS, 3-1

Pirates Bunch Hits to Increase Margin to 3 1-2 Games.

PITTSBURGH, July 22 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs were beaten back today in their first attack of the important "first place" series, Pittsburgh increasing its lead to 3½ games with a 3-to-1 victory. Steve Swetonic was nicked for 10 safeties, but he kept them well scattered to register his eleventh win of the season.

Pittsburgh bunchd four of the ten hits off Pat Malone to score all their runs in the second inning. Barbee started the uprising with a single and he made third when Gus Suhr cracked a double. Both runners scored on Tony Piet's two-bagger and after two were retired Swetonic scored Piet with an infield single.

Nats Make Four Hits Off Walberg in 2d, Fail to Score.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

LED by Mickey Cochrane, who cracked out four hits, including his fifteenth homer of the year, a triple and a double, the Athletics yesterday defeated the Nationals, 8 to 4. The fact that the Mackmen won with the need of but 10 hits, while the Nationals were credited with 15 and yet scored but four times, should give John Hix an idea for a "Strange as It Seems" cartoon; indeed the Nats' second round surely deserves mention under this caption.

The first four batters to face George (Rube) Walberg in the second inning, greeted him with outfield singles and yet by the time the fifth batter of the inning went to the tee none had scored and two were out.

West led off with a single and was caught heading for second when the hit-and-run, with Bluege up, failed. Then Bluege singled, took second on a single off Berg's bat, and was nipped at the plate when he tried to advance two bases on Crowder's liner one-shot to left. Then Kuhel fanned and Walberg settled down and had no troubles thereafter. True, the Nats knicked his offerings for five hits and three runs in the eighth, but he was enjoying a seven-run lead when this rally started and so had no cause to worry.

LLANDAFF NEVER HEADED IN ARLINGTON PARK FEATURE

Coe Juvenile Romps Home In Gallop

Gloritone, Choice, Is Beaten 2 Lengths; Metaurus Third.

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 22 (A.P.).—Given a smart ride by Bobby Jones and with the track to his liking, W. R. Coe's Llandaff romped off with the winner's share of the $4,280 Highland Park Purse at Arlington Park today.

Jones had the Coe 2-year-old out in front from the start and made every post a winning one, covering the 5½ furlongs in 1:08 3-5. Gloritone, the favorite, landed second, 2½ lengths behind, with Metaurus third.

Llandaff paid $11.26 to win, and raced with Pompoleon as an entry. Victory was worth $3,430 to Owner Coe.

Baggage Miss Leads Latonia Juveniles.

Latonia, Ky., July 22 (A.P.).—Mrs. William Crump's Baggage Miss, one of the real bargains of the fall sales at Lexington last year, showed a sparkling performance to lead home a good band of 2-year-olds in today's feature attraction, the Fort Hill Purse. Following the daughter of Bagenbaggage to the wire were Dixiana's Pre War and the Serenata Farm Stable's Chuck B.

Ties Mark Competition In Women's Tourney

The nine and eighteen hole tournaments played by District women golfers for the benefit of the Army Relief Society yesterday at Army and Navy County Club were generally indecisive. There was a tie for second low net in the nine-hole event, while in the longer tourney three players tied for low gross honors and two tied for low net.

Mrs. C. K. Wing, of Army and Navy, won the nine-hole low net prize with a score of 51. Mrs. Purdon and Mrs. Anderson tied for second low net with 49s. In the eighteen-hole affair the three-way deadlock at 86 for low gross numbered Mrs. L. H. Hedrick and Mrs. W. Noyes, of Army and Navy, and Mrs. L. Brownell, of Indian Spring. The last two mentioned tied for low net at 74.

All of the ties will be played off next Friday morning on the same course.

LEAGUE GAMES SHIFTED.

Two games scheduled in the Capital City League tomorrow have been shifted to diamonds other than those announced yesterday. The Dor-A and Koontz Service senior teams, originally scheduled to play at Magruder Park at 3 o'clock, will play on diamond No. 10 at 1 p. m. The Dor-A and Southwest Merchants game, in the junior division, scheduled on No. 10 at 1 o'clock, has been shifted to Magruder Park at 3 o'clock.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

Asbestos lost two bucks yesterday and the bank roll is $56.36. Today he is risking $6 on four long shots.

TODAY'S BETS:

Lewis Promised Battle by McLeod

Anything but a set-up will be offered Ed ("Strangler") Lewis Monday night when he engages colorful George McLeod in the main event of Bolling Field's open-air "rassle" show. Two of three falls decide the match.

One of the few men to have tossed big Jim Browning, the big Iowan, also has upset the late Stanley Stasiak, Dr. Karl Sarpolis and John Frieberg. Too, he has wrestled to a draw with Marin Plestina.

Anything but a rough-house despite his recent disqualification for allegedly strangling Dick Shikat, McLeod specializes in leg work and a flying head scissors.

In the main 45-minute supporting feature Billy Bartush comes back against Frank Speer. Joe Devito is routed 30 minutes against Glenn Munn, while 20-minute shots offer "Bull" Komar vs. the "Masked Marvel," George Calza vs. Fazal and George Manich vs. Arthur Dick.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: ARLINGTON PARK, CHICAGO, JULY 22.

Oaten cane near making us all rich today. This special that I dug up could only place, but paid better than 10-1 for second, which is considerable odds. However, Jazz Age and Unencumbered turned the trick for me here while Nahunta won for the same good fellow at Empire City. My picks figured in a lot of scratches and I had my usual gang in the money. That's as close as I can come to bragging.

If you feel so inclined, these appear to be fair betting propositions elsewhere: Indiantown, O'Connell, Depression, Mary Marvin, Son o' Sweep.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—FLYING HOME flew out of the maiden ranks the other day and I believe this one has an even better performance up his sleeve. Has other money races that point to a good effort in this field. ON SIR, a fairly consistent one, should take it all if the top fellow goes amiss. SEVEN VEILS for the show.

SECOND RACE—BARN SWALLOW, E. R. Bradley's daughter of Black Servant and Blue Warbler, is a standout in this battle of juveniles. CARRY THE NEWS is my second choice to turn back IDEALIST.

THIRD RACE—KNEE HIGH not only likes a slow track, but gets in this with only 97 pounds. Coucci will ride and I see no reason why this one can not take a set of brackets. SOPHIST to beat GAY PARTY for the second money.

FOURTH RACE—CON AMORE is at the peak and I'm going right back to this one for a winner. FINITE looks like a solid second horse. EPITHET carries a load and may be the third one.

FIFTH RACE—Keep this one quiet. DIS DAT should be played across the board. There has been a rumor to the effect that this one is strictly a sprinter. Forget that and get down. FLAG TRICK and FAIRBYPAIR to battle for the place award.

SIXTH RACE—I'll probably get shot for naming TRED AVON on the top of this heap. I'm taking the risk. This Labrot gal showed a lot of speed early in the spring; went way back as Maryland was closing an' then found her racing legs again in this region. Watch her today.

EQUIPOISE would be a kick in the slats at even weights, but I think there's a limit to the great Whitney star's carrying ability and 134 pounds seems to be it. GUSTO, the dangerous, for third.

SEVENTH RACE—GABBO appears to be the No. 1 animal in this test. Can't see anything else. LADRONE is in snappy form and should be second ahead of PING COATES.

EIGHTH RACE — CHOSEN PAL again. Can't believe this fellow has forgotten how to charge in the stretch. The price should be satisfying to all concerned and the route is right. CHICON and FLYING for the rest.

Stocks Continue Advance As Rail Prices Recover

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—Security and commodity markets profited by the new urge to speculate for the advance today, the result being a rather general rise in prices.

Railroad stocks and bonds quite naturally assumed leadership on the stock exchange, for Wall street was attracted by approval of the Eastern trunk line merger plan by the Interstate Commerce Commission even if actual consummation may be some distance away. Oils also made a bid for favor.

Shares closed somewhat under the best, with net gains of a point or so fairly plentiful. It was the most active session since early June, when the market responded to announcement of the Security-Buying Corporation sponsored by leading banks, and the net advance, averaging about a point, pushed prices virtually back to the top of that rally. Sales totaled 1,444,905 shares.

Rail stocks were hardly buoyant. Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio and Delaware & Hudson stocks forged ahead a point or two before meeting much opposition; some preferred equities in the transportation division did considerably better.

On the strength of this showing short covering appeared elsewhere, giving maximum boosts of 2 to 3 points to American Telephone, U. S. Steel preferred, Peoples Gas and Auburn.

Steel common, American Can, General Electric, Union Carbide, Dupont, Atlantic Refining, Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Woolworth, Consolidated Gas and North American were up from a fraction to a point net.

Reports compiled by the weekly mercantile reviews were more encouraging than otherwise. Appreciation in live stock prices is helping the agricultural districts of the Middle West, and although other sections are struggling against midsummer dullness retail trade, in Bradstreet's opinion, is holding its own "in a relatively satisfactory manner." Dun's said the seasonal lull has been "far less noticeable than in former years," due to the depletion of stocks.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Fri.	Thurs.
Number of advances	418	362
Number of declines	81	80
Stocks unchanged	99	105
Total issues traded	098	547

Stocks.

Speculative demand, stimulated by rail merger, sent prices higher in a 1,444,905-share sale. Gains were widely distributed and trading was cheerful.

Bonds.

Rail loans led a general advance. The former rise of eight-tenths of a point was repeated. Germans improved and Federal issues were higher.

Curb.

Wheat.

Rumor of Eastern buying pool sent price up and improved tone of market. British nonpreference for Canadian wheat also stimulated bullish speculation.

Cotton.

Better grain situation and rises in other markets pushed cotton up 9 to 10 points. October closed at 5.83.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Further investment buying on the stock exchange caused silt-edged securities, German bonds, transatlantic issues and gold mine shares to improve. Home rails benefited on the Southern dividend. The close was steady.

Paris—The improved New York tone, coupled with speculative purchases, led a brisk rally in all sections on the bourse with the exception of French rentes. The rise in commodities was checked on reports of a disagreement at the Paris conference. The closing was steady.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse fluctuated throughout the session, closing irregular with losses not exceeding 1¼ points.

NORTHEAST BUILDING MARKS PROSPERITY

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A successful business year was reported yesterday by officials of Northeast Building Association, following the annual meeting of stockholders. All officers and directors were reelected, James L. Sherwood being reelected president of the association for a seventeenth consecutive term. Mr. Sherwood is a vice president of the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. in charge of that institution's Brookland branch.

Other officers reelected are: John L. Knopp, first vice president; Henry C. Althoff, second vice president; Schuyler S. Symons, secretary; Frank M. Hatley, treasurer; James E. Payne, assistant treasurer; J. A. Openshaw, assistant secretary; William S. Torbert, counsel.

Directors reelected are: Henry C. Althoff, L. L. Anderson, Julian P. Belfield, R. John Boehs, N. T. Chaconas, Allen E. Cowles, A. L. Foster, T. A. Gillis, Frank M. Hatley, Thomas P. Hickman, Alfred Jeffery, John L. Knopp, J. A. Openshaw, James E. Payne, John B. Rubino, James L. Sherwood, James L. Sherwood, jr., Roy L. Swenson, Schuyler S. Symons, William S. Torbert, N. J. Ward.

Don Sutherland, of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., has just been announced the winner of a successful contest conducted by the Washington agency. A. L. Baldwin, the general agent, reports that the agency wrote more lives during the ten weeks of this contest than were written during a like period last year. F. George Clendaniel, Morton H. Wilner and E. Nesbitt Wright were announced as winners of the second, third and fourth awards, respectively.

These men are leaving Washington with their general agent to attend the annual company convention, held in Milwaukee, July 25, 26 and 27. Others from the same office attending the convention are Wallace Hatch, Carl Smith Dow, P. L. Baldwin, Frank Eliot, F. T. Kirk, A. H. Jackman and Francis L. Smoot, jr. This represents, according to Mr. Baldwin, the largest group that has ever attended the convention from this office.

U.S. Live Stock Competition Charges Being Investigated

Kansas City, July 22 (A.P.).—Complaints from live stock interests of governmental competition with private business were heard today by the House investigating committee, headed by Representative Joseph B. Shannon, of Missouri.

George S. Hovey, president of the Interstate National Bank, asserted his belief that the Government is gradually eliminating all privately conducted loan companies.

"Do you think American agriculture can borrow itself out of the depression?" asked Representative S. B. Pettingill, of Indiana, member of the committee.

"I do not," said the witness. "Cheap money is simply a stay of execution."

Fred H. Olander, live stock commission man, protested that the agricultural marketing act was definitely committed to the elimination of private business at the stock yards.

John Hauter, cattle buyer from Taskilwa, Ill., said:

"Abraham Lincoln gave his life to free the slaves, but now the Government is trying to make slaves of the live stock men."

BONDS CLIMB HIGHER AS RAILS POINT WAY

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—The bond market took a ride on the railroads today and the excursion proved profitable for all concerned.

Encouraged by the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval of a proposed consolidation of Eastern roads, carrier loans raised their prices in early trading and, despite some later profit taking, the majority held substantial gains at the close. The industrials were not far behind the rails in popularity and the utilities more than held their own.

While there was some diversity of opinion among railroad leaders as to whether the consolidation plan was practical at this time, the financial district was inclined to take the optimistic view. Gains of from 1 to around 4 or more points were recorded by most of the active carriers.

Industrials were led by the oils, issues of Pure Oil, Shell Union, Sinclair, Skelly and Texas Corporation scoring substantial advances. Loans of International Telephone were heavily traded for net advances of more than a point and issues of American Telephone and Postal Telegraph steadied.

Sales totaled $11,395,000 and the average for 60 corporate securities gained eight-tenths of a point.

CURB JOINS ADVANCE OF OTHER MARKETS

Turnover Is 110,000 Shares in Brisk Trading; Oils Move Higher.

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—The curb market pushed forward with some briskness at times today, with oils and utilities in the lead. Trading quickened a little, with a turnover of 110,000 shares.

Oils moved up in sympathy with big board issues, where the move was largely based on a favorable second quarter report by Atlantic Refining. Standard of Indiana rose ½ point to 20, a new high for 1932, but closed at 19¾. Standard of Kentucky and Indian Territory "A" rose about a point, and Humble 1¾.

In the utilities, 4-point gains in Columbia Gas and American Gas & Electric preferred issues were conspicuous. Commonwealth Edison pushed up 2 points. Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates, and Eastern Utilities Associates, two lightly traded issues, rose 1 and 1¾, respectively. There was a sale of Central & Southwest Utilities prior lien shares, however, at 14, a new low, in contrast to its previous bottom of 55.

New Jersey Zinc ran up 5 points to 30, the best price of the year, and closed at 28½. Aluminum Co. which shot up some 10 points yesterday, reacted 3½ in realizing.

In the investment trusts, there was a sale of American Founders at ⅜, or 37½ cents.

WHEAT POOL RUMOR SENDS PRICE HIGHER

Nonpreference Agreement on Canada's Yield Also Aids Market.

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—Broadened speculative demand and reports of the formation of an Eastern wheat-buying pool forced grain prices higher today.

Agreement of British and Canadian governments that no preference be given Canadian wheat in United Kingdom market had a bullish effect. Augmented purchasing was ascribed to recent advances in securities, sugar and live stock and to reports that Government-financed holdings of domestic wheat were losing effect as a market influence.

Wheat closed firm, ¾ to 1⅝ above yesterday's finish; corn ½ to ⅞ up, oats at a shade to ¼ to ⅜; grain and provisions showing a rise of 12 to 17 cents.

Reports that the United States corn crop was in a critical condition added to bullish sentiment. Growth of corn has been splendid, but one crop expert said dry weather had checked improvement.

Oats and rye were affected mainly by action of other grains. Provisions responded to upturns of hog values.

Wall Street Again Backs Holding Company Rights

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—Wall street is experiencing a series of attacks on that popular form of corporate control which came into full flower in 1929—the holding company.

The financial district is traditionally opposed to Government control, and if there is any inclination to approve a limited degree of restrictions upon holding companies at this time, it is due to a feeling that it might help to restore public confidence in securities.

Bankers in the main, say it is all a matter of management, that a holding company improperly managed will come to grief, just like any other company.

Wall street bankers almost unanimously insist the holding company is an old and tried form of corporate structure, and is an effective, efficient and generally beneficial means of controlling, operating and financing groups of enterprises.

COTTON PRICE RISES ON TRADE'S BUYING

October Sells Up to 5.83; Market Aided by Grain; Liverpool Covers.

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—Cotton was higher today on trade buying and covering which was stimulated by firmness in the grain and stock markets.

October contracts advanced to 5.87, or 14 points above yesterday's closing qquotations, and closed at 5.83, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 9 to 10 points.

Later covering became more active and while the advance met a little more cotton, the best prices were reached in the late trading. December sold up to 6.02, with active months generally showing net gains of 11 to 14 points, closing at reactions of 3 or 4 points from these figures under realizing.

A few additional notices were issued against July contracts, representing about 2,000 bales. Selling of early new crop positions through brokers recently credited with selling October and December more or less persistently was in evidence again during today's trading.

Liverpool cables reported covering and trade calling, absorbing liquidation in that market and said the demand for cotton cloth from India was sustained with yarns improving. Exports today, 6,883, making 8,669,693 so far this season.

INCOME LOSS MADE BY GENERAL MOTORS

Net Drops to $5,326,377, Compared With '31 Gain of $55,122,767.

New York, July 22 (A.P.).—The General Motors Corporation today reported net earnings of $5,326,377 for the quarter ended June 30, Against $55,122,767 for the same period last year. These earnings include equities in undivided profits or losses of subsidiary or affiliated companies not consolidated.

After preferred dividends there was a balance of $2,982,189 for the common stock which was equivalent to 7 cents a share against $1.22 in the second quarter of 1931.

For the first half year, the company's net earnings were $15,019,404 against $84,122,176 in the first half of 1931, equivalent after preferred dividends to 25 cents a share on the common, against $1.83 for the corresponding 1931 period.

Record Since 1925.

Second quarter earnings this year marked the first time since 1925 that they have fallen below first quarter earnings when, normally, the automobile buying movement is at its height. General Motors was apparently helped in the first quarter of this year by the delayed production of the Ford Motor Co.

Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of the corporation, said that "cash, U. S. Government and other marketable securities at June 30, 1932, amounted to $215,897,767, compared with $205,-029,119 at December 31, 1931, and $245,856,668 at June 30, 1931.

202,060 Cars Delivered.

In the second quarter, he said, 202,-060 cars were delivered by dealers to consumers, compared with 361,683 in the corresponding quarter of 1931. For the six months ended June 30, 345,574 cars were delivered to consumers over-sales to customers resulted in a decrease of 26,613 cars in dealers' stocks in the United States during the second quarter, Mr. Sloan added.

For the six months, the decrease in dealers' stocks amounted to 3,823 cars, indicating that the surplus of shipments to dealers over their sales to consumers in the first quarter was more than wiped out in the second quarter.

The decrease of 3,823 cars in dealers' stocks for the first six months contrasted with an increase of 32,110 cars in their stocks during the first half of 1931.

St. Louis, San Francisco Railway today reported net loss of $5,758,460 for the first half of 1932, compared with loss of $1,024,507 in the same period of 1931. June loss was $971,-495 against loss of $37,102 a year ago.

Johns-Manville Corporation reports a deficit for the half-year ended June 30 of $1,514,878, contrasted with net profit of $945,768, or 91 cents a common share in the same period of last year. Second quarter loss was $602,270. Net sales for the second quarter were $5,129,625 against $4,-604,192 in the first.

Allis Chalmers Co. had net loss of $869,503 for the second quarter against net profit of $523,254 in the same quarter last year. For the six months ended June 30, net loss was $1,805,898 against net profit of $1,-006,061 a year ago.

Montgomery Ward Loses.

Chicago, July 22 (A.P.).—Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc., today announced operations for the six-month period ended June 30 resulted in a loss of $3,267,735, compared with a $1,375,968 loss during the same period in 1931.

RAMON'S.
CERTIFICATE OF LIMITED PARTNERSHIP.
(Limited Partnership, No. 793.)

We, the undersigned, do hereby certify that we have formed a limited partnership for the transaction of a delicatessen and lunch room business under the firm name of "RAMON'S" at 1341 Connecticut avenue, in the City of Washington, in the District of Columbia, and we do further certify as follows:

1. The name under which said partnership business is to be conducted is "RAMON'S."

2. The name of the business to be conducted by said partnership is a delicatessen and lunch room business.

3. The names of the general partners are Albert F. Sturm and Ramon Bayasa. The names of the special partners are John F. Claggett, Edward S. Hull and William B. Ristig.

4. Each of the special partners hereinbefore mentioned has contributed the sum of six hundred dollars ($600) to the firm capital, a total of one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1,800).

5. The partnership shall begin on June 23, 1932, and continue for a period of five years thereafter, unless sooner dissolved by mutual agreement between the parties hereto.

In testimony whereof the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals, this 23th day of June, A. D. 1932.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

WHEN the giant United States Navy airship, the Akron, leaves the ground she carries with her more than 72,000 pounds of helium gas. This amounts to about one-fourth of the total weight of the ship when the bags are inflated. Her dead weight is 221,000 pounds. The gas capacity of the Akron is 6,500,000 cubic feet, which, at .01115 pounds per cubic foot as the weight of helium, amounts to 72,475 pounds. It is no miraculous power of helium that causes the ship to rise. It is simply because the weight of the helium is not as great as the air it displaces. The 6,500,000 cubic feet of helium, weighing approximately 72,000 pounds, displaces about 500,000 pounds of air. The difference between the weight of the helium and the weight of the air it displaces is, in theory, the lift of the dirigible. The gross lift, contruction engineers assert, is in fact 403,000 pounds.

G. W. U. HEAD DENIES PERSONNEL SHAKEUP

Dr. Marvin Declares Only Three Faculty Members Have Resigned.

There has been no change in policy at the George Washington University Medical School and none is contemplated, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the university, said last night in denying published reports of wholesale resignations and dismissals.

The report said that 70 members of the faculty would complete their work this year because many of them objected to a proposal to ask $2,000,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation this fall and to place most of the school's emphasis on research work.

Dr. Marvin emphatically declared that the school has not asked the foundation for any money and that there was no expectancy of requesting any.

On the other hand, he said, the school has appropriated $150,000 of its own funds for use in adding to the medical school laboratories and materials, and that this work would be undertaken in addition to and for the strengthening of the regular teaching work of the school, which will not be curtailed in any way.

The normal staff of the school in the past has fluctuated between 150 and 200, he said. Many of these staff members were on annual appointment and on an honorary basis, and received no pay for their work.

This year it was decided to place every member of the staff on a salary or an honorarium basis, and as a result some of the annual honorary appointments were not made.

Buzzards Point Name Is Termed Undignified

With the development of Buzzards Point into an industrial area the possibility has arisen that it will be given a more dignified name.

The coordinating committee of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission will consider suggested names at their next meeting, Capt. E. N. Chisolm, jr., engineer of the commission will suggest Carrollsburg. Capt. Chisolm explained that in 1870 Charles Carroll, jr., started a subdivision there, the section being known as Carrollsburg.

Man in Alleged Liquor Death Car Held for Jury

Charged with violating the smoke screen law, transportation of liquor and joyriding, William Waite, colored, 24 years old, yesterday was bound over by the Police Court for action of the grand jury under a bond of $10,000.

He is alleged to have been in the liquor-laden automobile that burned up after it had crashed into a tree on Michigan avenue, killing Eddie Brown, also colored. The crash climaxed a wild chase by police.

Marriage of Capital Girl To Student in 1930 Bared

Mrs. John E. Gormley Was Margaret Connor, of G. W. University.

Perhaps a woman can not keep a secret, but there are arguments against this belief.

Yesterday friends of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Connor, former George Washington University student, learned, much to their surprise, that she was Mrs. John Edwards Gormley, and had been for more than a year and a half.

Her marriage was formally announced by her sister, Mrs. J. Allen McNeal. It took place in St. Anne's Church at Annapolis, Md., on December 27, 1930.

Mrs. Gormley is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George W. Connor. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

Mr. Gormley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gormley. He is a senior at National University Law School, a member of the Washington Board of Trade and treasurer of the Washingtonians. He and his bride are making their home at the Knowlton Apartments, 2227 Twentieth street northwest.

POOL POST EXPOSED IS ORDERED CLEANED

Dr. Reichelderfer Asserts Stagnant Water Unsightly if Not Perilous.

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, yesterday instructed the District engineer department to clean up a stagnant pool, exposed yesterday by The Post in a photograph as being dangerously close to the District Health School at Fourteenth and Upshur streets northwest.

"There's nothing alarming about it," he said, "but I have ordered it cleaned up."

Health Officer William C. Fowler had considered it sufficiently unsavory four months ago to request the engineer department to do something about it as the land is owned by the District government. Until a few days ago he thought the matter had been attended to.

Since oil had been sprinkled on the water a few days ago, he said, the pool did not endanger the public health, but he declared that it was certainly unsightly.

Man Sent to Hospital After Fight in Street

King Richardson, 40, of 5704 Fourth street northwest, said by police to be connected with a motor car company, was reported to be in an undetermined condition after a fight in front of 1929 M street northwest. His alleged assailant, John L. Sullivan, also said to be an employe of the firm, was still at large early today.

The fight is said to have started inside the garage shortly before closing time. It was stopped by members of the firm, but started again as the two men left the building.

Police to Check Unlicensed Cabs

1,400 Have Not Paid New Fee, Traffic Bureau Estimates.

Estimating that about 1,400 cab owners have not applied for licenses, Inspector E. W. Brown, assistant superintendent of police, yesterday ordered Traffic Bureau officers to check the applications for the new $25 license.

Owners of cabs who are operating the vehicles without having obtained the license will be prosecuted, Inspector Brown said. About a half-dozen cabs have been found operating without a license.

A number of the public vehicles have been removed from the streets to evade payment of the new fee, increasd from $9 to $25, and which requires a character deposit of $5 in addition.

Miss Henderson Ends 50 Years' U. S. Service

Miss Grace M. Henderson, an employe of the Internal Revenue Bureau for more than 50 years, retired Thursday after serving continuously since 1882. She was the first woman to operate a typewriter in the bureau.

Car of Curtis Tagged While He Sees Movie

While Vice President Curtis was learning about Washington politics by watching the picture, "Washington Masquerade," at Loew's Palace last night, his chauffeur was learning about Capital law.

Policeman C. E. Hansboro, of the Traffic Bureau, patrolling his F street beat, discovered two automobiles parked on the south side, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth, directly in front of a large sign which read "No parking at any time."

Out came Hansboro's book of tickets. After a moment of scribbling one ticket was placed on the steering wheel of the Vice President's car bearing tag DC-111, while the other was handed to the chauffeur of car bearing tag DC-206, one of the series devoted to members of the Diplomatic Corps.

The chauffeur accepted his rather ungraciously, but the Vice President's driver was so busy rescuing his passengers from sidewalk admirers that his reactions to the ticket were not recorded. Mr. Curtis was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gann.

The F street crowd was divided in sentiment, half cheering Hansboro for handing out the tickets, the other half somewhat dubious about the procedure.

CURTIS WILL SPEAK AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Vice President Curtis will deliver an address today at the presentation of the regimental colors to the cadets of the National Training School for Boys on Bladensburg road near the District line.

The program, including a parade of the cadets, will start at 2 o'clock with a baseball game between the training school nine and the Bunker Hill team, of the American Legion League.

The colors will be presented to the cadets by F. G. Fraser, department commander of the American Legion. The cadets will be reviewed by Maj. S. B. Hewitt and the guests of honor.

Besides the Vice President the list of speakers includes D. J. Callahan, member of the board of trustees; James F. Kehoe, Judge Robert Mattingly, Isaac Gans and Col. Claude D. Jones, superintendent of the institution.

Prisoner, 32, Hangs Himself in Station

Body of Man Booked for Drunkenness Found in Cell.

A prisoner, Archie Bruce Adkins, 32, being held on a charge of drunkenness, hanged himself in his cell at the Fourth Precinct station last night. His address was given as 708 K street northwest.

Adkins had been arrested at 2:35 p. m. by Private J. G. Russell, detailed to the Twelfth and Water streets southwest market. Station Clerk John G. Middlethon, making the rounds of the station when he came on duty at midnight, found Adkins suspended by his shirt.

A Casualty Hospital ambulance was summoned and Dr. W. I. Lyles pronounced Adkins dead.

Policeman Shot by Pals Still in Serious State

Still in serious condition at Garfield Hospital, Policeman H. N. Lancaster, 39, of the Tenth Precinct, is recovering from the bullet wound through his body, suffered when he ran into the line of fire during a police chase after two colored men who had broken into a Georgia avenue drug store early Thursday.

Libel Charged in $50,000 Suit.

Alleging that he had been libeled by the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, Oliver V. Kessler, 1625 Monroe street northeast, yesterday instituted a $50,000 damage suit against the corporation in District Supreme Court.

Marcher Freed on Speech Charge.

John M. Walker, one of the leaders of Roy Robertson's "Death Marchers," was convicted yesterday of makihg a speech without a permit. When he explained that he is partially deaf and talks loudly because of that ailment, he was permitted to go free on his personal bond.

C. & P. SEEKS DELAY FOR RATE EVIDENCE

The telephone rate hearing was postponed again until 10 o'clock Monday morning by the Public Utilities Commission yesterday after another day devoted to cross-examination of commission witnesses by counsel for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. and the introduction of further evidence by William A. Roberts, special counsel of the utilities body.

A motion by R. A. Van Orsdel, counsel for the telephone company, that he be allowed 60 days for the preparation of a defense was taken under advisement until Monday, but the commission gave little indication that it would be granted.

B. M. Bachman, chief accountant for the commission, took the stand during the afternoon and offered testimony to show that the telephone company maintains too large funds for depreciation reserve and pensions and pays too much for equipment bought from the Western Electric Co., an affiliate of the Bell System.

A motion by Mr. Roberts that the telephone officials be required to bring in all records of their dealings with Western Electric was taken under advisement by the commission also. The motion was taken during the cross-examination of George F. Martin, commission accountant, who was questioned somewhat on the telephone company's purchases from Western Electric.

Mr. Martin also offered evidence to show that the wage scale used by Thomas R. Tate, valuation engineer, in his reproduction cost estimate was generous to the telephone company.

24,500 Face Fines On Personal Taxes

Assessor Warns Only Ten Days Remain to File Property Returns.

With only about ten days left, some 24,500 District residents face penalties for failure to file returns on personal property, Tax Assessor William P. Richards stated yesterday. Only about a third of those liable for the tax have filed returns since the first of the month.

The total of the tax as computed on the returns filed to date is $598,059, of which $195,497 is on tangible property and $195,497 is on intangible property. The average tax is only $44, or less than half of the $98 collected in the fiscal year 1932.

Tax Assessor Richards warned that he intends to enforce to the utmost the law in this particular, which provides for a penalty of 20 per cent for failure to make a return and an additional 1 per cent a month for delinquency in paying the tax.

Judge Gets Ink Shower As Woman Hurls Bottle

Police Court Judge Ralph Given was given an unexpected and unwanted "ink" bath yesterday in his courtroom when Frances Price, colored, angered at the testimony of an opposing witness, grabbed an ink well and threw it at the witness.

The ink spattered Judge Given, his bench, and the court records nearby, besides splashing over some spectators. For her trouble in throwing the well, the woman was given a $20 fine or 30 days. Also she was convicted of disorderly conduct and was fined an additonall $25 or 30 days. No one was hit by the missile.

Numbers on Radios Lead to 2 Arrests

Stolen Goods Discovered at Shop Where They Were Taken for Repair.

Cooperation by two merchants yesterday resulted in the recovery of a number of stolen radios and the arrest of two colored men in connection with the theft.

Entering the garage of Ristig, Inc., in the rear of 1408 H street northeast, thieves stole a number of sets, using one of the company's trucks to remove their loot.

Frank Cozens, manager of the radio repair department of Ollendorf & Hersch, 1002 Tenth street northwest, discovered that the serial numbers of sets brought in for repair Thursday were the same as those of the stolen sets. Cozens had two colored men, who left the sets, arrested and police recovered most of the loot.

Cigarettes Worth $68 Stolen.

Cigarettes valued at $68 were stolen from the rear of 463 I street northwest yesterday, it was reported to police by Herman Burba, manager of a tobacco firm of that address.

THE NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

LOEW'S FOX

"MADAME RACKETEER." Paramount picturization of a story by Malcolm Stuart Boylan, featuring Alison Skipworth and Richard Bennett, with George Raft and Evalyn Knapp. Directed by Alexander Hall. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Una Merkel, Anna May Wong and George Sidney, the three notables from California's film colony personifying "Hollywood on Parade," filled Loew's Fox almost to bursting with applause at yesterday afternoon's first performance. Each is presented in an individual specialty, the three joining hands only for a final bow.

Miss Merkel, tall, slender, blonde and charming, is first to appear. Her contribution to the gala stellar occasion, over and above a personality of such graciousness and warmth as to win instant friendliness and regard, is an airy bit of persiflage with Wesley Eddy, interrupted finally by Phil Lampkin and altogether, breezy and delightful as it is, not at all commensurate with her ample and ingratiating talents. Which is no matter, for Miss Merkel is that rare sort of person one instinctively likes, no matter what she says or does or whether she says or does anything.

Having indelibly indexed herself in the public mind as an exotic and seductive menace, it is a bit disconcerting to discover in Anna May Wong a character singing comedienne. Her offering consists principally in songs, sung in both Chinese and English, and a final character bit in the Vesta Tilley manner. Miss Wong is a thorough cosmopolite, who expresses her thanks for the audience's appreciation of her, in all the languages of the globe, excluding possibly the Scandinavian. A picturesque, poised and gifted artiste, Miss Wong, with a voice at times strongly reminiscent of Ethel Barrymore at the same age. Her turn is colorfully and stunningly costumed.

Perhaps the soundest hit of the three was scored by the veteran, George Sidney, but, if so, it was due, in large measure, to an elaborate and novel arrangement of material, utilizing both the screen and stage for its effect. Mr. Sidney is introduced by a clever film depicting his cross-country "triumph" en route to Washington and later acts a scene which is immediately reproduced in enlarged and amplified form on the silver sheet. A running fire of monologue interlards the act.

To run the measure over, Bill Trelaak and his boy and girl associates put on a nut act of purest ray serene; Gordon's Dogs amuse with their well-trained disobedience, Wesley Eddy appears in some excellent numbers, marred only by an ill-judged radio bit that was loud enough but should have been shorter and funnier, and Phil Lampkin puts his orchestra through its paces on the stage instead of in the pit as is customary.

"Madame Racketeer," the screen feature, is a distinctive jength of footage in which that estimable character actress, Alison Skipworth, enacts the role of a female Wallingford with devastating effect. On parole from prison, the "Countess" arranges the future of her surreptitious family in most fascinating and outrageous fashion. Foremost in her support are such admirable mimes as Richard Bennett, as her clandestine husband; Robert McWade, the village banker; George Raft, a fellow crook; J. Farrell MacDonald, the law; Evalyn Knapp and Gertrude Messinger, her daughters, and divers and sundry others. All very diverting and beautifully done.

METROPOLITAN

"THE MISLEADING LADY." Paramount picturization of the play by Charles W. Goddard and Paul Dickey, featuring Claudette Colbert, Edmund Lowe and Stuart Erwin. Directed by Stuart Walker. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

For real relaxation here is as nearly ideal a combination as might be desired: a brilliant comedy-drama of this modern age, presented by charming and capable cast; a short, but highly diverting, mystery story; a bit of sentimentalism in song, and a brief news—in short, a wee bit of quite a number of things, blended according to the best traditions of showmanship to satisfy all the demands for light summer entertainments.

"The Misleading Lady" is the tale of a quite modern miss who contrives to get a he-man, back from five years in South America, to propose in three days so that she may demonstrate her sirenic achievements and land a leading lady's job. All goes well until the apple cart is upset and the he-man literally drags the lady off to his secluded cabin and forthwith starts a taming process that would do credit to Petruchio.

The pert minx is Claudette Colbert and the shrew tamer is Edmund Lowe—and if you think he doesn't tame 'em, you're just plumb loco, that's all! A swell pair this, and nothing more need be said. Mention should, however, be made of Stuart Erwin, as the looney "Boney." Mr. Erwin does his Napoleon in great style, adding to his already enviable reputation among the screen's comedians.

The dash of ratiocination is "The Side Show Mystery," an S. S. Van Dyne detective yarn, which, while lacking somewhat in the show of deduction of other releases, is a satisfying divertissement, giving Donald Meek and John Hamilton their usual opportunity.

Ethel Merman, via a Screen Song, sings "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and Paramount reels the short news to complete a wholly satisfactory program.

"WASHINGTON MASQUERADE." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of the story by Henry Bernstein taken from the book, "The Claw," starring Lionel Barrymore with Karen Morley and Diana Sinclair. Directed by Charles Brabin. Reviewed Friday night by Dorothea Lewis.

Unmasking at the "Washington Masquerade," we find a great performance by the great Barrymore, the increasing beauty of Karen Morley, the new and delightful charm of little Miss Diane Sinclair and considerable of our very own local color, correct and incorrect.

It's hard to tell whether this story of a Midwestern patriotic, idealistic senator, who is caught in the snare of power trust lobbyists through the machinations of his traitorous wife, and sells out his constituents only to make superb restitution, is more—or less—interesting to us because we know so much of what it's all about. Certainly portions will tax your credulity.

At times, this motion picture version of "The Claw," which also starred Barrymore on the stage, seems overlong and a trifle tedious, at others it moves briskly and touchingly. Always it has interest. Whenever Barrymore is about, things are better than right, and his many speech-making opportunities are brilliantly handled, particularly the finale and the little private, heartbroken speech when he finds he has been duped by his wife. Although naturalness and humor characterize much of his performance, Barrymore is Barrymore some of the time this time. In "Grand Hotel" he was Kringelein and no one else, if you'll remember.

Karen Morley grows more beautiful, more cold-blooded and more skillful with every performance. Diane Sinclair, playing Barrymore's daughter, is a deft and attractive brunette, at times a trifle thick of speech, at others thoroughly understandable, and always dear. Nils Asther and William Collier, sr., fill brief roles.

Just to be technical about some of the local color, we question the authenticity of the press gallery interiors; the strange metamorphosis in the picture of a senator addressing the Senate one minute with the following shot, from another angle, disclosing what might possibly be a very crowded House of Representatives listening; the riotous applause of the galleries at Senator Barrymore's first speech; 10 o'clock closing time at Washington senatorial dinners, and the very silent handshake of the President at a White House reception. However, there is considerably more nicely done.

ZaSu Pitts, Thelma Todd, and an unidentified duck are convulsing in a comedy, "The Old Bull," and a newsreel completes the bill.

RKO-KEITH'S

"ROAR OF THE DRAGON." RKO-Radio picturization of the story, "Passage to Hongkong," by George Kibbe Turner, starring Richard Dix, with Gwili Andre, Edward Everett Horton and Arline Judge. Directed by Wesley Ruggles. Reviewed Friday night by Don B. Reed.

Richard Dix may have been in better pictures than "Roar of the Dragon," but he has seldom been in films which provide more action per foot. Here is a rip-roaring tale of Chinese banditry. Dix, in the role of the American captain of a Chinese river boat, has a part made to order for him and does full justice to it.

The picture also serves to introduce Gwili Andre to American audiences. Miss Andre, to these eyes, is a combination of Marlene Dietrich, Karen Morley and Ann Dvorak. But that probably isn't fair because Gwili has plenty in her own right to set male hearts aflutter and arouse envy in the minds of other women. If this be a sample of her work, let there be more of it—much more.

Edward Everett Horton and Arline Judge have two meaty roles. They are victims of the Chinese bandits, led by Voronsky, who have besieged the Americans in a village inn. Previously the bandits had crippled Capt. Carson's boat, forcing it to put in for repairs. But Carson and the men in the party stand off the raiders through excellent use of one machine gun and some daring strategy, finally to escape to the boat and safety. It is cruel in spots, sad in others, but never dull.

C. Henry Gordon, as Voronsky, the bandit; ZaSu Pitts, as a gabby tourist, and Dudley Digges, as the impatient ship owner, are others prominent in the cast with Miss Judge and Mr. Horton as the young lovers whose dreams are shattered and then mended by bullets and knives. Miss Andre, first suspected of being Voronsky's woman, turns out to be something else altogether.

The auxiliary program is on the same high plane as the feature. Frank McHugh in a comedy, "Peter Burke, Reporter," takes first honors; a sound cartoon of the old West comes next, then Walter Futter's Curiosities, "Ether Talks," featuring Dorothy Revier, and the newsreel.

COLUMBIA

"MONTE CARLO MADNESS." UFA picturization of a story by Hans Mueller and Franz Schultz, starring Sari Maritza and Hans Albers, with Charles Regie and Helen Haye. Directed by Hans Schwarz. Reviewed Friday night by J. F. Brady.

Monte Carlo, in all its glory, with the man who broke the bank and then went broke, woven into a unique story, spiced here and there with a bit of comedy, places "Monte Carlo Madness" safely in the list of enjoyable pictures.

It is slow to get started, but with interest gradually increasing and holding attention. The plot is novel, photography fine, settings handsome, and synchronization excellent. One has a good chance to see the roulette wheel at close range and the excitement of seeing one man winning all the stakes.

"Monte Carlo Madness" is the story of a self-willed queen, who believed she could do no wrong, and the bull-headed captain of one of her majesty's ships who did not hestitate to display his dislike for her and disregard for her orders.

Capt. Erickson (Hans Albers) coasting around on one of Majesty's ships receives a radio that she will come aboard for a cruise. Instead of obeying orders he replies he is heading for Monte Carlo without her. The queen arrives at Monte Carlo first and directs the consul to arrest the captain upon his arrival. Instead of arrest, the captain departs from the consul's office with a considerable sum of money secured by the sale of the queen's necklace. At the Monte Carlo casino the queen, incognito, becomes the captain's partner for the evening and then the trouble begins.

EARLE

"MISS PINKERTON." First National picturization of the story by Mary Roberts Rinehart, featuring Joan Blondell and George Brent, with C. Henry Gordon, Elisabeth Patterson, Blanche Friderici, Holmes Herbert and John Wray. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

That distinguished novelist and playwright, Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, will here have the satisfaction of seeing one of her more baffling mystery stories translated to the screen with no loss of eerie atmosphere, bewildering complications or deceptive characterization. The adaptation has been effected with far more skill than was the case in the attempted picturization of the same author's "The Bat." "Miss Pinkerton" is as expertly contrived a bit of befuddlement on the screen as "The Bat" was on the stage, beyond which superlatives do not reach.

Joan Blondell, in the title role, and George Brent, as the young police inspector, to be sure, play their parts with a trifle more of comedy suggestion than might strictly be true to type, but with such past masters in the art of producing chills, fever and gooseflesh as John Wray, Blanche Friderici, Elizabeth Patterson and Nigel de Brulier performing in their most ominous manner, the balance is quite even.

The fable, of course, is one of murder by pistol and poison, to the solution of which Inspector Patton sets Nurse Georgia Adams, alias Miss Pinkerton, in the old mansion where these deaths of violence have occurred. Dim and ghastly lighting, strange noises, deeply shrouded figures and the other terrorizing impedimenta of the shocker school of drama are made generous and blood-chilling use of in every reel. Anything blood-chilling in weather like this is doubly welcome!

In addition to those named, important figures in the solution of the mystery are impersonated with average aptitude by Mae Madison, Ruth Hall, C. Henry Gordon, Donald Dilloway, Holmes Herbert and a considerable number of others.

Aside from the presence in the flesh, of Bette Davis and Warren William, two of the most widely acclaimed artists now bringing distinction to the West Coast celluloids, the vaudeville portion of the program struck me as being not up to the Earle's usual high standard of excellence.

Miss Davis and Mr. William, however, proved sufficient ballast to steady the bill well on the side of enthusiastic public approval. Personally, they were thunderously greeted in a clever little sketch, "The Unexpected," which introduces them both agreeably but lays no heavy demands upon the known talents of either. Miss Davis, a chic little wisp of a thing, is made to appear probably more of a platinum than she is by a heavy coat of tan; Mr. William strengthens every preconceived notion of how "regular" he is in all that he does.

The others introduced by Miss Maxine Doyle, gone gay in another series of new frocks, are Artie Lewis and Peggy Ames, assisted by a youthful giant, in "We Know a Thing or Two;" Davey and Rosemarie, novelty comedy jugglers, and the Marcellus Dancers in effective Indian and Oriental numbers.

Universal News, with Graham McNamee: "Hollywood Beauty Hints," in natural colors, and Les Reis and Artie Dunn in a songreel, "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning," complete an entertainment for which seats were at a premium yesterday.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS FORMS VIGILANTES

Citizens to Combat Crime and Invasion of Private and Public Rights.

A vigilance committee to combat crime and promote good government in the Columbia Heights section was launched last night at a meeting of the Columbia Heights Citizens Forum.

The action was inspired by a magazine article by Gen. John J. Pershing, advocating such groups in various communities.

"Recent events demonstrate the great power of the gangster element, and the present financial depression unquestionably is aggravated by ill-gotten wealth in the hands of dangerous classes of people," a resolution unanimously adopted at the mee
